THE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH OR CHINA'S GRAND ARMADA

A Legend of the Wall Builder

From a lofty tower the Tyrant of Ch'in
Looked out on the Eastern Sea;
When struck by a thought he at once started up,
And awoke from his reverie.

His vizier he bid a council convene
In his tent on the top of the Wall;
All wondered what scheme had come into his head,
As they met at their Master's call.

"My lieges," he said, "you help I require,
My labors are only begun,
The kingdoms subdued, no faction I dread,
The Wall defies traitor or Hun.

"Yea, though my success might envy excite,
Yet when I from earth pass away,
The empire that I with so much pains have built up
I fear, will fall into decay.

"Had I but a few years longer to reign
I'd make China permanent state,
But old as I am, that end to attain,
Myself I must first renovate.

"In Nippon, 'tis said, there's a Fountain of Youth,
There the flowers of amaranth bloom;
Could I from that fountain obtain but a draught,
It might keep me out of the tomb.

Poems to you my friend

"Haste, rig out a fleet, those seas to explore,
Not a soldier on board shall you take,
With the fruits of our land in beautiful store,
A gainful exchange you may make."

So the fleet sailed away—not a soldier aboard—
By maidens and boys it was manned,
To seek for the Fountain of Youth it sailed,
And it carried the youth of the land.

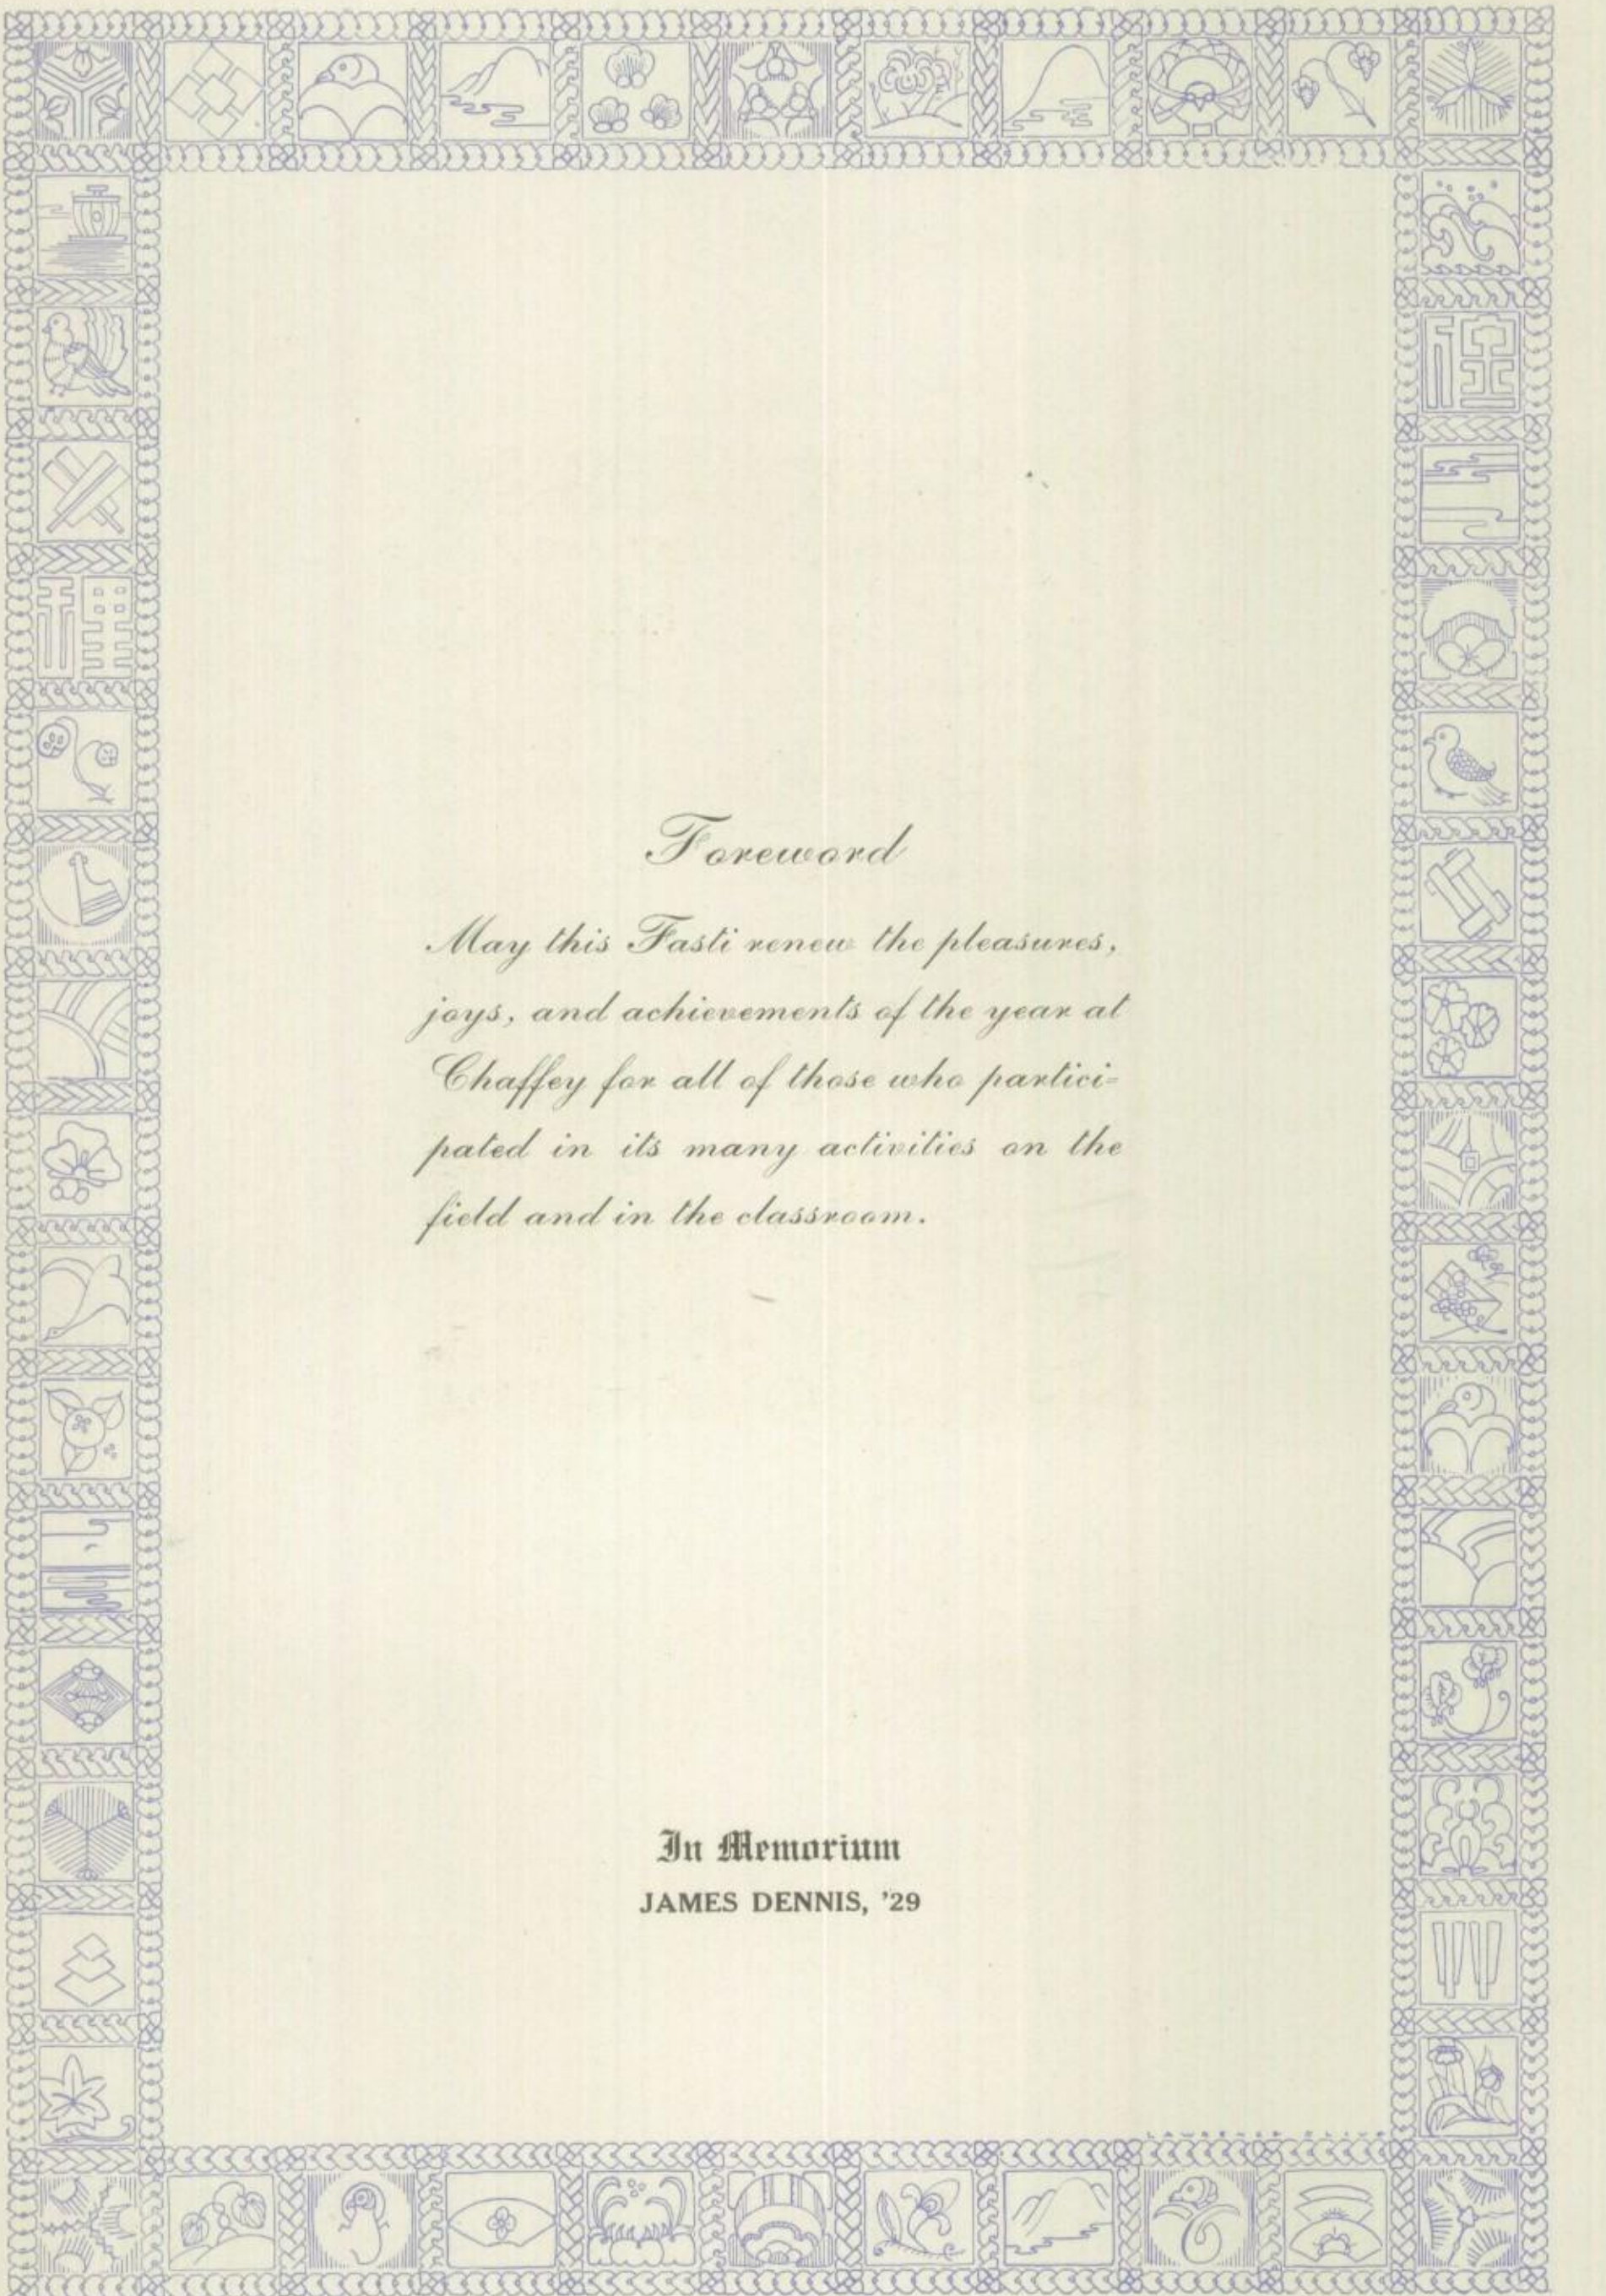

Their teachers and books were not quite forgot,
But the yards with garlands were hung,
They looked like a school on a holiday cruise,
With their flags to the breezes flung.

Away sailed the youth in gallant array,
But their homes they saw never more;
At those Eastern Isles they safely arrived,
And took root on a foreign shore.

The Tyrant of Ch'in though on conquest bent,
His spear point with roses concealed;
To the Isles of the East by that festive troop,
He the learning of China revealed.

So Japan in our day her debt to repay,
Brings China the Fountain of Youth;
May China drink deep her youth to renew,
And be led in the pathway of truth.

Dear Senior Friends:

You are the eighteenth class that has graduated from Chaffey Union High School. Twelve years of schooling have been yours, and now you will bid adieu to your high school relationships. I am glad to welcome you to the loyal sons and daughters of Chaffey. As the years follow each other in rapid succession the alumni emerge into business and civic leadership. You, too, will take your places soon among those who serve and strive to ascend the ladder of achievement. Success, years of life, happiness to you all.

Faithfully yours,

MERTON E. HILL

CHAFFEY BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Earnest in its efforts to secure the greatest possible benefits for the school it serves, the Chaffey Board of Trustees has earned the everlasting gratitude of the entire Chaffey district. In the past year the board has done much to further the plans for expanding the school and grounds to meet the ever-growing necessities which the rapidly increasing numbers of students require. These plans cover both the necessity for more and larger buildings and the hope for better and greater athletic facilities.

The plans for enlarging the school and for erecting new buildings have especially grown during the past year. The creation of a committee of two hundred, made up of representatives from the various Chaffey districts, to co-operate with the board did much to further this work. This group, together with a special committee of fifteen chosen from the first, aided the board by directing their united efforts toward the realization of the plans.

The resignation of Edward C. Harwood from the Presidency of the Board of Trustees during the past year brought to an end seventeen years of faithful, earnest service with that body. During the entire existence of Chaffey Union High School, Mr. Harwood served as Chairman of the Education Committee, and during all but a few months he served as President of the board. His record is one of unselfish, cheerful, valuable service. Dr. Arthur L. Weber was appointed by Ida M. Collins, County Superintendent of Schools, to fill out the unexpired term of Mr. Harwood. Dr. Weber's experience in educational affairs makes this a wise and satisfactory appointment.

To fill the vacant Presidency left by Mr. Harwood's resignation, the board elected T. W. Nisbet as President. The other four members of the board include C. C. Graber, Vice-President and Chairman of the Education Committee; Howard Berg, Secretary; A. L. Weber, Trustee; J. C. Jones, Trustee.

THE CABINET

The success or failure of any school rests almost completely with its administration. Chaffey is especially fortunate in having a Cabinet whose members are capable and able to give the school the best that is in them. Under the competent and clear-visioned direction of Dr. Hill, the school has made such phenomenal progress during its comparatively short existence that Chaffey has become today a school well-known throughout the nation and even in many distant parts of the globe. Only efficient leadership and dependable assistance from a well qualified Cabinet could make this progress possible.

With untiring efforts the Cabinet has worked both with and for the students of Chaffey. Meeting at least once every week, the members discuss the problems which constantly come before them for solution. In every way the Cabinet tries to encourage those who do their work faithfully and receive good grades, and to aid those whose work is less commendable. At the end of each quarter the Cabinet members check over the students' grades in order that they may determine and aid those who are failing or those who need special assistance. By so doing they have helped many students to work harder and secure better grades.

Those who have faithfully devoted themselves as Cabinet members are Dr. Merton E. Hill, Principal; Walter A. Hall, Vice-Principal; Ernest W. Fischer, Vice-Principal; Susan B. Mehl, Dean of High School Girls; Charles J. Booth, Dean of the Junior College; Pearl E. Clark, Dean of Junior College Women; and William W. Cushing, Vice-Principal of the Night School. Each of these has worked both individually and co-operatively to make Chaffey a better school for better students.

In leaving Chaffey the class of 1929 realizes its indebtedness to the Cabinet. In its handling of all problems, the Cabinet has encouraged many students to work for success.

CHAFFEY UNION HIGH SCHOOL AND JUNIOR COLLEGE FACULTY

More as friends and advisers than as teachers and supervisors, the faculty of Chaffey has been especially considerate and helpful to all the students. For those who had fours and wanted to raise their grades a special class was held by all the teachers seventh period. Students who wanted to raise grades to recommends were also welcome. Acting as club advisers, speaking on their experiences or research in meetings, in student body affairs, always lending a helping hand, co-operating with the editors of publications, the teachers have created an atmosphere of helpful generosity that will be long remembered.

A great many of the faculty have taught at Chaffey for a long time; some have been here for as long as twenty years. The following teachers taught at Chaffey fifteen years ago in the term of 1913-14: Merton E. Hill, Ernest W. Fischer, Charles J. Booth, Harry W. Hawkinson, Mrs. H. W. Hawkinson, William W. Cushing, Wiley W. Mather, F. M. Watenpaugh, Charlotte Reed, Lois LeBaron Avery, Lana M. C. Conger, Miss Bissell, Mary Plant, and Lillian Graves.

STUDENT BODY, SPRING SEMESTER

Interest in athletics was especially stimulated at the beginning of the second semester. With the Chaffey basketball team one of the strong contenders for the Citrus Belt Championship, student hopes and enthusiasm were high. When Chaffey tied with Pomona and Riverside for the Championship in basketball, enthusiasm became an intense wave, sweeping Chaffey to another great victory at the Invitational Track Meet. Despite the cold, threatening weather, Graber Field was crowded with eager, cheering spectators who witnessed Chaffey fight her way to victory. The baseball team, with Ralph Cornelius as captain, and Captain Hal Harlow's tennis team brought more laurels to Chaffey.

Chaffey was equally active in other fields during the second semester. Under the efficient direction of Miss Stanford, Nelson Gray and his staff edited, besides the splendid weekly copies, many entertaining and colorful special editions of the Tatler. Students entered enthusiastically into oratorical and declamation contests of which the Constitution and the C. B. L. were of great importance. With Howard Hawkins in charge, the Junior Farm Center Fair, which was held in the early part of May, was pronounced a decided success.

With an active and capable executive committee headed by Robert McArthur as President, the spring semester was altogether a very successful one.

Enthusiasm and a well-regulated series of important events marked the first semester of Student Body affairs. The influence of a wisely chosen set of officers was evidenced throughout the entire time.

Early in the season a spirit of co-operation and support from the Student Body was felt by the football teams because of the hearty enthusiasm and confidence displayed during the rallies. Throughout the entire seasons of both football and basketball, winning or losing, the teams were loyally supported by the students of Chaffey and townspeople who eagerly cheered Chaffey to a sweeping victory over Sherman Institute. At the Pomona-Chaffey game, even though the odds seemed against Chaffey, the field was again jammed with interested spectators.

During the first semester the students were very fortunate in hearing several distinguished speakers. Among these were Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, Congresswoman from Florida; Lowell Thomas, noted author and lecturer; and Francis D. Blakeslee, who was at one time a friend of Abraham Lincoln. On all of these occasions the auditorium was packed to the limits with eager and attentive students.

The fall semester was one of unusual activity in every way—social, athletic, and scholastic. Throughout the entire time the Chaffey spirit of enthusiasm and sportsmanship governed every Student Body activity.

GIRLS' LEAGUE

This year, under the splendid leadership of Pauline Collins the Girls' League was especially active in promoting the best interests of the girls of Chaffey. The league began its year's work on Freshman registration day when many of its members directed the new students about the buildings and campus.

In the course of its duties the league also found time to accomplish welfare work at the Christmas season, and to give the annual big and little sisters' party, a Girls' League birthday party, a mothers' party, and to enter a beautifully decorated car in the Armistice Day parade.

Mrs. Mehl's sympathetic advice and thoughtfulness as dean of girls has meant much to the girls of Chaffey. Her gracious personality and sincere friendship has been an inspiration to every member of the league.

"The Girls' League is a unique organization on the Chaffey campus. It might well be called 'Every Girls' Club,' for it includes every girl in the school and requires no dues. We hope that it will become the most helpful organization on the campus in developing the best girls, the best school, and the best community in California.

Sincerely,
SUSAN B. MEHL."

SENIORS

Throughout the entire year the Senior class displayed a spirit which helped them to complete their high school life with great success. During the last few weeks in November curiosity was aroused when the rumor swept the campus that the Seniors were soon going to spring their sweaters. Although the class lost the thrill of having the usual "spring" because of the enforced vacation, they aroused the envy of the other classes when they appeared on the campus in their smart blue and gold sweaters.

During the early part of January the Seniors held their class banquet with Mr. Kegley as toastmaster. Everyone proclaimed the banquet as one of the big successes of the year. Holding the Senior Pie Sale on the Wednesday before the class play, the Seniors again proved their ability to combine pep and enthusiasm to make the event a success. The sale was extremely popular with the result that it netted the class treasury seventy dollars.

Scoring one of the greatest triumphs in the line of dramatics in the history of Chaffey, the class presented its play, Booth Tarkington's "Intimate Strangers," on March 22. Under the capable direction of Mrs. W. H. Kegley with a talented cast including Betty Hill, Rollin Lemon, Marilee Davis, Alfred Hughes, Virginia Wallihan, Wayne Harn, Helen Kamansky, and Clinton Bryant, success was inevitable.

SCIENCE BUILDING

JUNIORS

Using the energy which so characterized them in their Freshman and Sophomore years to best advantage, the Juniors have achieved many acts of importance during the year. The enthusiastic co-operation of all the members of the class did much for the school in every line. In athletics the Junior class was represented on nearly all of the teams, many of their class playing some of the most important positions. In oratory and debate their class has been outstanding as well as in scholarship and general school activity.

At their class banquet held in the early part of March, the Juniors enjoyed a peppy program with many clever stunts. Soon after the banquet, the class made a tasteful selection of their rings. As the climax to their year's success, the class presented during the late spring a most successful play with the cast well chosen to fit the difficult roles. With such a capable cast and successful coach as Mrs. Kegley, an auspicious production was inevitable.

Under the able leadership of William Clay as class president for both semesters, the Juniors made a splendid record, which is indicative of success next year.

SOPHOMORES

With characteristic diligence the Sophomore class entered upon numerous activities this year. In athletics, in social good times, and in scholastic achievement the class proved its capable leadership and ability in general. Representatives played on both the heavyweight and lightweight football teams. A basketball team composed entirely of Sophomores ranked high in the final C. B. L. score. In tennis, baseball, and track the class made a record which appears promising for the future.

In the Fasti sales the Sophomores contributed materially both in a buying and selling capacity. In its support of all activities the class proved its co-operative and enthusiastic spirit. The class banquet, held on April 12, was the big event of the year for the class. Shirley Snider, with an active and capable committee, arranged a peppy program which did much to make the banquet a success.

In March the Sophomores, under the direction of Miss Avery, held an oratorical contest which disclosed that speakers of the highest caliber are being developed in this class. The enthusiasm with which the class entered into the contest was only another promising potential energy and leadership and will ably take its place as an upper class.

FRESHMEN

Though less boisterous than some of the Freshman classes of past years, the Freshies have displayed a true Chaffey spirit throughout the year. In the Fasti sales, at the games, and everywhere, they have given the best that is in them in support of their school.

Meeting each Monday morning in separate assembly in Lecture Hall, the Freshmen have enjoyed many clever and entertaining programs, most of which were prepared and given by members of that class themselves. On two occasions Miss June Bishop's English classes pleased their fellow-classmates with well directed and well presented plays. At two other times the Elementary Girls' Glee Club, composed chiefly of Freshman girls, entertained the class and taught them many new songs. On the Friday before Easter vacation Freshman enthusiasm was centered on an oral poetry contest. On some occasions the same speaker that entertained the other classes would deliver his speech a second time in Freshman assembly.

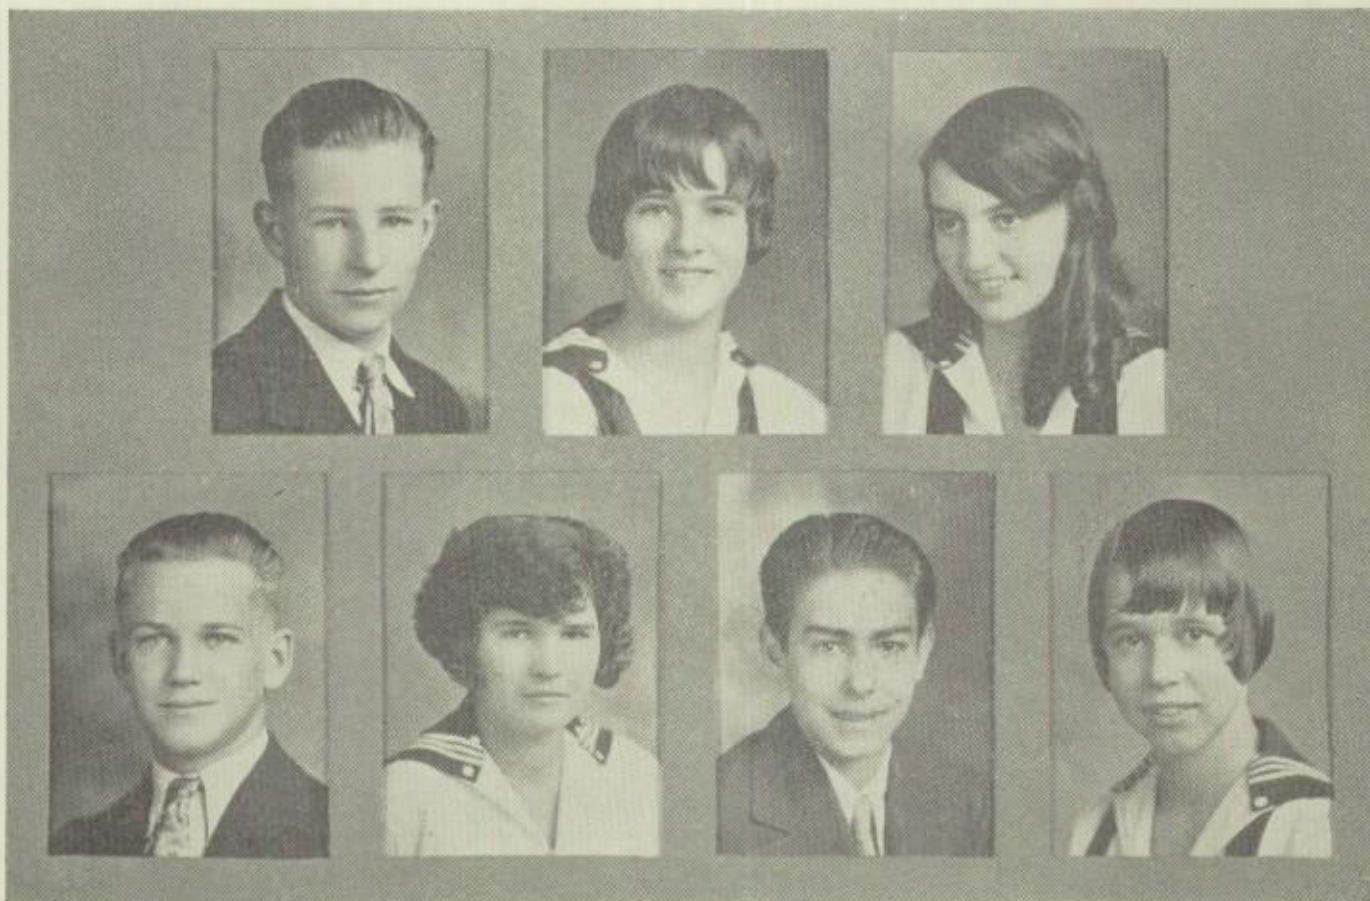

With such a splendid start this year, the Freshmen ought to contribute much to the school next year as Sophomores. Their choice of class officers and the activities they have undertaken have been successful and have made possible an active Sophomore class for next year, a future Junior class of great promise, and ultimately a powerful and influential Senior class.

FRESHMAN CLASS

FONTANA JUNIOR HIGH

When school opens next September, Fontana will be represented at Chaffey with an active and peppy class of Sophomores. Throughout the whole of the past year, the Fontana Freshmen have displayed an unusual vigor and ability in everything they undertook. Under the name of the "Pow Wows," the Fontana Student Association accomplished much in the athletic, social, and study line. Early in the year the Freshie Pow Wows aroused enthusiasm with a peppy banquet. A short time later the Pow Wows culminated more enthusiasm in a skating party. Likewise the Minstrel Show, presented by the Fontana Freshmen, proved exceedingly popular.

One of the most unique acts of service contributed by the Pow Wows was their donation of five trees to the Fontana Park. In athletics the Fontana girls were especially active, winning every game they played.

UPLAND JUNIOR HIGH

With Harold W. Cook as principal, Upland Junior High gained a promising start this year. Co-operating both among themselves and with Chaffey students this year, the ambitious Upland Freshie cubs ought to develop into real Sophomore Tigers at Chaffey next year.

Patterning after the Chaffey plan, the Upland Freshmen early in the year organized their student body and a girls' league. Thus organized, their progress was rapid. In the Fasti sales over sixty per cent of the class bought coupons, a splendid record for a Freshman class not on the Chaffey campus. The Girls' League lent invaluable aid to the Chaffey girls in the Christmas work also. With highest ambition, with real enthusiasm, with capable leadership, and with all the other factors which make for success, the Upland Freshmen give promise of valuable assistance to the class of '32.

PART-TIME

One of the most important and least known parts of the Chaffey school district is the Part-Time School. This school is made necessary by a state law which requires boys and girls not high school graduates between the ages of sixteen and eighteen to go to school at least four hours per week.

The enrollment this last year has increased considerably and has almost reached eight hundred. This includes the Americanization students, of whom there are about three hundred.

The courses offered by the Part-Time School are arranged to interest the student and help him in the work he plans to do. There are nearly five hundred boys and girls enrolled. English, arithmetic and typing are offered to both boys and girls. For the boys, machine shop, woodshop, agriculture, citrus packing and the study of state traffic laws are given. The girls receive instruction in home making, which includes cooking, cleaning, and sewing. Home nursing and the care of babies and young children is also taught.

As a special course for girls, a chorus class has recently been started. About sixty-five girls have taken advantage of the opportunity offered by the class, which is conducted by Mrs. Blakeslee. The class which meets three times a week learns Mexican folk songs and makes its own Mexican costumes in its sewing class.

The headquarters of the Part-Time School are located in a large house at the corner of Fifth Street and Euclid Avenue. Some of the classes are held at the house but many of them, due to their nature, must be held elsewhere. The school is in charge of Mrs. Grace G. Palmer, who with the help of several teachers, has made the school a complete success. Those who have had a part in the work are Mr. Paul Davidson, Mrs. Esther Sill, nurse, Mrs. Lola D. Harris, Mrs. Alice Haldane, Miss Lopez, Miss Ada Judson, Mr. Delhauer, Mr. Victor Anderson, Julia Rugg, Dorothy Shank, Wilma Lewis, Mr. Minton, Mr. Young, and Miss Stemple.

Under the supervision of Kenneth Hanson and with the co-operation of the packing houses, classes in orange and lemon packing are conducted in the various citrus fruit packing houses in the community. Four certified teachers have charge of the students. The fruit packing classes were begun two years ago and have been held all through the school years. There have been about one hundred forty-two enrolled during the year. Out of this number, more than ninety have received jobs in packing houses. The instruction is very valuable and serves to get work for inexperienced boys and girls in the packing houses.

Early in April a small mimeograph newspaper for part-time students was begun. Due to the fact that students are so widely separated and see or hear little of each other, some way was necessary to bring them in closer connection with each other. The paper was printed every Thursday under the supervision of Miss Stanford. Nancy Palmer edited the paper with the assistance of Mr. Davidson. The part devoted to Spanish was edited by Gloria Lopez.

From time to time a social event is held for the mothers and fathers of the part-time students. This year a Christmas pageant was given by the students with the help of some young people of Upland. The program was all in Spanish, and the Girls' Chorus sang several real Spanish songs.

As an additional help to the students, an employment service was established under the direction of Mr. Davidson, which assisted the students in finding work. In this way the service brings together the student and the employer.

NIGHT SCHOOL

With an enrollment of two thousand two hundred sixty-two adults, the Chaffey Night School had a particularly successful year. Of the twenty subjects offered for study, all were extremely popular, especially the Astronomy class, which had the largest enrollment. Although the lip reading class, taught by Miss Bartlett of Redlands, did not have a very large enrollment, it was the most regularly attended. Other subjects which were offered included a class in Americanization and one in Naturalization for those who sought to become American citizens; Home Nursing and First Aid under the direction of Mrs. Fleming; Parent Education, Art for the Home, Public Speaking, under the direction of Miss Avery; Business English, Bookkeeping, Typing, Shorthand, Spanish, Machine Shop, Mechanical Drawing, Auto Shop, Woodshop, and Physical Education classes for both men and women. Meeting every Monday evening, the Symphony Orchestra, with Mr. Wilding directing, made splendid progress.

Besides those held at Chaffey, classes were offered at Guasti, Fontana, Alta Loma, Etiwanda, Piedmont, Cucamonga, and Mountain View. Here the students gained much valuable information, such as auto repairing, home art, and woodwork. Under the direction of Mr. Cushing, Vice-Principal of the Night School, these classes achieved much.

AMERICANIZATION

The Americanization work at Chaffey, begun in 1919, has developed remarkably in the past ten years. Nearly three hundred women, of whom a majority are Mexicans, have been reached by the Americanization classes under the direction of the part-time department.

Some of the classes are held in "Escuelita," meaning little school, a bus which is equipped for a classroom, having a blackboard and desks installed in it. Trips are made regularly to Mexican labor camps in the outlying districts. The districts include Cucamonga, Green Tree (Claremont rock crusher), Grove Street Mexican school, Upland, Fontana and Guasti. In several places houses or rooms have been furnished free for the use of the school. In Upland the Upland Citrus Association furnished a house in the Mexican camp for class-work. In Declez, the Fontana Farms Company gave the use of a house to the school. The Italian Vineyard Company remodeled a house in Guasti for the school. In both Green Tree and Cucamonga, Mexicans have gladly furnished rooms where the classes could meet. The women in the eight Americanization centers are taught English, care of the baby, home nursing, and simple cooking. Baby clinics are also held in the camps. These baby clinics are maintained by the State Board of Health. They send a doctor here four days of each month to give medical attention in the Americanization centers. Dr. Lillian Kozitsa has been acting in this position for the past two years. The clinics are for the benefit of pre-school children and mothers in the camps. Mrs. Sill, a graduate nurse, gives full time to field work, teaching Home Nursing and Care of the Baby. She visits the camps, taking needy cases to hospitals and generally helping D. Kozitsa. In this way the health of the community is protected and the inhabitants of the camps are greatly benefited.

CHAFFEY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

One of the most popular of the new clubs organized this year is the Chaffey Chamber of Commerce. Because the club has done so much and its members have had such an enjoyable time its membership has increased very rapidly. It meets every other Tuesday after the sixth period in Mr. Watenpaugh's room, there attending to all its current business matters, afterwards enjoying a pleasant social meeting as refreshments are served.

The membership of the Chaffey Chamber of Commerce is limited to those students of the upper division of the high school and junior college who have taken two commercial subjects. In this way only those students who are really interested in commercial training can become members. During the early part of the second semester the members of the Chamber of Commerce started a membership contest in order to secure more members and better attendance at meeting. The club was divided into two teams. The climax of the contest was exciting when the Blue team finally defeated the Gold. As a result the losers entertained the winners with a party later in the season.

Selecting January for the month of their chief social event of the year, the Chamber of Commerce went to Pickering Park. There they had a picnic and afterwards had a very enjoyable time in the skating rink.

ESCHSCHOLTZIA

California—its inhabitants, industries, writers, geography, natural wonders, and poets—has been the subject under study and discussion in the meetings of the Eschscholtzia Club. Members have conducted outside research and have reported upon the various phases of this vitally important and intriguing state. The Chaffey Library is the location of the monthly meetings held on Tuesday evenings.

Miss Lois Le Baron Avery, who has been an adviser of the club since its organization, had as co-adviser this year Miss June Bishop. The appreciation and joy of the club at having two such sympathetic and congenial advisers was very great. The members, which are chosen on the basis of scholarship, school activity, character, and personality, are from the Junior and Senior classes. In order that the membership may remain uniform, some Sophomore girls are voted in at the end of the year. These students assume active membership at the beginning of the following year.

Social activities as well as the necessary research, study, education, and scholarship figure largely in this club. Picnics and outings with the corresponding boys' club, which is Anthology, in the fall and spring are some of the most important held.

The little club pin holds the California poppy, from which the club derives its name.

GIRLS' COUNCIL

Acting as a representative and advisory body the Girls' Council meets to discuss timely problems concerning the Girls' Work Organizations. Each troop of the Girl Scouts, each group of the Campfire Girls, and each division of the Girl Reserves choose one girl from their number to represent them in the Girls' Council. In turn these representatives impart the announcements and rulings to their own group.

The council in itself is not a purely business body but also enjoys hikes, trips to the Estate, and banquets. The use of the Estate is one of the delightful privileges accorded to all members of some work organization. Situated far back in an orange grove in a secluded spot, the exact location unknown to the general public is this furnished house used only by the girls in their trips or entertainments.

Miss Bissell, who is director of the Campfire Girls, Girl Reserves, and Girl Scouts, acts as adviser to this group.

ANTHOLOGY

"Transportation and Communication" was chosen as the topic to be considered by the Anthology Club this year. As the boys were all interested in some phase of this subject, it was one of the most satisfactory and acceptable one used in the last few years. The exceptional programs were presented by members of the club who spoke on special topics relating to the main subject chosen for the year at their meetings held the first Tuesday of each month in the Chaffey Library. Some of the discussions were on water transportation, land, highway, and air; land communications, wire, and radio. Under each of these topics on development, extent, and future development were presented by the boys.

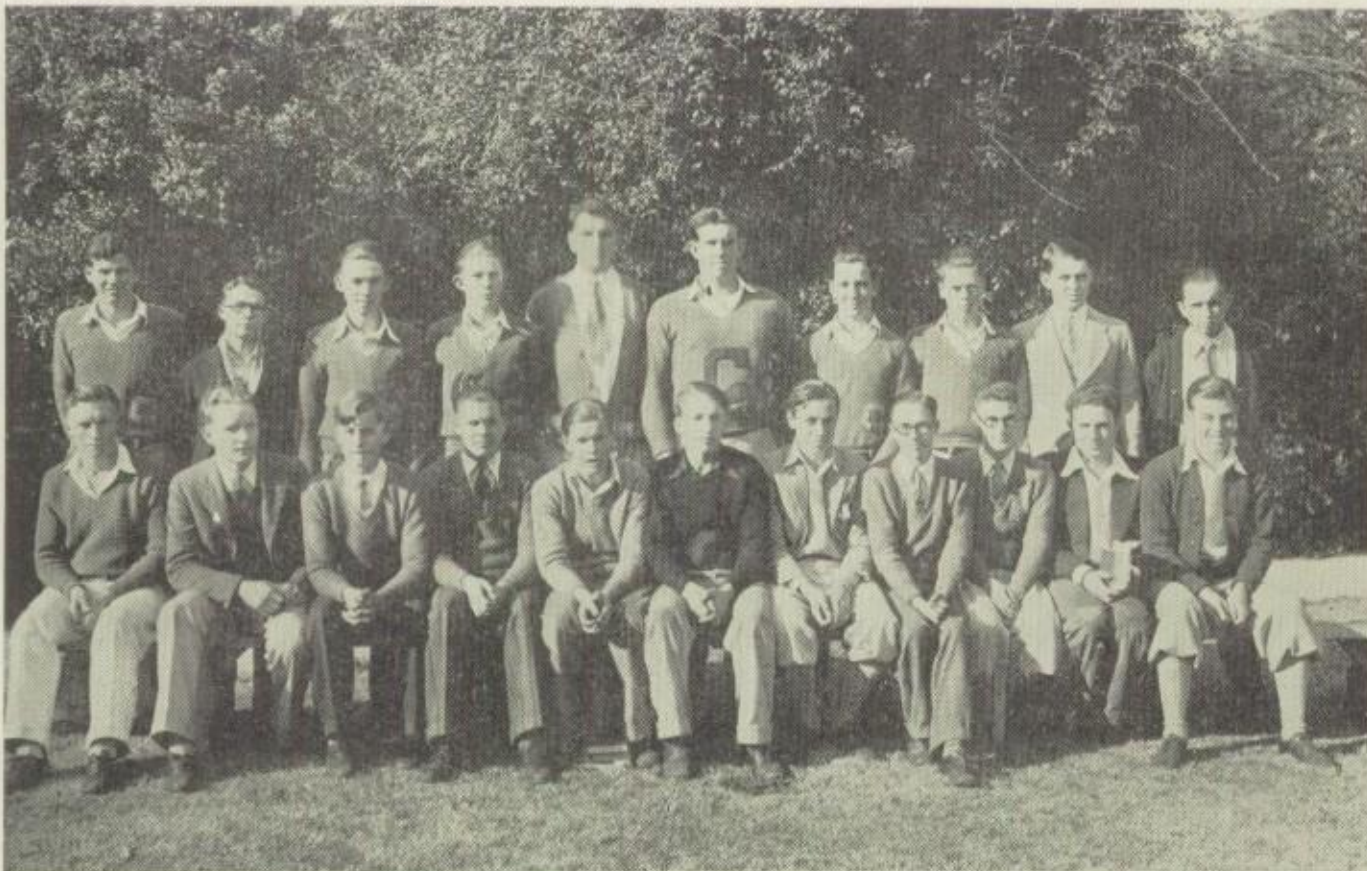

Two social events were held during the year. The first was a skating party at Pickering Park with the Eschscholtzia girls. The other was a picnic with the girls in which swimming and boating were the features.

In order to become a member of this club a boy must have high scholarship, enter into some school project or activity, and be a good, all-round fellow. His name is put before the club and voted upon.

This club is very honored in having Mr. Olaf Snyder and Miss Lois Le Baron Avery to advise and assist them in their activities.

HI-Y

A banquet in the Cafeteria is enjoyed by the club every other Monday evening. Following the dinner, a selected program including talks from well-known men of the community is given. Flyers from the Ontario Airport or officials of some manufacturing company are in great demand. On the intervening Monday evening the members meet at Mr. Snyder's home to discuss topics having to do with the purpose of the club. These meetings were started this year to promote a better acquaintance between the members. As its underlying principle the Hi-Y Club has the advancement and maintaining of standards of Christian living among students and in the community. The club is endeavoring to live up to these standards. A boy who can come somewhere near to reaching these standards can become a member.

The Hi-Y is a Y. M. C. A. club organized in the High School. Every few weeks a joint meeting is held with the Fontana club and the Ontario group, which is a Y. M. C. A. club not connected with the school. The club is composed principally of Seniors, but there are several members who are Juniors. During the year a group of Juniors are voted into the club to take the place of the graduating Seniors.

The club has been fortunate to have Mr. Snyder as an adviser. He has acted in this position most of the time since the club was organized.

ATLETA

Athletes in every sense of the word, excellent in every sport, good losers, and gracious winners are members of this club. It is not an easy matter to become a member. Twelve hundred points must have been earned at the rate of 100 points for each team upon which the girl has played. On becoming a member the girl receives her letter, which is an orange block C, and the privilege of wearing the black jersey sweater, which is the insignia of the club. Upon the aquirement of 1500 and 1800 points extra awards are made.

The Atleta girls, because of their great interest in athletics, take a great deal of the charge and responsibility of the girls' sports in co-operation with the Girls' Athletic Association of which they are a more specialized part.

In February a dinner was held at the home of one of the members at which Coral Vanstrom of Pomona College was guest and speaker. At this meeting officers for the second semester were elected, the club having been virtually unorganized during the first semester because of the small membership. At the Christmas season the ranks of members were filled.

There is no regular time for meetings, but the girls gather together upon the advent of business or a social good time.

With the purpose of encouraging girls in athletics, forming higher standards of sportsmanship, and promoting a greater interest in athletics, the club was organized with Miss Mabon and Miss Merrill as interested advisers and friends.

During the last quarter a social time was held which proved to be unexpectedly and pleurably popular.

RADIO

By learning the wireless code and constructing sending and receiving sets, the members of the Radio Club can "listen in" on ships at sea, to distant countries, and hold conversation with those closer. A license must be had before anyone can "send." To procure one an examination must be passed.

It is only in the last few years that radio has come to have an important part in our daily life. New ideas and inventions are daily widening the scope of this wonderful device. The increasing uses of radio has brought to high school boys a desire to take an active part in it and to learn to use it to their advantage. Thus it was that the interest in it caused the Radio Club of Chaffey to be organized.

At first the club interested itself in learning the wireless code and to construct receiving sets and later sending stations. As it takes many months to master the wireless code, much of their spare time is taken up in practicing it. Now the radio is receiving attention and some of the boys have constructed sets of their own.

Mr. Whistler has been the adviser to this club since it was started about five years ago, and a popular adviser he has been.

The school for some time had a wireless station of its own with the call letters of 6 CQJ, but it has now passed into the ownership of one of the boys.

PEGASUS

Essays, character sketches, descriptions, stories, long and short, on every subject—mystery, love, holiday—were written by interested and active members of Pegasus Club. With the aim of learning to express artistically that which they want to write and to develop creative literary ability through practice, the members faithfully met on the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month in the apartment of Miss Plant, the club adviser.

One social event during the year is allowed by this club's constitution. Taking advantage of this one allowance, the girls hold a pot-luck dinner at the home of one of the members during the last part of the school term. Here officers for the first semester of the next year are elected, and an enjoyable social evening is spent.

Miss Plant has been the adviser of this club for many years, and each year new progress has been made. The current year of 1928-29 has proved no exception.

Valuable assistance was rendered to the literary editions of the Tatler by the members of this club who contributed liberally. In all their work they showed the training they had received in the meetings of this literary organization.

Always helpful and kind, Miss Plant is a favorite with all the girls. The efficient and careful manner in which she has conducted the club as adviser is to be lauded.

CAMPUS

With the purpose of establishing a fund for loaning to students wishing to complete their education, the Campus Club was organized in 1926 by some Service Club members of the faculty.

The fund has been growing steadily since it was started and the club hopes soon to reach its goal of three hundred dollars. The Chaffey Book Store has been placed in charge of the money and it loans it to those people who need it. Every year there are one or two really worthy students who are forced to drop out of school because of the lack of the necessary money to continue going to school. It is for such people that the fund is intended.

Besides this worth-while endeavor the club has at various times called to attention some evil in school life which they try to correct. The club has been accustomed to meeting every Monday noon in the Model Apartment. As an adviser Mr. Chaffee has served his position exceedingly well.

The Campus Club is very similar to the well-known Service Club. During the course of a meeting fines are levied and collected. These fines all help to swell the fund. Junior College and Senior boys make up the membership of this club. In the way of social events the most important is the banquet and ladies' night.

VERS LIBRE

One of the newer clubs at Chaffey is known as the Vers Libre. This small but exclusive club was inaugurated at the beginning of last year by Miss Cage, but due to her many other activities the advisorship was transferred to Mrs. Kegley.

The membership is restricted to Junior and Senior girls who have some poetic ability. Since the club was begun last year, only three new members, Elsa Stamm, Elizabeth Bond, and Bernice Stroh, have been admitted. This illustrates the fact that the members must necessarily have a very high scholarship. The club is about the same size as it was last year, as the three voted in took the place of those graduating. The graduates, charter members, who are in Junior College, are honorary members and may take an active part in the club.

One of the features of the club is the way in which the roll call is made. When a girl's name is called, she responds with some bit of poetry that is often original. Some exceptional verse has been produced by the poetic aspirants who belong to this club.

The girls meet bi-weekly at the home of one of the members to study poetry. Modern free verse and contemporary poets were the objects of concentration this year. At each meeting a report on one of the modern poets and his works is given.

SPANISH CLUB

A party in costume is one of the anticipated events of the year. Sometimes a special program including films of the Spanish-speaking countries is featured. Each year the club sponsors a trip to see the Mission Play, which has proved most delightful and interesting. The Mission Inn at Riverside was also one of the points of interest visited.

The Spanish-speaking ability of the members is increased by keeping a correspondence with students in the Spanish-speaking countries. A novel feature of this club is that only Spanish is allowed to be spoken at the club meetings. This calls for much ingenuity and concentration by the members.

A form of greeting has been devised by one of the members to be used when one member meets another on the campus. The expression is "hola—como esta ud," and the answer is usually "muy bien."

The Spanish Club is one of the oldest and most active clubs in existence at Chaffey. Through Miss Ewald's efforts the club has become one of the best organized and most efficient in the school. The club holds its regular meetings once a month at noon. Besides these regular meetings, other social affairs are devised.

The club is very proud of the fact that their display booth in the Junior Farm Center Fair of last year won second prize.

MACDOWELL

Having as its chief objective the advancement of art, the MacDowell Club has come to be one of the most active clubs on the campus. A deeper appreciation of the fine arts, particularly music, is the principal on which the programs at the meetings are carried out.

Due to his wonderful musical ability, Mr. S. Earle Blakeslee, of the Chaffey musical department, is particularly well fitted to guide the group in its meetings.

The club received its name from one of the most famous American composers of the last generation, Edward MacDowell. His great achievement was the fact that he was the first American composer to gain recognition in musical Europe. Through his efforts the Petersborough Art Colony in New Hampshire was founded as a place where the younger artists might make use of their natural talents.

Meetings are held by the club once every month at homes of the different members. The program at the meetings consists chiefly of singing or readings in poetry. Some interesting and educational work is done through this method. A study is made of various artists in the field of poetry and music.

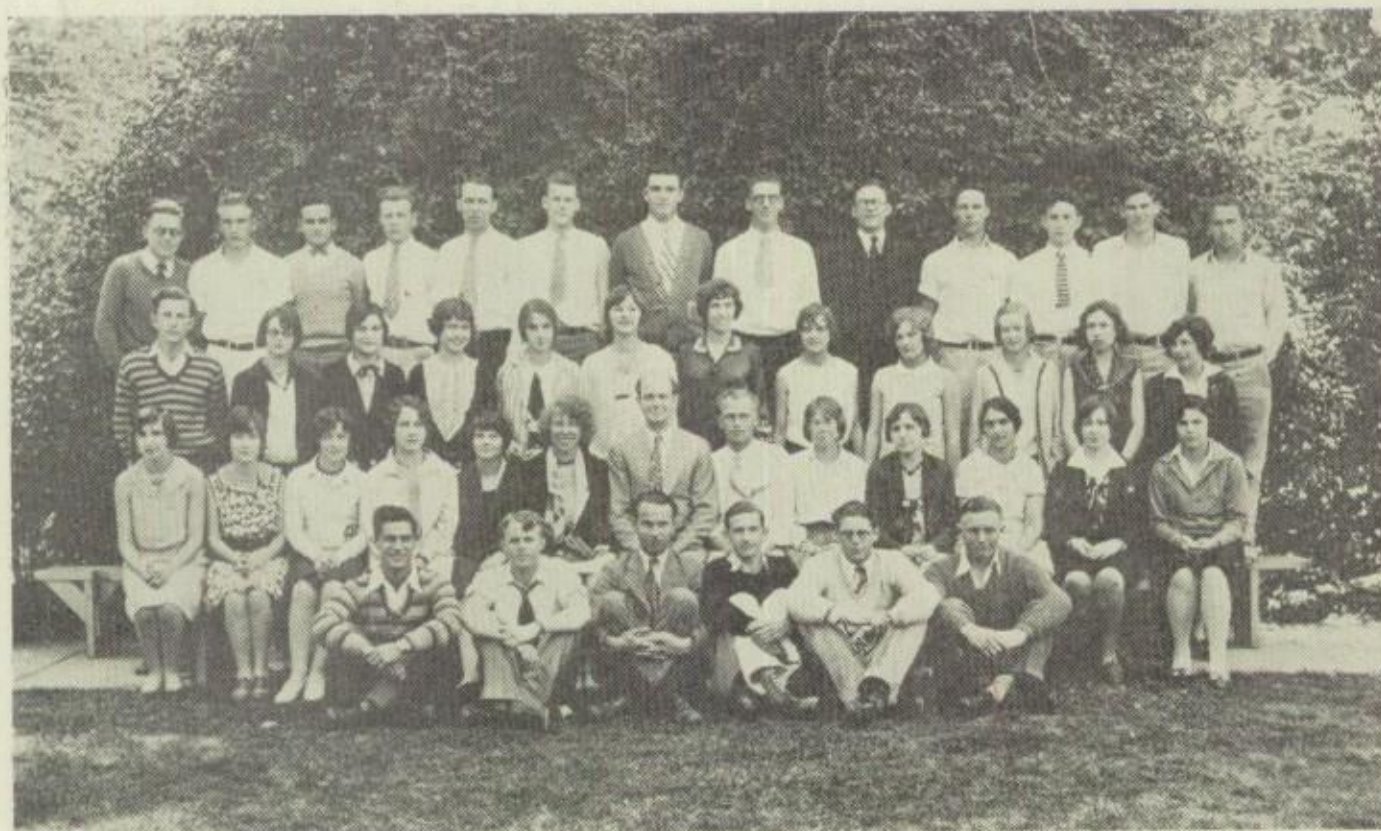

Only members who are musical or have an appreciation of music are admitted. Membership is principally made up of Junior College students, but a few Seniors are admitted.

GENS TOGATA

On the occasion of the annual Roman banquet, members of the Gens Togata don the garb of Caesar's time, eat with their fingers, consult the augurs, observe the ceremony of worshipping the household Gods, and drink the wine garlanded with beautiful Spring flowers brought in to the feast by slaves. Handsome Roman patrician gentlemen and ladies, and valuable white slaves of extraordinary education gather together and celebrate in an elaborate dinner, lasting hours.

This year has been a most successful year for the Latin students who are members of this club. An operetta, "Helen of Troy," was presented by a large group of Caesar students at one of the regular meetings. Some of the students went to Los Angeles to visit the Latin room at the Los Angeles High School. During the visit a play, "A Roman Wedding," was enacted.

Scholarship has been particularly stressed and the meetings have been interesting and well attended, for it is understood that "once a member, always a member."

During the leave of absence of Mrs. Conger, the regular club adviser, Mrs. H. W. Hawkinson has acted in that capacity. The members are grateful to her for the capable and charming manner in which she has directed and advised them.

SCIENCE CLUB

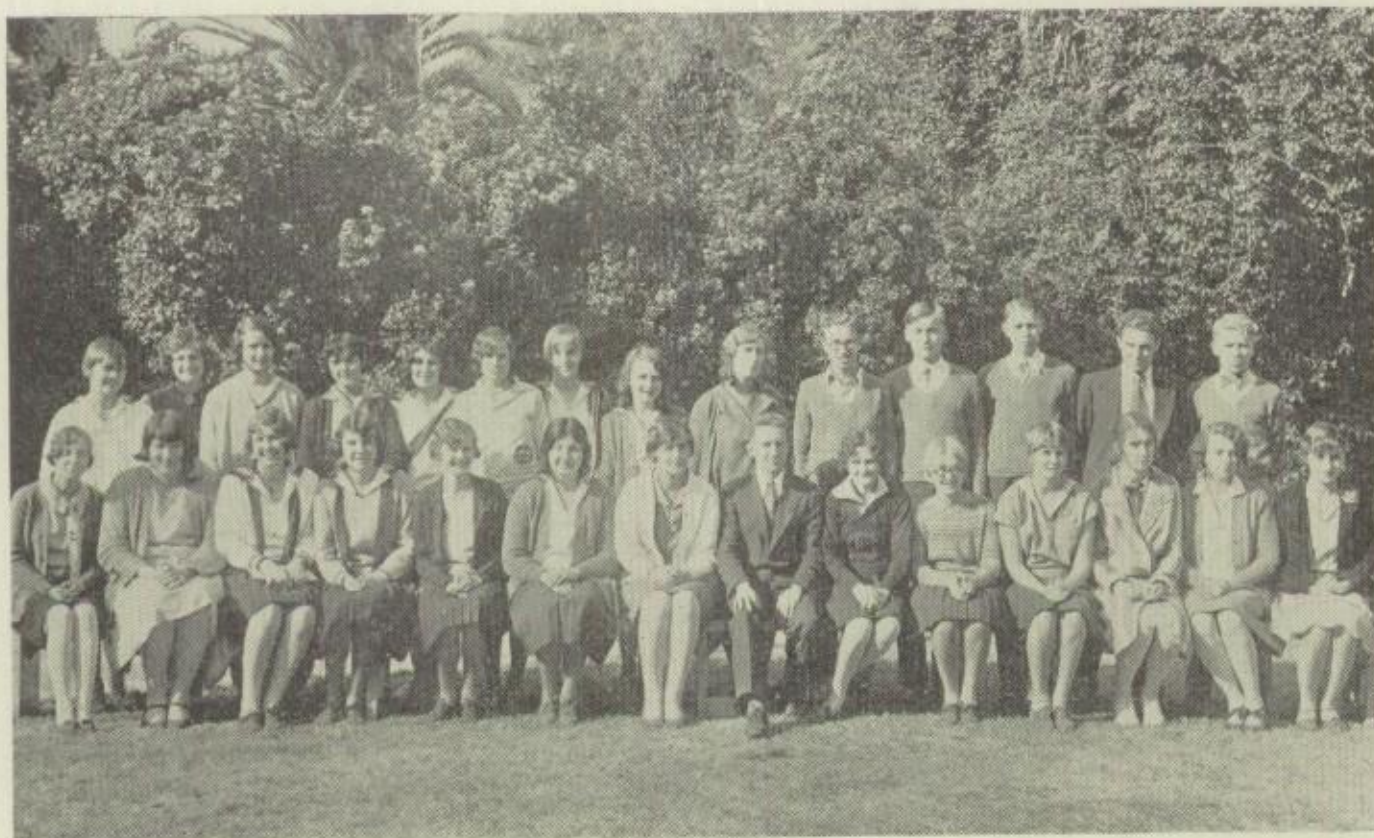

Queer chemical experiments, unusual trips of scientific interest, and speakers of extraordinary renown make the Science Club one of the most interesting and educational clubs on the Chaffey campus, as well as keeping the members "up to date" on the latest important developments in science. Members have a chance to come in contact with great men in this important field. In past years several well-known scientists have been secured to talk at the meetings. Occasionally, a trip to some place such as the California Institute of Technology has been enjoyed.

The Science Club is composed of both Juniors and Seniors who are taking either chemistry or physics, and who are interested in science. Good scholarship is required in a science course for qualification for membership. The club may be considered as an honorary group, good grades being required in other subjects as well as science.

Mr. Snyder, chemistry instructor, has been the adviser since the club was reorganized. Until a few years ago the club was known as the Chemistry Club, but it was renamed the Science Club during the reorganization. The members of this club have met each month at the home of their adviser, where topics of scientific interest are discussed.

AVIATION

To learn the art of soaring above the clouds the members of the Aviation Club met each Friday noon. Here the boys were instructed by Mr. Wilson, the club adviser, and visiting aviators, who described their many adventures. They also told of the different types of airplane motors and the way to handle them. By sending away for information and by using the school library they succeeded in keeping themselves informed on the advance of aviation and increasing their knowledge on general subjects.

Several times the members have taken up collections and then drawn a name for the lucky one to take a ride in an airplane. Two of the fortunate boys were Ray Stafffield and Bob McArthur. The real purpose of the club, training them in the art of flying could be added to the school curriculum if desired. Field trips are made by the members once a quarter. One very interesting and instructive trip was the visit of the boys to the Lockheed airplane field. While there, the boys were taken through the small manufacturing factory of motors operating at that place. They also inspected the planes and had several of them thoroughly explained in air terminology. The grounds were looked over here as well as at the Maddox Grand Terminal, which they also visited.

LINCOLN DEBATING

At the meetings of the Lincoln Debating Society members have become enthusiastic at the delightful programs prepared by the chairman of that committee. Humorous debates, ones of more serious mein designed to meet a definite need in the lives of the student members now or in times to come when they take the place of the men who are now the officials of the country, speeches and informal extemporaneous talks presented by the members of the society, and lectures by members of the Chaffey faculty make up some of the most interesting Thursday noon meetings. A graphic description of Russia before the war was presented by Masha Dyck, a native of northern Russia, featured one of the meetings. A talk on "Home, Foreign, and International Problems," delivered by Mr. Mitchell, greatly pleased the members; and a debate on "Resolved, That the Bond for State Parks Should Be Passed," increased the students' knowledge of state problems. Members of the debating team were greatly aided by pertinent talks of teachers who were informed on the topics under debate.

At a March meeting new members were voted into the club to fill the membership list to capacity.

One of the most enjoyable of social outings ever enjoyed by an organization was the hilarious skating party held at Pickering Park in San Bernardino by the society.

CALIFORNIA SCHOLARSHIP FEDERATION

Talks by the faculty on interesting and unusual experiences has been the main attraction at the meetings Thursday noons in the Model Apartment. Mrs. Blakeslee told of her trip to Rome; Miss Merrill spoke on her trip across the country with a chum and a Ford; Mrs. Hawkinson related her trip to Yellowstone; Mr. Hook lectured on South America; Mr. Stanford discussed "Unused Alibis." Other teachers who spoke at meetings of the C. S. F. were Mr. Home-wood, Mr. Palmer, Mr. Hall, Dr. Hill, Mrs. Neales, Miss Newby, and Mrs. Mehl.

Many of the members have attended one of the many conventions held of this State society. Among these were Miss Avery, Doris Stanford, Chiyaki Mikami, Brooks Kitchel.

A fascinating trip to the Huntington Library in the spring was made by the club. Two delightful hours were spent in viewing the museum and roam- ing around the lovely gardens and house. A banquet to get acquainted at the first of the year, and a picnic at the close of school at which time officers for the next year were elected, furnished social entertainment for the members.

A year in which projects of larger scope have been successfully accomplished and in which the members have received more information and help of benefit was the one just completed. Eight meetings were held, where speakers were attentively welcomed. Mr. Alter spoke in the interest of agriculture, Mr. Stanford on "The Relations of Bacteriology to Agriculture," Harry Cook on "The Livestock Industry," and Mr. Jensen of the O.-U. Creamery on "The History and the Making of Ice Cream."

The Fair held on May 24 and 25 was one of the largest junior fairs held in the world. Here livestock, poultry, garden products, booths, home economic, health and shop articles are exhibited. Awards are made which have been generously donated by merchants of Upland and Ontario. A booth in the Pomona Valley Fair brought a first prize, the J. F. C., and with it fifty dollars. The float entered in the Armistice day parade received third place.

BIG "C"

The Big C Club, composed of lettermen in the major sports, has as its chief aim the promotion of clean sportsmanship and a higher type of athletics. A better social acquaintance between the lettermen is also strived for. The club is strictly athletic in principle, as only boys who have gained letters can become members.

Mr. Smalley has acted as adviser since the beginning of the club in 1921, although other members of the coaching staff have at various times been chosen to assist Mr. Smalley. This year Mr. Mitchell has been chosen by the boys to help Mr. Smalley.

One of the services performed by the club is the eligibility committee. This committee, during a sport season, aids the coaches in seeing that valuable members of the team keep up their scholarship. This relieves the coaches of much worry.

Each year a trip or hike of some sort is taken. In the past Big Bear Lake has been the popular resort chosen.

This year they gained quite a distinction by purchasing sweaters for themselves. They are black coat style with orange stripes. Last year the club, by putting on a play in assembly, bought six blankets for the Physical Education department. This year they planned an indoor game between the club and the faculty, the proceeds of which would be used to buy six more blankets.

FIDDLERS' CLUB

To promote friendship among Chaffey violinists and to study the works of great artists the Fiddlers' Club has been organized. Although it is one of the newest organizations, it is also one of the most progressive and active. Business meetings are held twice a month during the noon periods. Social functions take place once a month at the homes of the different members. Entertainment is furnished by members or outsiders. The club has been very fortunate this year in having many renowned people to speak before them. Miss Margaret Johnston, a most excellent violinist, was one of these.

The first social event of the year was held at the home of Norman Hedges; another was held with Mrs. Huebner as hostess. A very unique progressive party was enjoyed by the members in March. Everyone who enjoyed this delightful affair proclaimed it to be an overwhelming success. As a climax a picnic was held at Fairmount in Riverside, at which nearly all of the members were present.

Early in the year the Fiddlers ordered unusual pins. A miniature violin with the letters C. F. is crossed with an equally tiny bow. A gold C forms the guard.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

To aid the work of the French classes in augmenting interest in the study of the language and the literature of France; to give more occasions for the use of the oral language; to cultivate a familiarity with the art, the customs, the manners, and the geography of France; to try for a better understanding of the French people, to develop towards them a spirit of friendship and goodwill as the high purpose of Le Cercle Francais a year of fulfillment and profit was enjoyed.

Meeting every Friday noon, a program of pleasure and business kept the members active and interested. In addition to the business meeting a varied entertainment is presented by the different members consisting of French games, musical numbers, and oral reports and talks. To become a member of this society a student must have had at least two years of study in High School French or one semester of French in college.

Le Cercle Francais has recently become a member of the World League of International Education Association. The members of the society have received pins from the league.

FASTI

One thousand copies of the Fasti is the record number to be printed this year by the class of '29. This high figure is more than two hundred copies above any previous figure.

Early in the year the Fasti committee met for the purpose of selecting students to fill positions on the staff and to get the actual work going as soon as possible. Miss Stanford, Miss Avery, Miss Reed, Mr. Hall, Mrs. Mehl, and Ruth Galentine, editor, composed the committee. After much deliberation they chose the following capable staff: Ruth Galentine, editor; Nelson Gray, assistant editor; Evelyn Peterson, business manager; Lawrence Olive, art editor; Margaret Pyle, class editor; Robert Tucker, senior editor; Doris Stanford, activities editor; Elbert Wing, features; Ralph Whistler, technical editor; Kenward Babcock, athletic editor; Maxine McCready, sales manager; Evelyn Bosshardt, assistant technical editor; Sarah O'Brien, club editor; William Graber, advertising manager; Marilee Davis, photography editor; Elizabeth Bond, feature editor; Lowell Emmons, advertising manager; Dorothy Homewood, arts editor; Dorris Offill, features; Gordon Cumming, assistant athletic editor.

As soon as the staff had been selected, a meeting was called by Miss Galentine, principally for the purpose of selecting a theme upon which the book could be based. A discussion ensued which lasted several weeks. Among those themes under consideration were the sea, Indian, desert, Dutch, and others. Some were eliminated because of difficult or lack of artistic application. A Chinese theme was suggested, and, as it proved popular at once, was adopted.

In these first few meetings the newly-selected members of the staff were instructed as to what they were to do and how they were to do it. They quickly took an interest in the work and all were soon doing their utmost to make the Fasti the best book ever published.

A unique feature of the sales campaign was the method of informing students as to the progress of the sale of books. A map of the western hemisphere was drawn upon a large sheet of cardboard. Between the two poles, five lanes were marked off wherein paper airplanes representing the classes and the faculty, were pasted at a distance from the starting pole corresponding to the number of coupons bought by the class.

Those who took part in the selling of the coupons are as follows: Nelson Gray, Betty Hill, Lowell Emmons, Evelyn Peterson, Elizabeth Bond, Ruth Galentine, Charlotte Allen, Clifford Kellogg, Bevington Blakeslee, Vincent Combs, Virginia Moore, Rae Jean Gillilan, and Gladys Bowden.

Several important changes were made in the Fasti and in the management. A new cover, of a pretty blue color, with the usual print of the administration building on it, which was used this year, sets the book apart from those of past years. For the first time since the Fasti was started, a border on every page was used. The extraordinary design carries out the general theme exceptionally well. A new department was added to the staff this year, the technical department. It has proven successful and will probably be used again in later years.

Much credit is due to the art department for the beautiful linoleum cuts and other artistic work in the book. Miss Reed assisted and inspired the artists.

Miss Mabel Stanford, who took charge of the editorial part of the annual, made friends with each member of the staff and ably guided them to a successful finish.

The advertising department, under the supervision of Miss Norman, did excellent work in getting a large number advertisers for the annual.

TATLER

Beginning with a two-page Tatler-Thrasher in the first week of school, the Tatler staff has continued to publish the paper every Thursday noon of the school year. The Thrasher was enlarged to four pages, and together with the Tatler, made an eight-page paper worthy of the best school. The editor-in-chief is chosen by the student body at the beginning of each semester but the other editors are changed every quarter. The editor-in-chief is the only office elected by the student body, the other editors being appointed. This gives nearly every one in the class a chance to have a special job on the paper. All positions are filled from the Journalism class.

The editors for the year are as follows:

FIRST QUARTER:

Editor-in-chief—Ralph Whistler
Second page—Margaret Pyle
Third page—Doris Stanford
Fourth page—Gordon Cumming
Assignments—Thelma Miles

SECOND QUARTER:

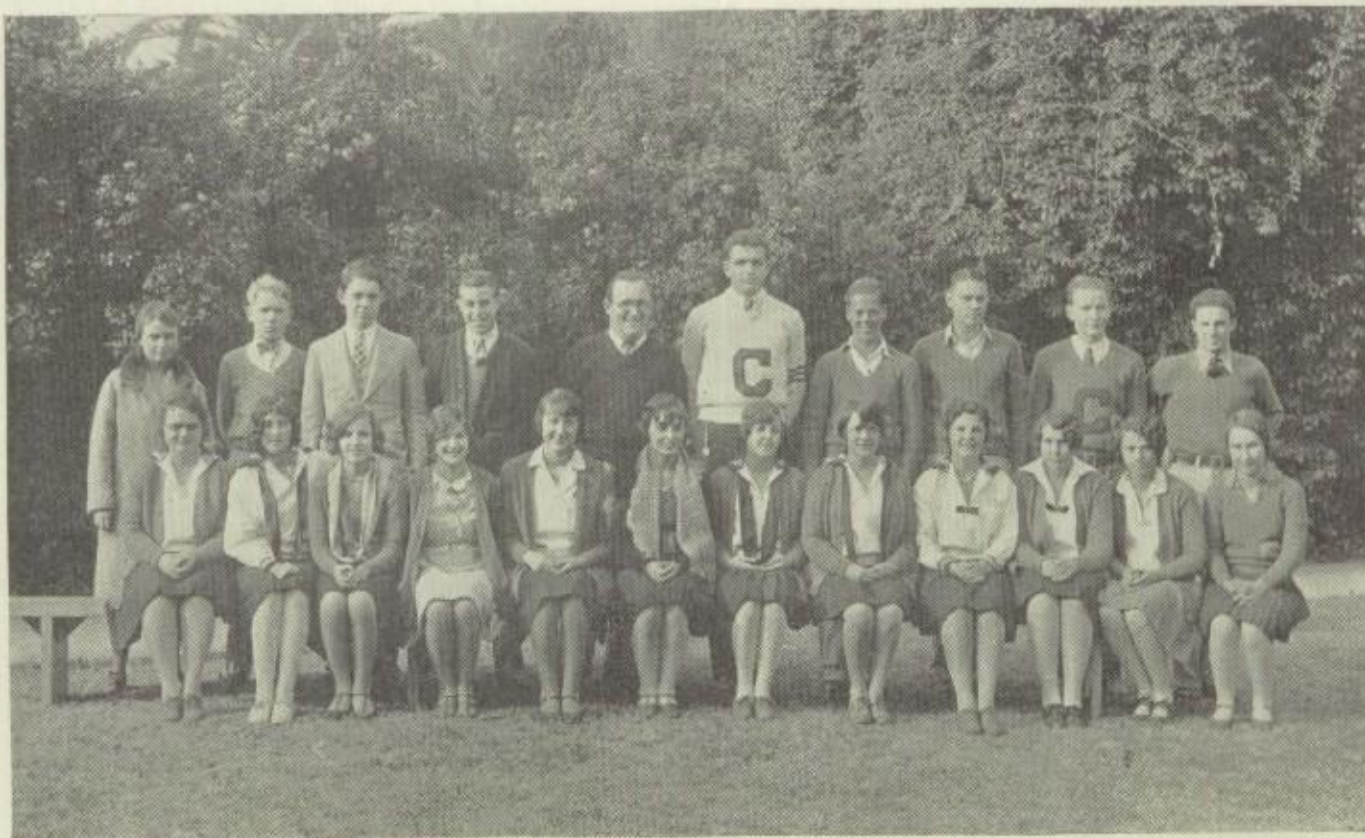

Second page—Betty Hill
Third page—Marjory Blaine
Fourth page—Nelson Gray

THIRD QUARTER:

Third page—Faye Youngblood
Fourth page—Alfred Hughes
Assignments—Hal Harlow

The existence of the Tatler depends to a great extent upon the work of the business staff. During the first semester William Graber acted as general business manager, while Robert Farrell handled the advertising and Lowell Emmons took charge of the circulation. In the second semester Faye Youngblood became business manager, while Robert Farrell again saw to the advertising. Robert Sawyer was circulation manager.

Several special editions are published during the year on special occasions. The first issue of this type was the Christmas literary edition. It was for the purpose of showing what Chaffey students could do in the way of literary work. It contained original stories, poems and articles written mostly by students other than those taking journalism. Frieda Galle did excellent work as editor of this paper. The new year was celebrated with a special blue paper edited by Elroy Mitchell. Another edition of literary makeup, similar to the Christmas issue, was printed just after the Easter vacation. Members of Mr. Kegley's American literature classes contributed an entire page of original poetry. The success of this pink edition was due to the work of Betty Hill as editor with Melicent Buckwalter as assistant. On the day of the Invitational Track Meet, March 23, an eight-page Invitational issue was published. Gordon Cumming together with William Staffield and Alfred Hughes made this edition a success. On the Thursday before the J. F. C. Fair the Tatler was devoted largely to this great event. Louise Larick edited this issue. Louise had as assistants Lowell Emmons and William Staffield. The last Tatler of the year, the commencement issue, appeared on the sixth of June. The editors then turned their work over, the Juniors taking their places the following year. Gabrielle Lucas with Lowell Emmons, Melicent Buckwalter and William Bodner helped Gabrielle with this paper.

During the year three important press conventions were held; two of them were attended by representatives of the staff. The first was held at Compton Union High School on Friday, November 2. Several noted newspaper men gave talks in the forenoon. Immediately following the speeches prizes were awarded to the winning newspapers in the contest held in connection with the convention. Luncheon was served to the guests in the school cafeteria. In the afternoon group meetings were held, where editors and business managers could discuss their problems. Miss Stanford, adviser of publications, Ruth Galentine, editor of the Fasti, and Ralph Whistler, editor of the Tatler, attended.

On March 2 the University of Southern California held its annual newspaper day convention. Representatives of high school newspapers and annuals were present. Mr. Crombie Allen of Ontario presented to the winning school, the Metropolitan High School of Los Angeles, a beautiful trophy for the best all-round newspaper. Nelson Gray and Ralph Whistler were present.

The second convention of the Southern California Press Association was held at the Metropolitan High School. Members of the staff were planning to attend but were unable to at the last moment.

To increase the knowledge of the members of the journalism class in the methods and processes incident with the making of a modern newspaper, the plant of the Ontario Daily Report was visited. The various steps in the making of a paper, from the time the copy went to the linotype machine until it came off the press, were described by Mr. Crombie Allen, editor of the paper. The new rotary press drew a great deal of attention.

It has been the custom in past years for the staff and journalism class to hold a banquet. Early in the spring the anticipated event was held in the Chaffey Model Apartment.

PUBLICATIONS

Journalistic endeavors have never before been so intensely applied as they have this year. With a large class especially interested in the work the Chaffey publications remained informative and entertaining throughout the entire year. From these students a staff of unusual ability and ingenuity has inaugurated many new ideas which have proved popular with the student body.

A Tatler containing new articles of interest which touched upon almost every member of the Student Body was distributed every Thursday noon. Besides the regular issues of the paper, at Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Years, Easter, Invitational Track Meet and Commencement special editions were featured. The most of these were literary and permitted contributions from students not on the regular staff. Inexperienced authors were thus given a chance to receive the thrill of seeing their handiwork in print. Linoleum block prints were used to add an unusual appearance to the paper. Lawrence Olive, Robert Majors, Melicent Buckwalter, and Donna Kuhnley of the art department graciously furnished these.

Unusual art decoration, theme, and written material pleased the students at the issue of the Fasti in June. With a staff well fitted to accomplish the difficult and intricate work the Fasti progressed smoothly and without mishap to its completion.

Besides these two well established publications of the High School there was a Junior Tatler, a mimeographed paper published for the Freshmen of Chaffey, Upland, and Fontana. In publishing this extra the Freshmen gave due prominence to their activities. Part-Time Paragraphs, another mimeographed paper, included all the student activities in that department which were not handled by either the Tatler or the Thrasher.

Junior College editorial projects include the Thrasher and the Argus, which are similar to the Tatler and the Fasti, but apply to the college students.

Miss Mabel Stanford, who acts as adviser to the student publications and as teacher of journalism, capably manages all these weeklies and annuals with efficiency and dispatch, so that they do not conflict with each other.

AGRARIAN

Each year immediately following the yearly Junior Farm Center Fair, the Junior Farm Center publishes its own annual known as the Agrarian. This publication, previously printed in the form of a small illustrated booklet but this year as a newspaper, contains a complete resume of all the Junior Farm Center activities which have occurred during the current year. In the pages of the paper the fair and the projects carried on by the members are given special attention as well as the judging contests in poultry, tree and stock.

The annual is edited by some member of the senior journalism class who is active in agricultural work. This year Betty Hill, with Howard Hawkins, Marjory Blaine, and William Staffield as assistants, was chosen as editor of the Agrarian. Mr. Alter was the adviser.

The first Agrarian, then known as the Junior Farm Center Annual, was published in 1923. Since then Clayton W. Green, William Beard, John I. McLaughlin, Robert Ohly, Harvey Larick, and Margaret Callihan, the first girl editor, have endeavored to make it useful and interesting. Betty Hill has done the same fine work this year.

HEAVYWEIGHT FOOTBALL

This year has been extraordinary in football circles at Chaffey. The Tigers, with claws sharpened and teeth bared, came out of the slump that had so characterized the teams of several seasons. This year found Chaffey giving Old Man Jinx the go-by and getting out of the rut of losing every league game and either losing or tying the practice tilts. The Tigers won two out of the four games to come through the season with a percentage of .500 games won.

Perhaps any one of several reasons were big factors which determined the Tigers' successful year. By special importation, Howard "Muggs" Mitchell, who held down the position of quarterback on one of Stanford's mighty teams, was secured as mentor for the Tigers. "Muggs" immediately made a hit at Chaffey, both with football men and with football enthusiasts. With new equipment and a new coach of such a reputation, a successful season was anticipated. As a result of this added football wealth and stimuli, the Tigers snapped into the hard work set before them with eagerness and reaped the fruits of their toil. What more proof could be asked when "Muggs" produced an All-C. B. L. player in his first year at Chaffey? "Clint" Dornbush was chosen by the sports critics as one of the best wingmen in the game. In fact, the whole Chaffey team rated pretty high, getting the call almost to a man as a second team.

At the head of the football squad this year was Howard "Muggs" Mitchell, who came to Chaffey from a coaching position in Stanford. In his first year at Chaffey he has proved that he knows how to build football timber into mighty teams. He came into a position that was hard to fill and he put the men through their paces in a most commendable manner. Here at Chaffey he has made many friends and a fine record. If he does stay with us he will no doubt become a maker of champions for the Orange and Black.

Karl Kaiser should need no introduction to the Chaffey students. He has been here for a number of years as a physical education instructor and coach of football and basketball. During the 1925 season, when he had such luminaries on the team as "Shorty" Wharton and "Gilly" Krebil, he was head coach of the heavyweights. Since then he has filled the position of assistant coach, doing special work on developing the line. This year as well as high school work he has devoted some of his time to the junior college team.

"Pop" Kegley came to Chaffey in the fall of 1921. During his period of activity at Chaffey he has done excellent work as a football and track coach. As a football coach he turned out several very good teams, in fact a championship squad. Since his heavyweight coaching days he has taken over the reigns of the lightweights. His lightweights have been a big factor in the production of good football material for the heavyweights and as long as "Pop" has charge of the smaller fellows there is not likely to be an absence of heavyweight timber.

Mr. Snyder, coach of the class C football, took charge several years ago and has devoted much of his time to the development of the material for the future light and heavyweight teams. His teams have shown a great willingness to learn and have taken every opportunity given them to obtain football knowledge. Coach Snyder seems to have the knack of getting the best out of all his proteges and no doubt if Mr. Snyder keeps up his splendid work the future Chaffey teams will not have to worry about any lack of material.

Everybody knows "Ohly." Mr. Ohly came to Chaffey four years ago as chief of the check room. Since then he has been a big factor in the athletic department of Chaffey. He has been trainer, helper and friend to nearly every member of all the teams.

PRACTICE SCHEDULE

The first of a series of practice games was played with Corona at the Circle City, where the Tigers humbled the wearers of red and yellow 66-0. During the first stanza the Chaffey eleven rang up nineteen points. In the second quarter no scoring was done due to luck which seemed to keep the Tigers from striking up another scoring streak. To make up for the deficiency in the second quarter the team managed to total twenty-six more digits and to cap the climax, the squad rang up twenty-one more counters before the game ended. Bob Allen led the scoring for the Tigers by making three touchdowns. Another fullback, Hal Harlow, made two of the ten for Chaffey. The third man to make two touchdowns was Hoffman. It still remains a fact, however, that if it had not been for the remarkable manner in which the line opened up holes the backfield men would have been held to fewer touchdowns and far less yardage.

In the second practice tilt Chaffey emerged victorious over Citrus Union, whom the Tigers beat 12-6. By straight football the Chaffey eleven pushed the ball slowly toward the Citrus goal but a slight attack of heart failure was experienced by the Chaffey supporters when Citrus, unnoticed, picked up a fumble and ran for a touchdown. Outside of that one slip there was no time that the Orange and Black did not have the upper hand in the afternoon's episode.

Due to a mixup in the schedule, the Tigers played two games in one. The El Monte team vied with the team from the halls of Chaffey and succeeded in holding the boys to a 6-6 tie. After twenty-four minutes the El Monte Lions gave way to the speedy Bonita High School squad, who took the measure of the Tigers, 7-0. In one of the hardest fought practice games of the year the fighting Tigers lost to the Monrovia Wilcats 12-7. It was a hard fought game from beginning to end, and it was the sounding of the gun that saved the Wildcats from defeat. With the score 12-7 against them the Tigers completed a long pass that put the pigskin on the Monrovia threshold. The ball was on the three-yard line and when a score seemed inevitable the gun sounded.

Previous to the Armistice Day game with Sherman Indians the Tigers held a scrimmage with the Pomona College Frosh. Coach Mitchell used several combinations in the backfield, hoping to find the most efficient. The final score was 13-7 in favor of Chaffey. On Armistice Day the wearers of the Orange and Black triumphed over the Sherman Indians 8-6. Shortly after the starting kick-off the Tigers fumbled and Sherman recovered to score their only touchdown. After an exchange of punts the Chaffey eleven pushed the ball steadily toward the goal. Allen, playing a wonderful game, was responsible for the touchdown. In a few minutes Captain McArthur blocked a Sherman punt behind the goal and scored two more points for Chaffey via the safety method.

It can easily be seen that throughout the practice season this year the Tigers held the upper hand except for two of the tilts out of the seven played. These two lone defeats gave Chaffey a percentage of .714 games won. Coach "Muggs" Mitchell moulded a smoothly working team from the rough in short order and as a result put into competition one of the best teams ever produced at Chaffey. This year the student support of the practice games has been above the average of the past seasons, and at some of the away-from-home games there were more Tiger rooters than there were from the home team. Another thing which may have stimulated interest in the games, both practice and league, was the reciprocity between the high school and the junior college, which allowed the use of high school student body tickets at the J. C. games and vice versa.

HEAVYWEIGHT LEAGUE GAMES

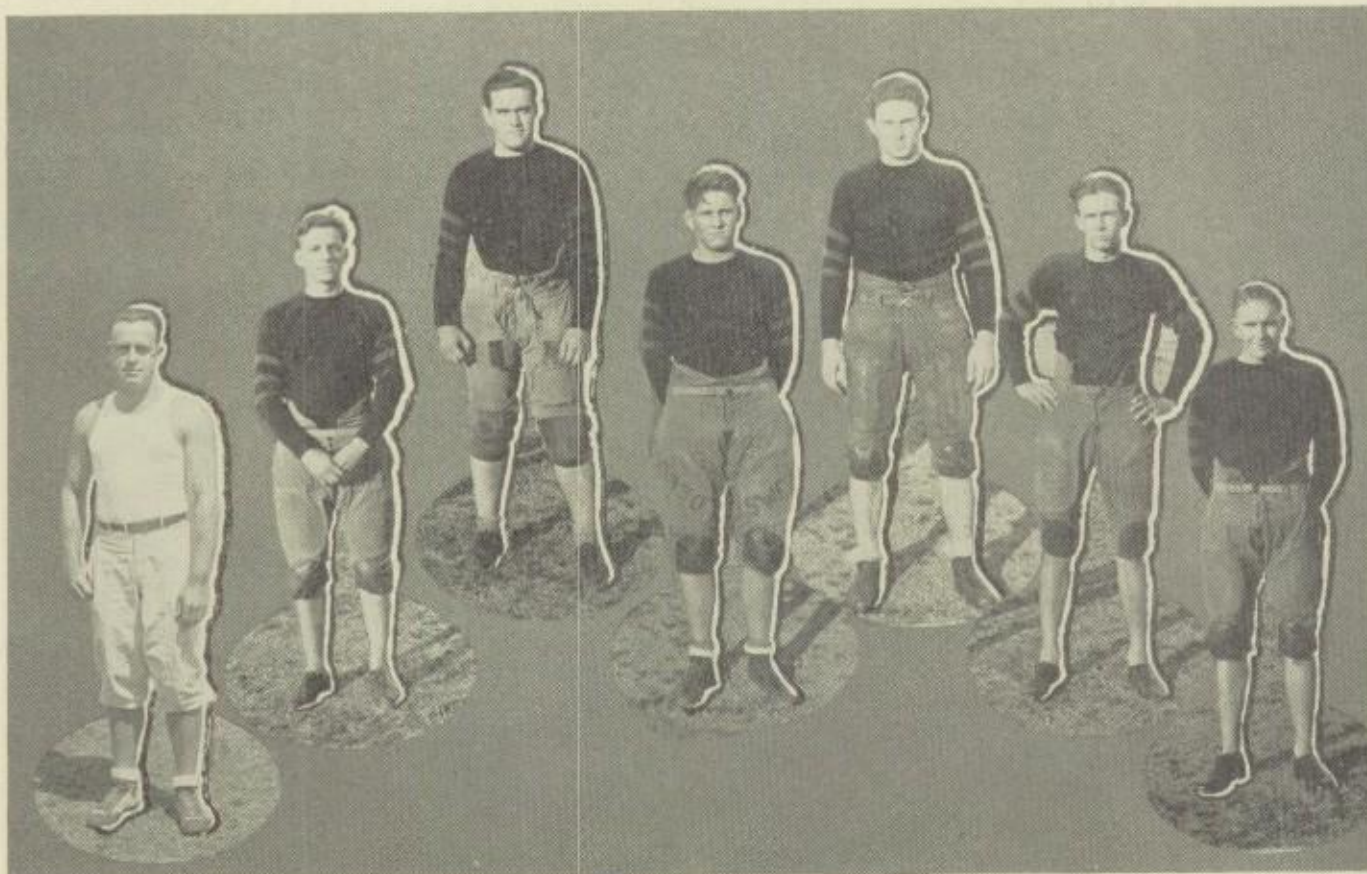

CHAFFEY-REDLANDS

The first Citrus Belt League game for the Tigers resulted in their defeat at the hands of the Redlands Terriers. Although the game was played on the Redlands field, the Chaffey spirit was well represented; the Chaffey rooters outnumbering those of Redlands. The Tigers played a much better brand of football than did the Terriers, making twelve first down to two, but Old Man Jinx seemed determined to undermine the best efforts of "Muggs" Mitchell's crew and gave nearly all of the breaks to Redlands. The lone touchdown for the Tigers came in the second quarter when, after working the ball down the field, a long pass from Allen to Cronk netted six points; Cronk failing in the attempt to kick the goal.

Redlands' second and last score came in the third period after two Tiger players nearly blocked a pass. All during the fourth quarter the pigskin was kept in Redlands' territory but the team seemed to lack the necessary punch to carry the oval across the final chalk line. Cronk got off the longest punt of the game during the second quarter, the pigskin traveling fifty-five yards before ending its flight through the football atmosphere that was so prevalent. On the line of the Chaffey team there were several men who showed up well. Brest, Gray, and Harn were outstanding. In the backfield Allen and Cronk displayed good head and foot work. Taken as a whole the Tigers were by far the better team but could not quite take advantage of the fact. With this defeat so early in the Citrus Belt League schedule, no disastrous results were noted but instead the taste of defeat was all that was needed to set fire to unbounded spirit and fight that had been smoldering in the heart of the Tiger.

CHAFFEY-POMONA

Playing against great odds the Chaffey Tiger went down to a fighting defeat at the hands of Archie Nesbit's Pomona Cardinals to the count of 32-7. A passing attack that was well near unstoppable was the nemesis of the Chaffey eleven on that eventful afternoon. All of the glory, however, was not taken by that miraculous backfield of Pomona headed by Keough. On the Chaffey team Bob Allen was the most formidable ground gainer for the backfield men.

Mr. Mitchell, A. Colombero, M. Noll, W. Bodner, D. Brest, E. Bryden.

In the first quarter Pomona kicked off to Chaffey, who lost the elusive pigskin on a fumble. Pomona recovered and in but a few plays had the ball over the goal. Later in the first quarter Pomona again scored when Keough ran a punt back some thirty-five or forty yards for a touchdown. He converted for the extra point. The score at the end of the first canto was 13-0 in favor of the Cardinals. In the second quarter the Tigers tightened up a bit on the Pomona eleven and held them to but one touchdown, which came after working the ball down the field on line and around end plays and then completing a pass for six more points. Keough converted. During the half Mr. Wilding's band played several numbers as well as the Pomona band. Mr. Snyder's girl rooting section did some novel spelling with cards, much to the delight of the crowd.

Red Grange was put to shame by our own "Biff" Hoffman when he received the Pomona kickoff behind his own goal and raced down the sidelines through the whole aggregation of Pomona players to a touchdown. Cronk converted for the extra point, thus ending Chaffey's scoring for the day. Again in the third quarter the Cardinals managed to get over two touchdowns which also ended Pomona's scoring. The last quarter found both teams again at each other; one striving to build up an even more overwhelming score and the other desperately struggling to prevent being scored upon and at the same time punch across a few more touchdowns on its own hook. Mr. Mitchell has a team to be proud of.

Although this year's game with Chaffey's nemesis was not as close as it was two years ago when Coach Hanson's team held the Cards to a scoreless tie, there was the ever-present Chaffey spirit that kept the fellows fighting for the Orange and Black. The team was wonderfully well supported by the students of both schools, the bleachers being filled to their capacity.

CHAFFEY-RIVERSIDE

Chaffey's first Citrus Belt League victory came at the expense of the Riverside eleven who were downed 30-7. In the first quarter the Tigers began a drive which did not let up until three touchdowns had been punched across the Poly Bear line. Hoffman repeated the stunt that he worked on Pomona so successfully. "Hoffy" raced 95 yards through the whole Riverside team to a touchdown. Much to the dismay of the Chaffey supporters the ball was called back and Chaffey penalized. After punting to Riverside the Tigers regained the pigskin on the Bears' 25-yard line, when Bodner recovered a fumble. A few plays later Allen smashed across for a touchdown. Riverside punted to Hoffman on the Chaffey 30-yard line. On the next play "Biff" ran 70 yards to the Bear's goal for another six points. Riverside's only spark of action came in the second quarter when they worked the ball down the field from the kick-off to register their only touchdown. The Poly Bears came within eleven yards of the Chaffey goal but lost the ball on downs. The Tigers took the ball from there to the Bear's goal in short order. Cronk shot a beautiful pass to Hoffman, who scampered across the line for another score. Chaffey's last score came in the last quarter when Graber intercepted a pass and ran forty-five yards to a touchdown. All six tries for the extra points after touchdown failed. Hoffman was easily the big star of the tilt for Chaffey.

CHAFFEY-SAN BERNARDINO

In past years the Chaffey football teams have experienced considerable difficulty in wresting a game from the Gate City eleven, but this year the Tigers overwhelmed their opponents by the score of fifty-six to nothing. The wearers of the Orange and Black swept over all opposition. Willie Bodner, quarterback, seemed to have been able to put the spark of life into the Tigers that afternoon as no one has done in several years. The whole line seemed as one; it was a mountain of strength against which none could cope. The back-field functioned almost perfectly, running off plays like clockwork.

Running rings around the San Bernardino team the Mighty Tigers scored at least one touchdown a quarter. Outstanding among the Tiger ball packers was Bob Allen, who scored four touchdowns, two in each of the first and second quarters. Chaffey has two of the best linemen in the league in Wayne Harn and Nelson Gray, who consistently opened up huge holes in the line that were big enough to run the proverbial truck through. This win over the Cardinals resulted in a triple tie for second place in the Citrus Belt League between Chaffey, San Bernardino, and Redlands. As this was the last game of the season for the Chaffey football squad, it was a real way to finish a successful year. It was his playing such a consistently good game that led Clinton Dornbush to receive the position of end on the mythical All-C. B. L. eleven. It was generally agreed that the Chaffey team as a whole made a very good second team. One of the features of the game was the injection of numerous substitutes into the fray during the closing minutes of play. With such a successful season it seems certain that Coach "Muggs" Mitchell will be back again next year to produce a championship team.

LIGHTWEIGHT FOOTBALL

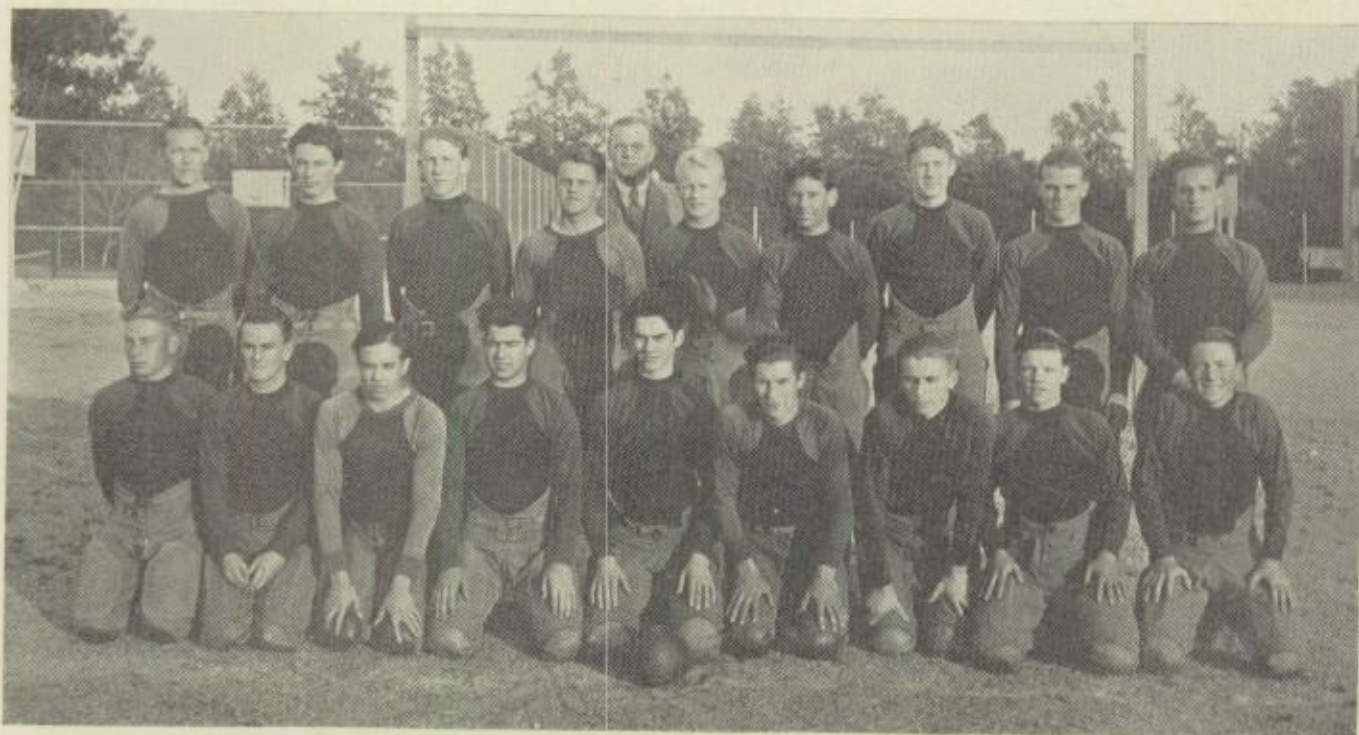

This year's lightweight football team, under the able guidance of W. H. "Pop" Kegley, ended the season in a tie for second place with Redlands. The schedule of practice and league games was satisfactory throughout the season. Taken as a whole, the lightweights have been a neat team through the efforts of Coach Kegley and the way in which they have given their best for the school. Some of the outstanding players have been Captain Harold Gillott, Kirkpatrick, Kellogg, and Sheehan.

A game with Riverside was one of the number of practice games which were played this year in preparation for the big season. This tilt was won by the Chaffey team 33-6. Although this game was with a league school, it did not count as a C. B. L. contest. The lightweights played the Chino heavyweights several times in pre-season games. The first tilt was in favor of the Cubs, who won 18-0. The team was outweighed almost fifteen pounds to the man, but this mere matter of weight did not make any difference with the young Tigers. "Pop" used the first-string in the first half and the second-string in the second half. The subs held up their end of the score in good style.

The Cubs again won another football game, this time with Citrus Union High School. "Pop's" charges brought home the bacon in the form of a 19-0 victory. The Tigers used some neat off-tackle plays that ran off with considerable smoothness and execution so early in the season. In another set-to with Chino the lightweights again took all honors by winning a 12-0 victory. Even when the heavyweights lost to the Monrovia heavyweights, the lightweights avenged the defeat by winning 13-0.

CHAFFEY-REDLANDS

The first league game of the season for Pop Kegley's lightweight team resulted in a decisive victory for the Tiger Cubs, 19-0. From the very start it was evident that the Cubs were the masters of the situation. After the kick-off the Tigers held the young Terriers to downs and thenceforth proceeded to crush the opposition as a mighty steam-roller might crush an eggshell. The proteges of "Pop" looked like a real team as they scored their first touchdown. From then on it was futile to try to stop their march toward the goal. Once or twice they fumbled at rather critical moments but as Redlands was not strong enough to keep the ball after obtaining it, Chaffey lost practically nothing by the untimely baubles. In spite of this the lightweights proved themselves a worthy team.

"Gallop in" Jack Sheehan was up to his old tricks again and paved the way for touchdowns through his huge gains against the opposing team. Jack carried on in a very commendable manner. As he is only a sophomore, we expect to hear great things from him during his next two years under the Orange and the Black. Captain Harold Gillott was in the game but a few minutes because of his injured foot which kept him from breaking away on his customary dashes through the line and around the end. Coach Kegley is to be congratulated upon the way in which he has drilled football knowledge into his charges. The Baby Tigers certainly returned the compliment of his coaching with interest, if judging from the way they defeated Redlands can be considered a fair test.

CHAFFEY-POMONA

Playing their second Citrus Belt League game of the season the Baby Tigers lost to the Pomona High School lightweights on the Pomona gridiron by the score of 12-7. The defeat was due, perhaps, to ragged and unsteady playing, for none of the fellows seemed quite up to "snuff." The Tiger Cubs' only score came in the first period of the game when Captain Gillott ran a sensational eighty yards for a touchdown. It seems as if "Frenchy" cannot keep himself from humiliating the teams he plays against; he is frequently pulling off a stunt like that eighty-yard run. The extra point was given to Chaffey because a Pomona player was off-side.

Pomona's first tally came from a pass made after they had worked the ball down the field by line drives. The second score was realized in the beginning of the third quarter. The Tiger Cubs passed a ball over Gillott's head that rolled to the fifteen-yard line, where a Pomona man fell on it. The Cubs' next chance to ring up another tally came when they worked the pigskin to within striking distance—in fact, to the one-foot line—but lost the ball on downs. Pomona punted and the Tigers were again engaged in the process of advancing the oval goalward when the final gun sounded.

Gillott, as usual, played stellar football. He made several long runs besides his outstanding yard-eating run of the first quarter. Eddie Hughes and LaRue, end and center respectively, played a good brand of football on the line. The Cubs were not alone in their defeat, for the Tigers also lost to the strong Pomona Cards.

CHAFFEY-RIVERSIDE

On Armistice Day the Chaffey Cubs defeated the Riverside High School lightweights 13-6 as a preliminary to the big game of the afternoon, a tilt between the Chaffey heavyweights and the Sherman Indians. During the first quarter neither team gained much except for a few runs, which failed to be followed by any scoring. Kirkpatrick and Kellogg were bearing the brunt of the attack during the first quarter, although Captain Gillott got away for one dash of twenty yards.

In the second quarter "Irish" Kirkpatrick uncorked a pretty thirty-five-yard run around right end. This gain was what put the pep and ginger into the team, for from then on they were on their toes every minute and outplayed the boys from Riverside in all departments of the game. Just before the first half closed Jack Sheehan, the "Gallop-in' Ghost" of the lightweights, ran back a punt and raced through the whole Riverside team for a touchdown. The extra point was added by a completed pass from Filius to Weldon.

In the third quarter passes were thrown all over the gridiron by both teams but neither squad scored. The last period marked the steaming up of the Chaffey eleven, who took the pigskin on the forty-five-yard line and marched to a touchdown with Kellogg and Kirkpatrick doing the heavy ball packing. Kellogg shoved the ball over but the attempt at conversion failed. Riverside managed to punch across a lone touchdown before the close of the game but, like

J. Sharp, W. Matlin, E. Kirkpatrick, E. La Rue.

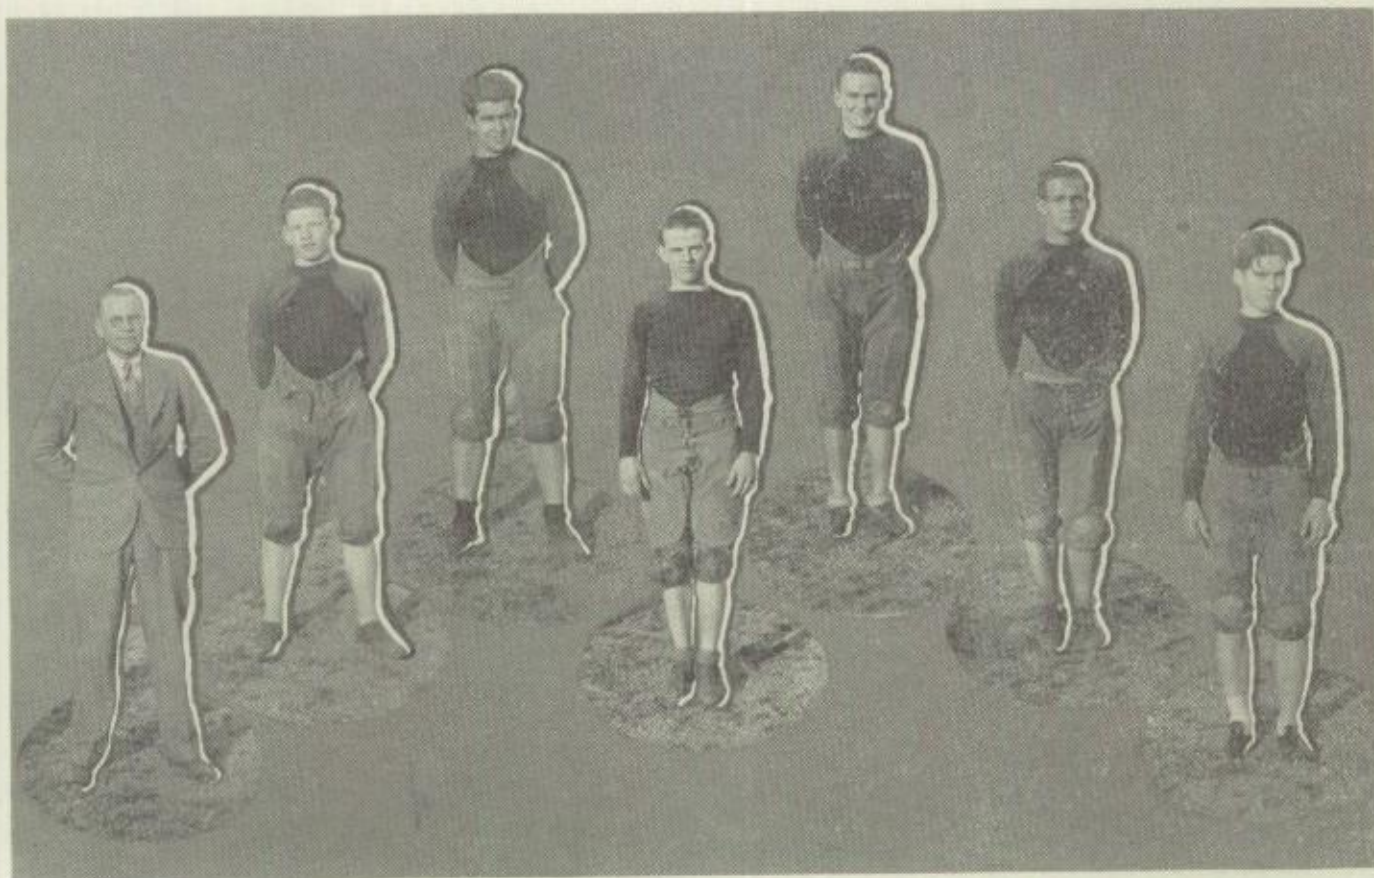

Chaffey, failed to convert for the extra point. As usual, LaRue, Sharp, and Weldon were the mainstays on the line, while Kirkpatrick and Kellogg shone in the backfield.

CHAFFEY-SAN BERNARDINO

Playing their last game of the season, "Pop" Kegley's team held the San Bernardino lightweight squad to a scoreless tie; resulting in a tie for second place with Redlands. The Tiger Cubs played like the "movie" teams—you know the kind. In the last minute of play they succeeded in staving off the Cardettes' last and futile attempt to punch across the final line for a score. San Bernardino had taken the ball down the field on sweeping end runs and short but effective passes. The Gate City eleven had a wonderfully perfected interference machine, but the Cubs were able to curb the best efforts of the opposition.

The first half of the game was decidedly Chaffey's. Captain Gillott, otherwise known as "Frenchy," and "Irish" Kirkpatrick featured the offense, who after working the ball to within six inches of the last chalk line were unable to put the pigskin where it belonged at that particular moment. During the second half the Baby Cards had the playing to themselves but, like "Pop's" charges, lacked the necessary punch to score. It certainly looked like defeat for the Tiger Cubs when the San Bernardino team completed a pass over the end zone, but it was ruled incomplete, much to the joy and relief of Chaffey on-lookers.

On the line Weldon and LaRue played a wonderful game and Gillott and Kirkpatrick did the heavy work in the backfield. As this was Captain Gillott's last game of his high school career he, as Octavus Roy Cohen puts it, "done noble." Even though suffering part of the season with an injured foot, Frenchy always put all he had into the game.

CLASS "C" FOOTBALL

Future material for Chaffey's lightweight and heavyweight squads was again under the wing of O. E. Snyder, coach of the Class "C" eleven. With forty Freshmen and Sophomores Mr. Snyder has built up a little team which is getting the basic fundamentals of football which will prove invaluable to the coaches of the bigger teams when they step into the shoes of the graduating members of the lightweight and heavyweight teams.

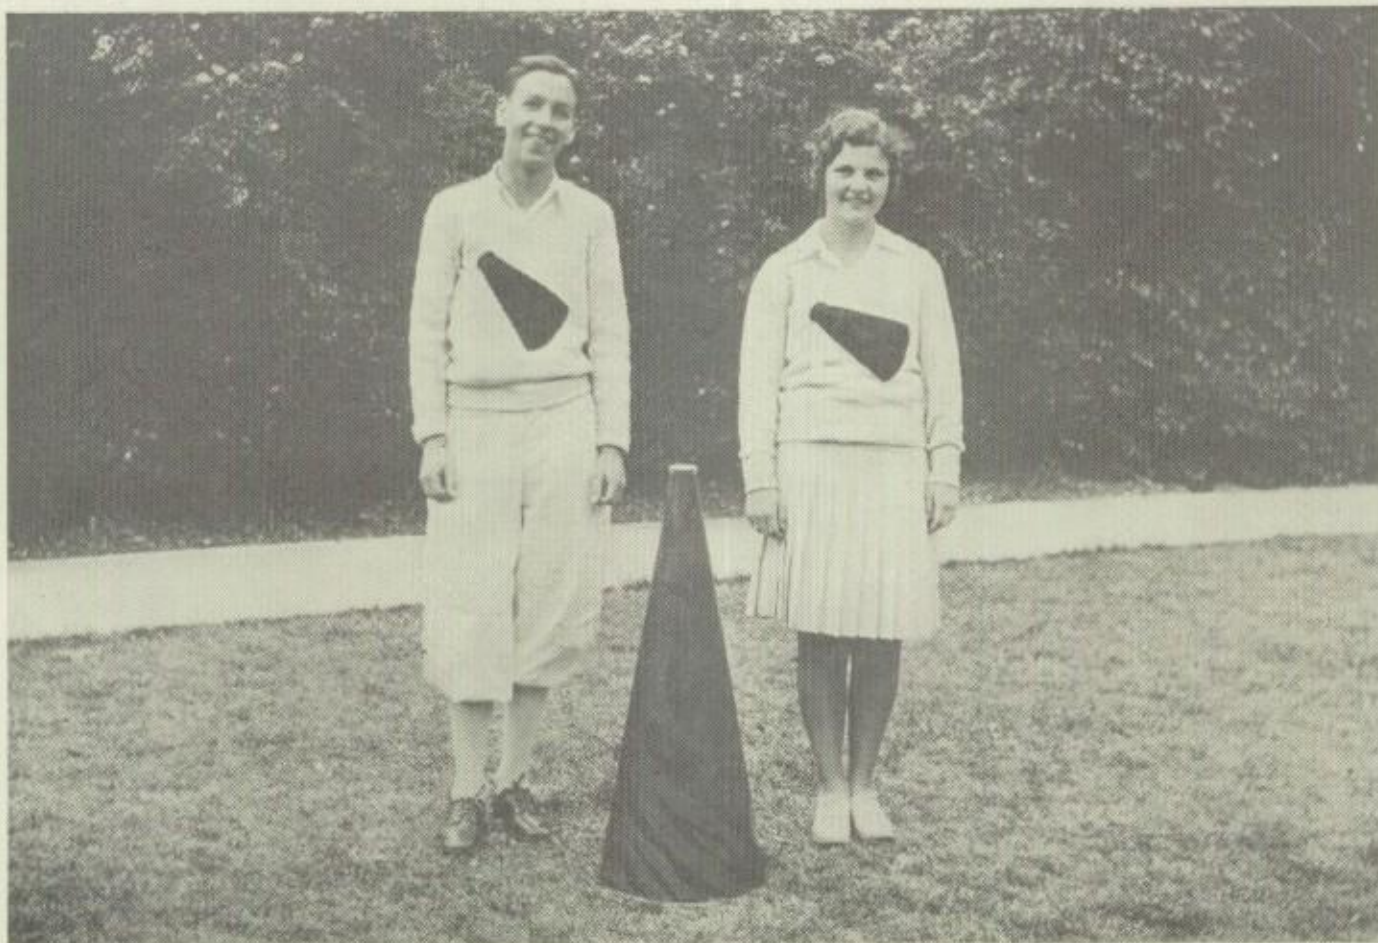

This year with Captain Harold Shiffer at the helm, the Class "C" squad played four games with other schools. In their first two tilts of the season the Baby Tigers lost to a heavier and larger team from Monrovia by the score of 33-0. In a return game with Monrovia on the Wildcats' gridiron, marked improvement was displayed by Mr. Snyder's charges when they held the same Monrovia squad to an 18-0 score.

On another away-from-home game the Class "C" team held the Chino eleven to a 6-0 count which, although it was a defeat for the squad, nevertheless showed that there was no lack of fight in Coach Snyder's team. The Bonita High School Midgets took the Baby Tigers into camp on their own field to a score of 26-0. On Graber Field the Class "C" team played a return game with the Chino High School team and defeated them by the score of 13-12.

This year tackle football instead of touch, the old style, was inaugurated in the Ontario Junior High School. There are some pretty small fellows on the teams, but they are getting a start that will no doubt be of value for the future high school teams since they will not have to begin at the bottom as all previous squads. Having a playing field on the Junior High School grounds enabled the proteges of Coach Snyder to engage in scrimmage practice with future Chaffey elevens.

FONTANA FOOTBALL

Late last fall a football team was organized in the Fontana Junior High School. As Fontana did not have enough class rooms to accommodate the Sophomores, the team was limited to Freshmen and grammar school boys.

The job of moulding a team was a great one due to the fact that the boys had little or no experience in football. The team consisted of Ball, end; Hochever, tackle; Falconer, guard; Campbell, center; Littlefield, guard; Dennis, tackle, E. Spring, end; H. Spring, quarter; Lynch, half; Setser, half;

The Fontana team played three games during the season, losing all three to Upland, Ontario and the Chaffey fleaweights.

UPLAND FOOTBALL

When the new Upland Junior High School was completed, ninth grade students attended this school instead of Chaffey. Howard Mitchell, heavy-weight coach at Chaffey, consented to go to Upland three times a week and coach football.

From the twenty-two boys reporting for practice Mr. Mitchell picked the following first team: Cipriano, center; Mason and Hudson, guards; Bland and Born, tackles; Stamm and Wiseley, ends; Busby and Benton, halves; Bigley, quarterback; Kaufman, fullback.

YELL LEADERS

Not for many years has Chaffey been fortunate in having as fine yell leaders as represented the Tigers this season. While the enthusiasm of the school was running high during the first part of the school term, as Chaffey won game after game, Betty Hill was the head yell leader.

During an active track, baseball and tennis season Ed Wells, an assistant yell leader during the first semester, was chief custodian of the rah-rahs with Edwin La Rue and Wayne Terry as his assistants.

HEAVYWEIGHT BASKETBALL

The Chaffey Tigers demonstrated that they were a real basketball team this season when they tied Pomona and Riverside for the championship of the Citrus Belt League. Due to the fact that Coach Kaiser was coaching line football this year, the basketball boys made a late start in the fall. After a few days of practice the Tigers downed Claremont, 48-4. A few days later the Tigers conquered the Pomona College Frosh 26-12. Chaffey scored her third victory over Chino, 20-19. The fourth came after a hard-fought battle with Citrus J. C., which ended 37-35 in favor of Chaffey. The first Tiger defeat came when Chaffey was downed by Huntington Park, 22-19. Chaffey then won a game from South Pasadena by a 19-15 count, while South Pasadena won a return game, 18-14.

As captain of the championship Chaffey basketball team, Bill Dean was a popular and efficient center. During Coach Kaiser's illness, at a critical time, Bill held the team together. The forward positions were filled by Arvil Terry, Roy Hopkins, Clinton Dornbush, and Norman Ghormley. At guard positions were David Meek, Frank Cronk, and Robert McArthur.

FIRST ROUND

CHAFFEY-SAN BERNARDINO

Chaffey's first league game with San Bernardino, in the Chaffey Gym, on January 11, resulted in the score of 33 to 11 in Chaffey's favor. The Tigers held a distinct advantage over their smaller rivals. At the beginning of the game Chaffey ran up a big lead, which was never endangered. The score at the end of the half was 24-5 in favor of Chaffey. Terry and Ghormley were the stars of the game. Terry with his sensational shooting and Ghormley with his hard fighting. The Tigers retained possession of the ball most of the time by means of their clever passing attack.

CHAFFEY-REDLANDS

On January 17 the Tigers prowled to Redlands to do battle. The opening of the game witnessed the Terriers running wild over Chaffey. The score at the end of the first quarter was 8-3 in favor of Redlands. In the second quarter the Tigers forged ahead when Hopkins and Dornbush began to sink their shots. The half ended 16-13 in favor of Chaffey. During the third quarter Redlands forged ahead, tying the score, 17-17, as the quarter ended. Chaffey took the lead in the fourth quarter and maintained it. The final score was 30-27 in favor of Chaffey.

CHAFFEY-POMONA

January 24 witnessed the league-leading Tigers meet defeat at the hands of Pomona in the Chaffey Gym. Chaffey began a terrific attack which resulted in a 7-3 score in favor of the Tigers at the end of the first quarter. In the second quarter Pomona began to roll up points, due to the brilliant playing of Keough. The score at the half time was 17-9 in favor of the Cardinals. In the third quarter Pomona continued to outscore Chaffey, but the Tigers rallied in the last quarter, making the final score, Pomona 31, Chaffey 18.

RIVERSIDE-CHAFFEY

On the first of February Chaffey met the Riverside Bears in the new Riverside Gym. The game was one of the most closely contested during the entire season. At the end of the game the score was tied, therefore an extra period was played. Just before the game ended, Riverside was awarded a free throw which won the game for them by the narrow margin of one point in the 22-21 score.

SECOND ROUND

CHAFFEY-SAN BERNARDINO

In the opening game of the second round Chaffey defeated San Bernardino in a close game on the Cardinal court. After defeating this team in the first round the Tigers began the second game with a case of over-confidence and before they realized what was happening the first quarter was over with the score 11-0 in favor of the Cardinals. The Tigers began to come to life in the second and third quarters, but the Cardinals still led, 18-14, at the beginning of the fourth quarter.

During the closing minutes of play Chaffey played as fine a brand of basketball as has been seen in league competition. About a minute before the end of the game, with the score tied, 28-28, Dean shot the winning basket, which made the final score 30-28 in favor of Chaffey.

CHAFFEY-REDLANDS

Chaffey defeated Redlands for the second time in the Chaffey Gymnasium, February 22, by a score of 25-20. The game was one of the slowest played by both teams all season. The Tigers led, 13-11, at the half and maintained their lead throughout the rest of the game. The final score was 25-20.

CHAFFEY-POMONA

Traditional rivalry flamed high on March 1 in the Pomona Gymnasium as the Chaffey Tigers met the Pomona Cardinals in a game to decide the championship of the league. When the final gun sounded the score was tied. The end of the first quarter found Chaffey in the lead, 8-5. The half witnessed a tied score at 14 points. At the end of the game the score stood tied at 25 points and in the extra four-minute period the Tigers scored two points, while the Cardinals scored three, thereby winning the game by a 28-29 score.

CHAFFEY-RIVERSIDE

On March 8 the Riverside Bears were beaten by the Tigers in the Chaffey Gymnasium by a 28-26 score. As the score indicates, the game was hard fought. Chaffey took the offensive and was leading 13-10 as the half ended. In the third quarter the Bears began an attack which soon cut down Chaffey's lead and placed Riverside on the tall end of the score. Chaffey rallied in the fourth quarter and, as the gun sounded ending the game, the Tigers enjoyed a two-point lead.

Coach Kaiser feels jubilant over the prospect of repeating his performance of this year and turning out a championship team next fall. He has lost few lettermen this year. Those who will not report for practice next fall are Captain Bill Dean, Arvil Terry, Roy Hopkins, Frank Cronk, and Robert McArthur.

The squad is made up of a great many Juniors and underclassmen. Coach Kaiser has a tower of strength returning in Dave Meek. Meek will probably be moved to center. Clint Dornbush, another regular, will fill one of the forward positions, or possibly running guard. Norman Ghormley, a boy who was only kept off the first string this year by the magnificent floor work of his rival, Roy Hopkins, will be a regular next year. With only two positions to fill from unknown material, and numerous boys who subbed and played on the Sophomore team to fill them, Coach Kaiser feels confident he will win a league championship.

SOPHOMORE BASKETBALL

At the fall meeting of the Citrus Belt League officials the group decided to replace lightweight basketball with a Sophomore league. The purpose of this change was to encourage younger boys to go out for athletics. When news of the change reached the Tiger Gymnasium Coach Kaiser disbanded his lightweight squad and organized a Sophomore team. He was so successful in his organization that the Chaffey Sophomores tied with San Bernardino and Redlands for the championship.

A tall fellow by the name of Doll proved to be just the boy Mr. Kaiser wanted to fill the center position. Colton took possession of one forward position soon after practice started; Hughes and Sheehan held down the other. Naftel and Cross were the two guards which went to make up the team.

The Tiger babes played several practice games before the league season started. In the first game they defeated Corona 27-12. The next victim of the prowling Cubs was the Claremont team, who fell before the Tigers, 14-3. The Sophomores won their third straight game at the expense of Chino, 19-12. In their fourth game the Chaffey boys were nosed out by Huntington Park, 11-10. South Pasadena defeated the Sophomores twice, 19-16 and 27-13, to wind up the practice season.

CHAFFEY-SAN BERNARDINO

The Chaffey Sophomores opened the league season by defeating San Bernardino 20-18 in the Chaffey Gymnasium, January 11. The game was hard fought from start to finish, the score at the half being 11-10 in favor of Chaffey. Cross was high point man of the game with 11 points.

defeated by the Blue and White Sophomores. The score was 18-6 in favor of Redlands. The Chaffey team showed a complete reversal of form, scoring only one field goal in the entire game.

CHAFFEY-POMONA

The Sophomores took their second defeat at the hands of Pomona in the Chaffey Gymnasium on January 24. The final score was 14-11 in favor of the Cardinals. The score was tied at nine points when the third quarter ended, but Pomona rallied to pull their score up to 14, while the Sophomore took only two points in the last quarter.

CHAFFEY-RIVERSIDE

The Chaffey Sophomores clashed with Riverside hoopsters February 1 in the close, hard-fought game which ended 12-11 in favor of the Sophomores. Riverside was far ahead of the Chaffey boys at the half, but the Sophomores tightened up in the second half and overcame the lead. Doll was high point man with seven points.

CHAFFEY-SAN BERNARDINO

The Sophomore forces suffered a shock on February 15 when they collided with the Cardinals in San Bernardino. San Bernardino was in the lead the entire game, not once being threatened by Chaffey. The final score was 23-13 with the San Bernardino boys on the long end of the score.

CHAFFEY-REDLANDS

On February 22, the Sophomores defeated Redlands in a close game by a score of 21-17. Chaffey held the short end of the score during most of the game, but rallied in the closing minutes to give Chaffey another victory. Colton was high point man with eight points.

CHAFFEY-POMONA

March 1 witnessed the defeat of the Chaffey Sophomores in one of the closest games of the season. The game was hard fought from start to finish. In the last few minutes Pomona shot the basket which gave the victory to the Cardinals, 16-14.

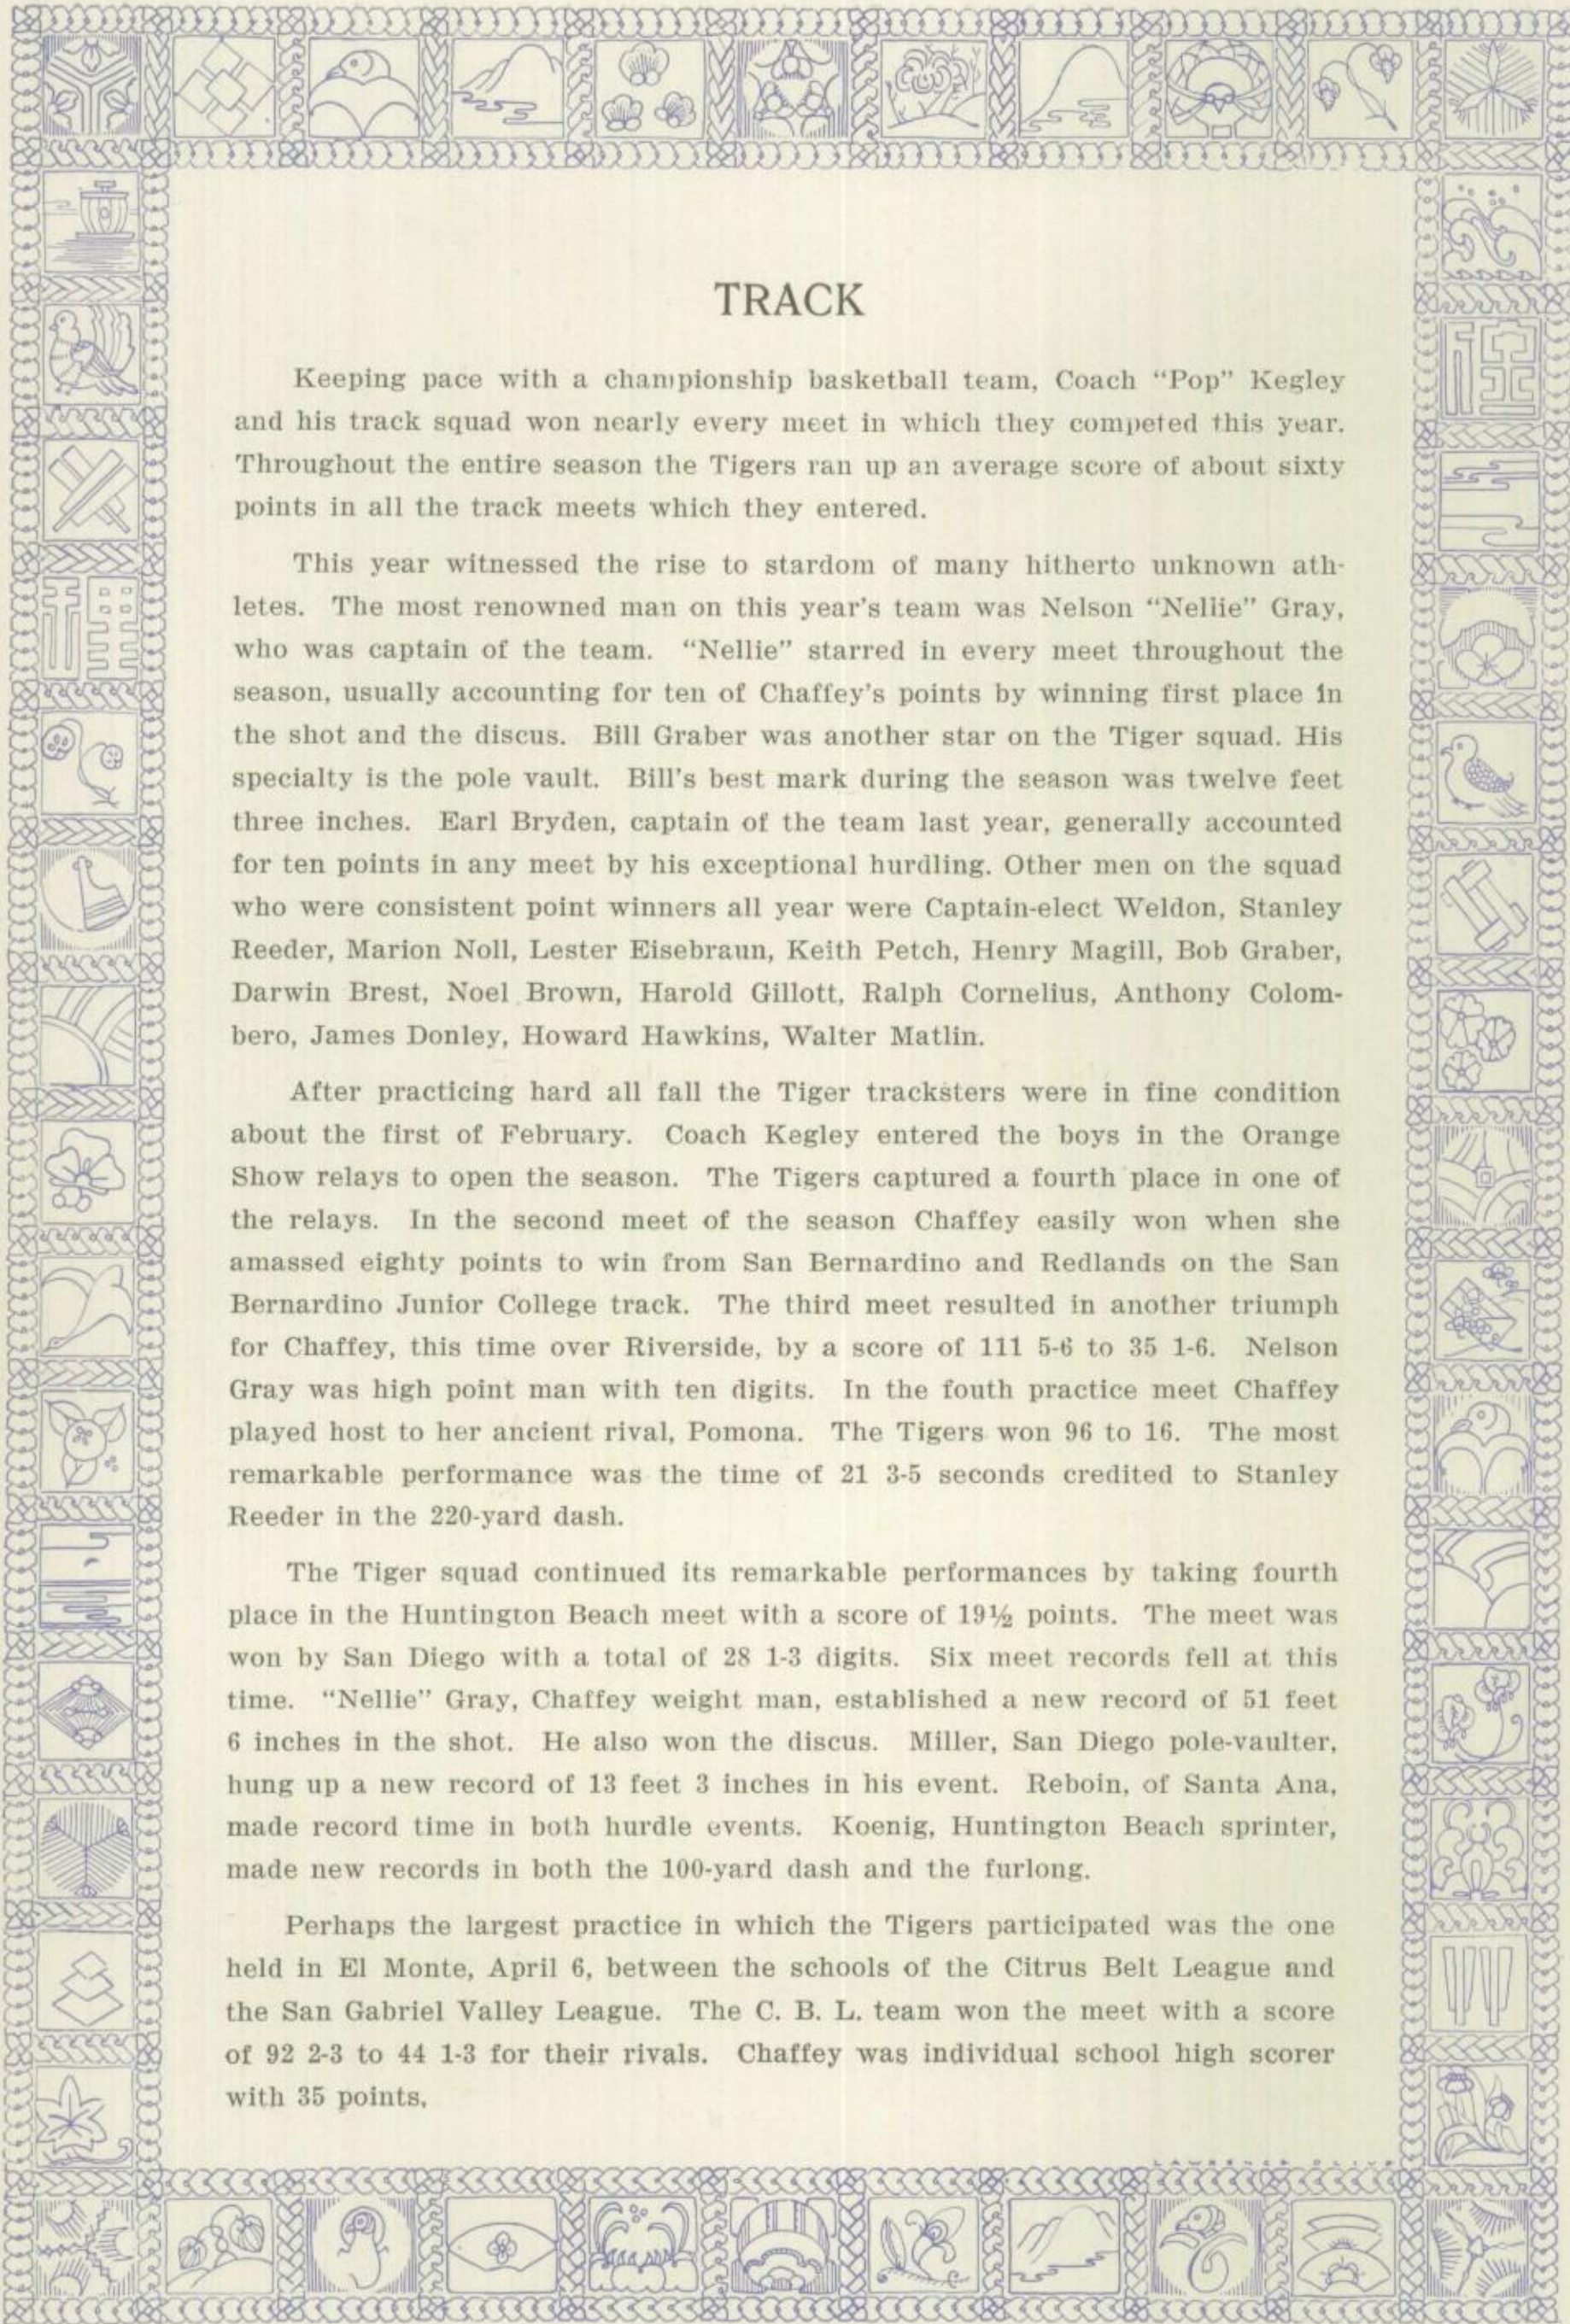

CHAFFEY-RIVERSIDE

On March 8 the Sophomores once more spanked the Bears from Riverside. The game was one of the roughest ever seen in Riverside. Scoring was about even throughout the entire game with Chaffey holding the edge as the game ended, 22-19.

With this year's Sophomore band becoming three-year men next year, Coach Kaiser will have to begin work all over again in building a Sophomore team. However, his time has been well spent because many of this year's second year team will strengthen the heavyweight squad. The boys who will report for the heavyweight next fall are Doll, Hughes, Naftel, Colton, Sheehan, and Cross. Coach Kaiser is not, however, trusting to luck to turn out a good team as he has discovered a great deal of talent in the Freshman class.

TRACK

Keeping pace with a championship basketball team, Coach "Pop" Kegley and his track squad won nearly every meet in which they competed this year. Throughout the entire season the Tigers ran up an average score of about sixty points in all the track meets which they entered.

This year witnessed the rise to stardom of many hitherto unknown athletes. The most renowned man on this year's team was Nelson "Nellie" Gray, who was captain of the team. "Nellie" starred in every meet throughout the season, usually accounting for ten of Chaffey's points by winning first place in the shot and the discus. Bill Graber was another star on the Tiger squad. His specialty is the pole vault. Bill's best mark during the season was twelve feet three inches. Earl Bryden, captain of the team last year, generally accounted for ten points in any meet by his exceptional hurdling. Other men on the squad who were consistent point winners all year were Captain-elect Weldon, Stanley Reeder, Marion Noll, Lester Eisebraun, Keith Petch, Henry Magill, Bob Graber, Darwin Brest, Noel Brown, Harold Gillott, Ralph Cornelius, Anthony Colombero, James Donley, Howard Hawkins, Walter Matlin.

After practicing hard all fall the Tiger tracksters were in fine condition about the first of February. Coach Kegley entered the boys in the Orange Show relays to open the season. The Tigers captured a fourth place in one of the relays. In the second meet of the season Chaffey easily won when she amassed eighty points to win from San Bernardino and Redlands on the San Bernardino Junior College track. The third meet resulted in another triumph for Chaffey, this time over Riverside, by a score of 111 5-6 to 35 1-6. Nelson Gray was high point man with ten digits. In the fourth practice meet Chaffey played host to her ancient rival, Pomona. The Tigers won 96 to 16. The most remarkable performance was the time of 21 3-5 seconds credited to Stanley Reeder in the 220-yard dash.

The Tiger squad continued its remarkable performances by taking fourth place in the Huntington Beach meet with a score of 19½ points. The meet was won by San Diego with a total of 28 1-3 digits. Six meet records fell at this time. "Nellie" Gray, Chaffey weight man, established a new record of 51 feet 6 inches in the shot. He also won the discus. Miller, San Diego pole-vaulter, hung up a new record of 13 feet 3 inches in his event. Reboin, of Santa Ana, made record time in both hurdle events. Koenig, Huntington Beach sprinter, made new records in both the 100-yard dash and the furlong.

Perhaps the largest practice in which the Tigers participated was the one held in El Monte, April 6, between the schools of the Citrus Belt League and the San Gabriel Valley League. The C. B. L. team won the meet with a score of 92 2-3 to 44 1-3 for their rivals. Chaffey was individual school high scorer with 35 points.

INVITATIONAL TRACK MEET

For the first time since the Invitational Meet has been in existence it was won by Chaffey with a total of 35 points. Santa Ana, pre-meet favorite to win, was second with 30 points. Redlands was third with 21; South Pasadena fourth with 15; Pomona fifth with 7; Anaheim sixth with 6½; Orange was seventh with 6; San Bernardino and Webb tied for eighth with 5; Excelsior and Huntington Beach, 3 points, and Tustin 2 digits.

The meet was held on Graber field, March 23. The Invitational jinx came along two days before the meet, and it began to rain. Although it did not rain on the day of the meet, the weather was very cold. Next year the meet will be held one week later in hopes that the weather will be better.

Throughout the entire meet the Tigers and the Santa Ana Saints kept within a few points of each other. The last event of the meet was the relay. Before the race began the score stood, Chaffey 30, Santa Ana 29. The Saints were favored to win the relay, therefore this event would decide the meet. The Tigers and Saints battled on even terms for the first lap but a Santa Ana boy stumbled at the beginning of the second lap. The Tigers stepped out and won the event, thereby winning the meet.

The big cup donated by the Hickey Warehouse Company was awarded to Chaffey, as it is the meet trophy. The O.-U. Creamery cup for high point winner was won by Reboin, of Santa Ana. Redlands carried home the cup donated by Meyers Company of Los Angeles for the most point winners. Santa Ana gained possession of the Moore cup, emblem of supremacy in the novice division.

The Invitational Meet has grown from a very small affair, in 1926, to a large, well organized meet in 1929, due to co-operation of the community with

E. W. Fischer, manager of the meet. The merchants have especially helped to put the meet across by donating medals for the various events.

CITRUS BELT TRACK MEET

As a climax to an unusually successful track season, Pop's tracksters annexed the C. B. L. title at the meet held on the San Bernardino Junior College track. The final score showed Chaffey to be an unusually sensational champion, as she scored nearly twice as many points as her nearest rival and more than the second and third schools put together. The Citrus Belt schools finished in the following order: Chaffey, 61½; Redlands, 31; San Bernardino, 27; Pomona, 12½; Riverside, 11. San Bernardino proved to be the dark horse in the meet when she won 27 points and with it third place.

Captain "Nellie" Gray began Chaffey's scoring when he threw the shot 49 feet 6 inches to break the C. B. L. record established by Van Fleet of Chaffey in 1925. Noll and Eisenbrown placed second and third respectively in this event. Bill Graber won first place in the pole vault, only failing to break the record by inches. Donley placed second and Gillott tied for third. "Nellie" Gray won his second first place when he sailed the platter out 126 feet to win the discus throw. Magill and Bob Graber placed third and fourth in this event. Van Oseld of Redlands garnered first place in the high jump; Meek took second, and Brest fourth. In the broad jump no Chaffey jumpers placed, though Brest failed by mere inches. The event was won by Ferguson of Riverside. Dow of Redlands won the 100-yard dash. No Chaffey entry placed. In one of the biggest upsets of the day, Captain-elect "Phat" Weldon won the half mile. Chaffey chalked up ten points in the high hurdles when Bryden, Petch, and Magill finished in the order named. After leading the field most of the race, Stan Reeder relinquished the lead in the 440 to lose to Dubble of San Bernardino.

Dow of Redlands won the 220-yard dash; Reeder finished third. While leading the field in the low hurdles, Bryden and Petch tripped on the last hurdle, thereby losing eight points for Chaffey. Magill came in third. Maley, Redlands flash, won the mile with ease. Brown and Hawkins of Chaffey finished second and third. In the relay the dope bucket went flying when Chaffey's fast baton passers were nosed out of first place. San Bernardino, due to the efforts of "Spec" Anderson, diminutive sprinter, took the lead in the contest and retained it. Pomona crossed the line second, but were disqualified, thereby leaving second place to Chaffey.

PLAY-OFFS

After winning the league the Tigers entered the Southern California Track Meet with hopes of placing high in it. The meet was held on the 27th of April, one week after the Citrus Belt Meet. The following Chaffey boys placed in the events: Gray, Bryden, and Graber. Gray came within a short distance of breaking the world's record in the shot when he made a heave of 52 feet 10½ inches. Bryden took fifth in the high hurdles and Graber tied for third place in the pole vault. Although Gray was Chaffey's only representative in the State Meet held in the Coliseum on May 11, he made a fine record when he won the shot with a put of 53 feet 5½ inches.

CLASS "C" TRACK

As well as developing a championship class "A" track team "Pop" Kegley had a fine class "C" team this year. This team downed both Riverside and Pomona easily in pre-season meets. During these encounters "Pop" developed some fine weight men. These fellows netted many points for Chaffey throughout the season.

The Citrus Belt League class "C" meet was held on the San Bernardino Valley Junior College track, April 28th, at the same time as the class "A" and Southern California Junior College meets. The entire class "C" encounter was dominated with San Bernardino and Chaffey athletes. The Cardinals, however, finished $3\frac{1}{2}$ points ahead of the Tigers with the total score 35 to $31\frac{1}{2}$. The Redlands Terriers amassed 17 points to win third place. Riverside was fourth with nine while Pomona was last with half a point.

Chaffey accounted for ten of her counters in the eight-pound shot event when Graberg, Cross, and Monts finished in the order named. Dahl took a fourth place in the pole vault. The Tigers placed three men in the high jump; Bailey finished first, Terry and Brownless tied for fourth. Brownless took second in the broad jump. In the 660-yard run Dowding ran away from the entire field. Hodge won the 120-yard low hurdles. Before the relay had been run Chaffey led San Bernardino in points. The Cardinals, however, won this race, consequently winning the title.

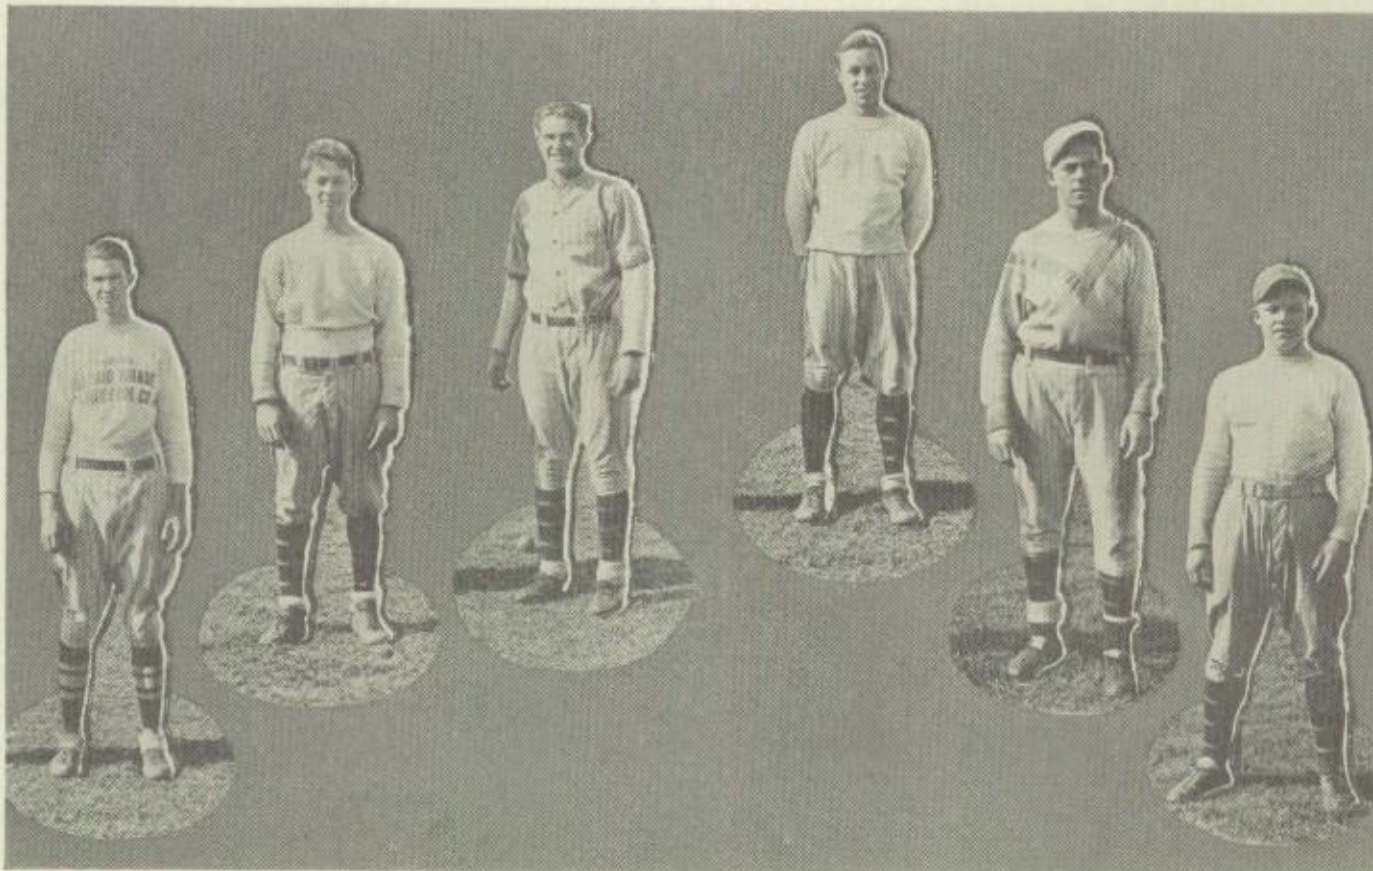

Due to such an interest in track "Pop" had a very large turnout for class "C" competition. The boys got right down to work in the fall and, in spite of inexperience, they learned a great deal about track. Some of "Pop's" best athletes were Dowding, Hodge, Graberg, Cross, Monts, Dahl, Bailey, Rose, Terry, Brownless, Broils, Winson, Skillman, Scott, Moody, Lietz, Miller, Swain, Cacio, White, Hobbs, Davidivich, Railey, Malpasuto.

Coach Kegley says the boys from this year's class "C" squad should be a valuable addition to next year's varsity team. "Pop" expects he will be able to develop Dowding into a fine distance or 440 man. Graberg should be a point winner in the shot by the year after next. Hodge has possibilities as a hurdler.

BASEBALL

This year's baseball team wound up the season in a tie for second place with four games played, two won, and two lost for a percentage of .500. Two years ago Fred Wilding was the Tiger coach in which capacity he turned out some good teams and several good players. This year under Howard "Muggs" Mitchell the Tiger took second honors, yielding to Riverside, the winner of the league, and to Redlands. Chaffey played two practice games with Citrus Union High School this year. The first game resulted in a victory for the Tiger, who took the tilt, 6-2. An accident marred the game when a Citrus player broke his leg, causing the game to be stopped, but it was very evident that the Tigers would have won easily had the game continued. Pete Fillius, the Chaffey port-sided pitcher, twirled a nice game, with little Eddie Hughes behind the plate. The second game with Citrus again saw the Tiger tuck the scalp of victory under his belt after taking the game, 7-1. The only change in the lineup of this game and the first one was that Terry pitched, Fillius occupied right field, and Kluckman held down the first sack. The El Monte team, with five of the lettermen of its Southern California championship team, had its hands full to keep the Tiger in check, and the best it could do was to keep the score down to an 8-to-8 tie. It was one of the hottest days the fellows ever had to play on and the perspiration literally rolled off the players in tiny rivulets. It was a "hot" game in every sense of the word. Terry, who took care of first base, and Phelps, who played out in the pansy garden, nicked the El Monte slabster for a pair of homers. Fillius pitched a pretty steady ball game. Holding an ex-championship team in check is no mean task. Baseball season as well as football, basketball, and tennis saw the Tigers playing the Pomona College Frosh. "Muggs" Mitchell's ball chasers emerged victorious with ten points garnered as their share of the tilt. The poor "Scrubs" had to be content with a mere two points. "Chad" Cornelius, our illustrious short-stop and captain of this year's nine, swatted the horsehide on the nose for a home-run ride into the bleachers. "Chad" not only puts the ball away at the plate, but he knows what to do with it when he gets it from his position on the field. The team as a result of good leadership, coaching, and playing brought home the bacon in all but one of the practice games. The lone defeat of the pre-season tilts came at the hands of the Chino High nine, which is reported to be mighty strong contender for the championship of the Tri-County League. The Chino "Farmers" beat the Tigers 4-3 but it was a close tilt from beginning to end. Both Pete Fillius and Arvil Terry pitched part of the game but they were not quite able to turn in a victory. Captain "Chad" Cornelius has certainly been a flashy player and a heady one at the position of shortstop. He made his first letter last year at the same position and was chosen to lead this year's team, which he has done faithfully and well. Arvil Terry came into the baseball limelight at Chaffey when he was a Freshman. In those days he was a substitute for Leonard Waters at first base. The next two years he was one of the main twinkles at the first sack. This year, his third and last, he has developed into a pretty steady pitcher, although he performs best as a first-sacker. Eddie Hughes, who is only a Sophomore this year, won his letter last year as well as this at the receiving end of the pitching duo. We expect great things from Eddie in the future as he stars on the basketball court as well as on the diamond.

A. Terry P. Fillius R. Cornelius G. Trautman R. Currie E. Hughes

RIVERSIDE

Chaffey's first Citrus Belt League defeat came at the hands of the strong Riverside sandlotters, who trounced the Tigers 8-1. "Muggs" Mitchell's nine looked pretty good in most of the innings, but in the fourth and ninth they let in four and three runs respectively. The Poly Bear pitcher, Zilkrath, held the Tigers down mighty close, allowing but two hits and fanning ten batters. Terry pitched nice ball but untimely hits and errors blew the game for Captain "Chad" Cornelius and his team-mates. Up to the fourth inning both teams played air-tight ball, but the Tigers blew up temporarily after two outs were chalked up against Riverside. With no outs, Garat, right fielder for the Bears, singled. The next batter hit to Cornelius, who made a neat double play by touching second and making the throw to first. Terry walked the next two to face him and allowed the third to single, filling the bases. On the next play a ball hit to shortstop was handled nicely but Captain "Chad" threw a little too wild for Kluckman to get it, letting in two runs. A single to right field and a slight fumble by Trautman at second base let two more runners cross the plate. The fourth-inning rally was then cut short by an infield fly caught by Cornelius. The fifth inning saw Riverside getting another run after Terry had walked two more men and allowed one to single to left field, where Gottwald fumbled long enough to let a runner scamper across the plate. Chaffey's lone score was chalked up by Currie. He singled and went to second on Trautman's sacrifice; Terry hit to right field and on the first baseman's fumble Currie came home. The ninth inning saw the bases loaded again and Zilkrath on the heavy end of the bat to score three more runs for Riverside. Strickland and Zilkrath were the possessors of the high batting average for the Poly Bears, having .666 and .600 respectively. Chaffey's only men to hit were Currie and Fillius, who had .200 and .250. While not such a good average, it was the best the Tigers could do against the pitching done by Zilkrath.

O. Gottwald J. Sheehan J. Kluckman M. Walline J. Richtar M. Phelps

POMONA

Chaffey triumphed over the Pomona Cards 8-4 on the Pomona diamond. This is the first time in several years that a Tiger baseball team has plucked the feathers from the Pomona Cardinals. In the second inning Eddie Hughes started the ball rolling when he smacked the horsehide for a three-base hit, but the Cards took a cinch in their belts and held the Tigers to no score. In the third inning Newt Trautman crossed the platter for the first run of the game for Chaffey. The fourth inning was the one that saw the Tigers get the baseball bug in bad shape and they chased across three runs. The rally started with a three-base hit by Phelps, followed by Allen, who walked. Gottwald singled, scoring Phelps. Sheehan and Trautman both got hits off of the Pomona slabster, Holsinger, and scored Allen and Gottwald. Both teams failed to score in either the fifth or sixth innings but tight playing on the part of the Tigers was all that kept the Cards from scoring when they twice threatened to put across a score or two. In the seventh Pete Fillius, fielder and relief pitcher, poled out a homer but there being no one on the bases at the time he accounted for only one run. Allen, Cornelius, and Sheehan scored in the eighth to put the game on the ice for Chaffey; their runs completing the Tigers' scoring for the afternoon. In the last half of the eighth the Cards rapped out the horsehide for two runs and again in the ninth they put two more scores across. Gottwald, the Tiger first sack expert, had the highest batting average of the game for the Chaffey nine. He got two hits out of four trips to the plate for an average of .500. Eddie Hughes, catcher, had the second high score, getting one hit out of three attempts for a total of .333.

SAN BERNARDINO

The first Citrus Belt League game for the Tigers resulted in the defeat of the Gate City nine 7-2. No scoring was done in the first inning, but in the second the Tigers cut loose for two runs. Fillius singled and on a passed ball he safely reached second base. Pete was not destined to remain on the key-stone sack for long; Gottwald hit to center field to score him. Another single put Otto on third base. On a wild throw to second Gottwald raised the total to two for Chaffey. San Bernardino's only rally came in the fifth inning when Spec Anderson and Del George scored. Until the eighth frame there was no particularly exciting moments but in the eighth inning the Tigers started the fireworks. Terry, Chaffey's mound artist, started things going by getting a single over the second sack. Cornelius followed with a hard-hit safety, sending Terry to second. Pete Fillius clouted out a home run, accounting for three tallies. Newt Trautman singled and was pushed home by Eddie Hughes, who smacked out a circuit hit. Two return trips around the lot is not so bad in anybody's ball game, especially if someone else is on base waiting to show the way to home. That was the second home run to go over Anderson's head in on inning. The score at the end of the fifth was, Chaffey, 7; San Bernardino, 2. This five-run lead was kept through the next inning and the Gate City ine was held scoreless by Terry and his backers. Pete Fillius was the star performer for the Tigers, getting two runs and three hits out of four trips to the plate. His average for wielding the big stick was .750. He was closely followed by Hughes, who had an average of .500.

REDLANDS

Again, for the second and last time, the Tigers lost a baseball game this C. B. L. season. On the home diamond the Chaffey nine, coached by "Muggs" Mitchell and captained by "Chad" Cornelius, lost to the Redlands Bulldogs, 4-2 in the last game of the season. The Tigers seemed to be too nervous in the pinches to check the onslaught of runs by the Redlands team. Terry pitched a nice game of ball but he seemed a trifle wild at times and hit three of the Bulldogs, one of them in the back. He didn't get quite enough support from the infield or he might have been able to pull out of the slump. In spite of the wildness he struck out thirteen men and allowed but five hits. Bauer, the Redlands chucker, whiffed seventeen batters who faced him and, like Terry, gave five hits. Eddie Hughes, the diminutive catcher for the Tigers, was the only man to get two hits off of Bauer. Out of three trips to the plate he got two hits for an average of .666. At crucial moments the infield threw away chances to make outs. Terry let in the last Redlands score by a wild throw to third in the seventh inning. Newt Trautman experienced considerable difficulty in holding his bat. On two different occasions he swung at the elusive sphere and flung the second growth ash out onto the field. The record for the afternoon being about seven-eighths of the distance to the shortstop.

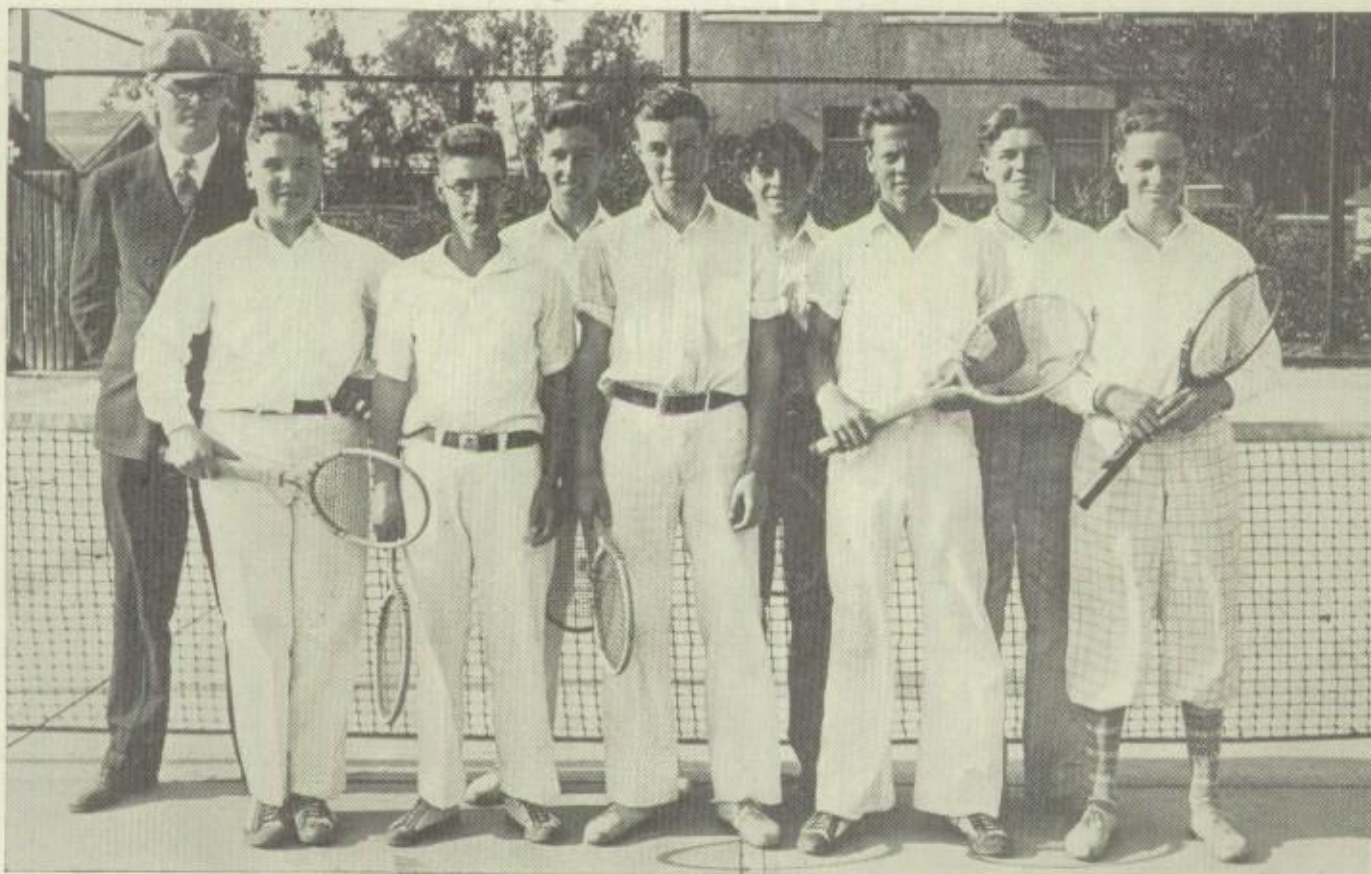

BOYS' TENNIS

The Tiger squad of racket wielders began to practice early last fall. Coach Alter had a fine turnout for the team and the boys worked hard, once they were out. Practice was facilitated by some new nets being purchased by the school.

Some very fine athletes reported for tennis this year. Captain Harlow, who made letters in his Sophomore and Junior years, became the ranking player soon after practice started. Clifford "Clippie" Little, after much hard practice, finally replaced Hal as ranking player. Francis Hawk was the third best man on the team. He will return next year to strengthen the squad. William Stafffield was a consistent winner for the Tigers. He was the only man to win three out of four of his league matches. Edward Wells played a fine doubles game this year. Allan Delahoyde, his partner, played good tennis all season, and being only a Freshman, he has three more years of competition ahead of him. Bevington Blakeslee played good tennis. He should star next year. Bill Graber proved to be a fine natural tennis player but, being busy with track, he did not get enough practice in tennis competition. Kenward Babcock did some good playing in league competition. Stanford Shaw made a strong bid for the team. He should be in the lineup next year.

Four of this year's squad received tennis letters. These boys are Captain Hal Harlow, Clifford Little, Francis Hawk, and William Stafffield. The balance of the team failed to win the prescribed number of matches, thereby losing their letters. Coach Harry Alter should be commended for his faithful work with the tennis team. He turned out a fine, fighting squad.

In their practice meets the Tigers nosed out Citrus Junior College by one point; beat Pomona College Frosh by winning all but one match; were badly beaten by Webb School, and mauled George Junior Republic, winning all the matches played.

GIRLS' TENNIS

Captained by Eleanor Frost the Chaffey girls had a fine season. An unusually large group of girls reported for tennis last fall. Interest was stimulated by numerous inter-class matches. After many elimination contests the girls' team was picked. The team was greatly aided in their practice this year by having a new coach, Mrs. Hezmalhalch. Coach Hezmalhalch is a graduate of Pomona College. She coached the girls' tennis team of this college in her Senior year, and has since then been a physical education instructor there.

Eleanor Frost proved to be a fine captain. She won three out of her four matches. Eleanor will be greatly missed next year when league competition comes along. Elizabeth Bond also won three league matches. This is her fourth year on the varsity lineup. Harriett Shattuck, second singles player, showed good form during this league season. As she is a Junior, she will be available for next year's team. Leila Frost played first doubles this year. As she is a Sophomore she will probably follow in her sister's footsteps by captaining the tennis team two years from now. In addition to Leila there were the following four Sophomores on the squad: Ruth Moore, Katherine Kratky, Eva Topliff, and Betty Webber. With five of the eight members of this year's team Sophomores and one a Junior, Chaffey's future on the courts is assured.

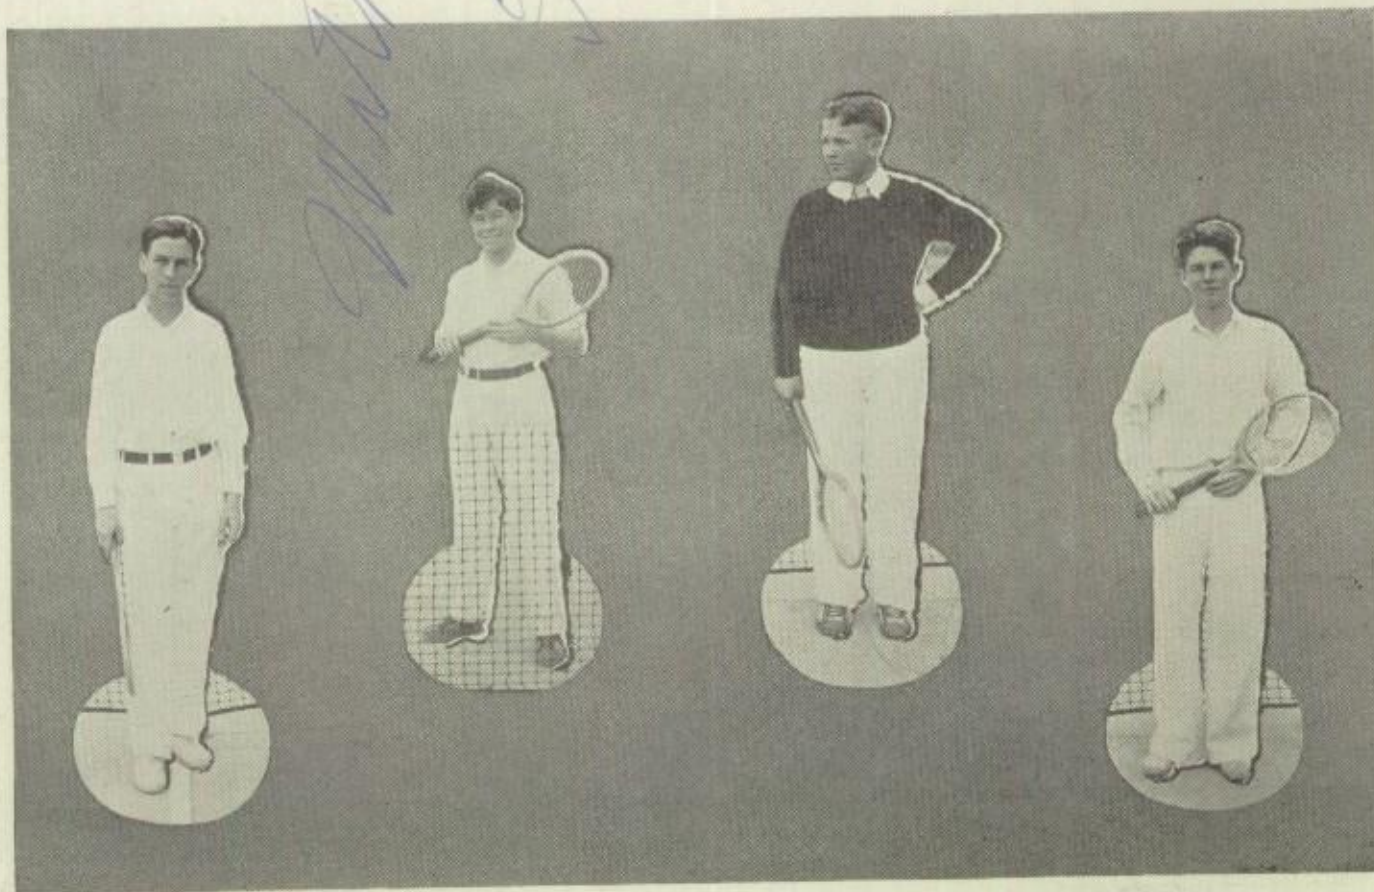

GIRLS' LEAGUE TENNIS

SAN BERNARDINO

The first C. B. L. match played by the girls was with San Bernardino on her own courts. The final score was Chaffey, 10; San Bernardino, 9. The match was hard fought, as the score indicates. Leila Frost, second singles; Betty Webber, third singles; Eleanor Frost and Elizabeth Bond, first doubles, were the winning Tigers.

girls were downed, except one. Eva Topliff, playing fourth singles, won from her opponent in a hard three-set match. The final score was 18-1 in favor of Riverside.

POMONA

The girls were victorious in their third league match. Pomona fell before the Tigers by a 16-to-3 count. The match was held on the Pomona courts, May 18th. Betty Webber of Chaffey defaulted, thereby giving Pomona one point. The Cardinals won two points in third singles. Eleanor Frost, Harriet Shattuck, Elizabeth Bond, and Leila Frost were winners for Chaffey.

REDLANDS

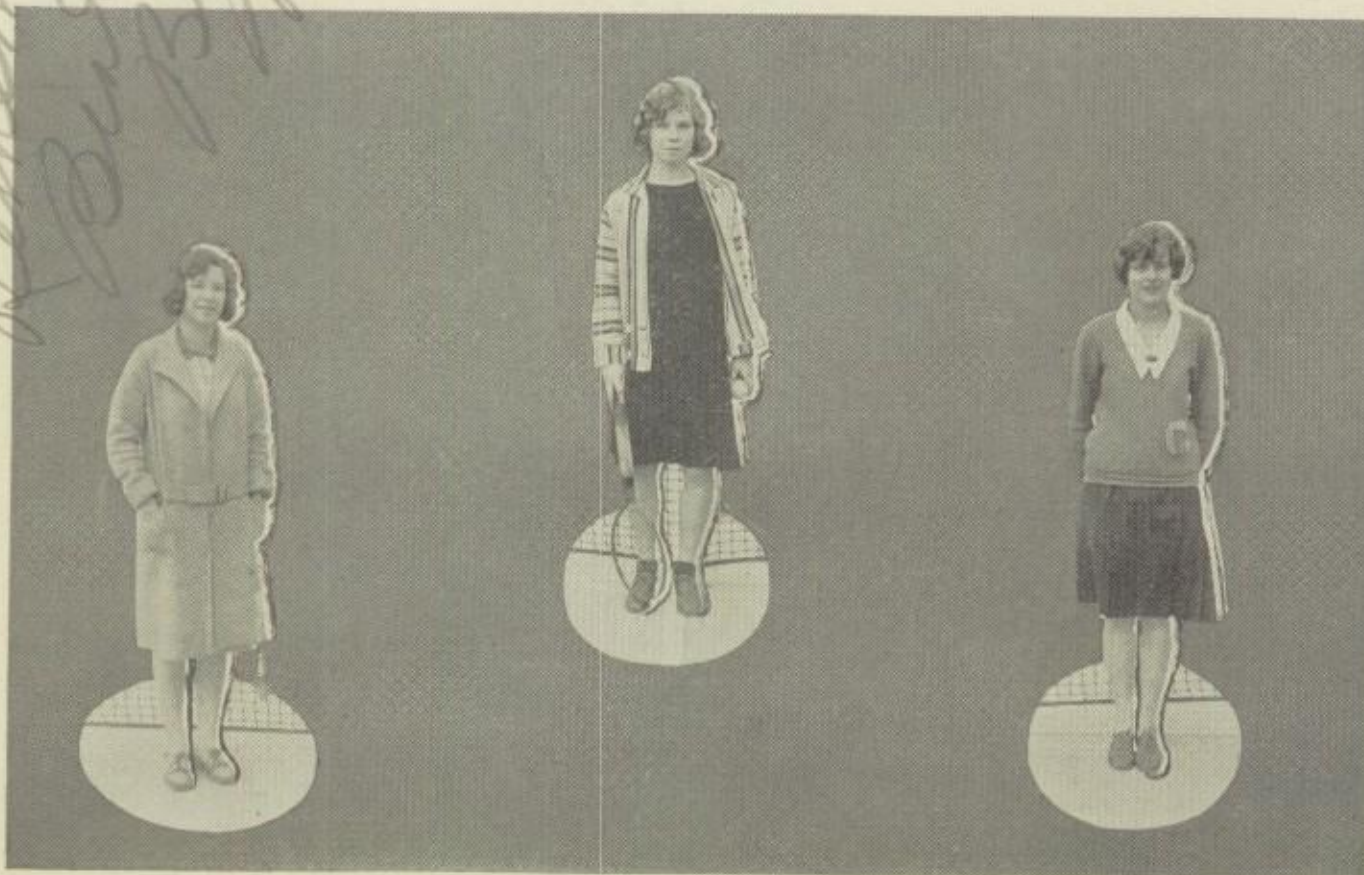

Chaffey won another easy victory when she downed Redlands 16 to 3, May 16th, on the local courts. The hardest fought match of the day was between Vingery of Redlands and Eva Topliff. This contest was the only one to go three sets. Eleanor Frost, Harriet Shattuck, Elizabeth Bond, Leila Frost, Katherine Kratky, and Ruth Moore accounted for Chaffey's points.

PLAY-OFFS

At the conclusion of the Citrus Belt League duel matches, tryouts were held to determine who would represent the league in the Southern California tournament. The Chaffey girls' tennis team was kept in the running for Southland fame when Elizabeth Bond and Eleanor Frost won second place. The boys' doubles team of Harlow and Hawks took second in their division. Both Chaffey teams were defeated in the opening round of the Southern California play-off, although the girls' team forced the tournament winners to a three-set match.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

One of the largest and most active of the clubs on the Chaffey campus is the Girls' Athletic Association. Considered the largest undertaking of the year is the annual play-day sponsored for all the schools of this vicinity who wish to participate. As the purpose of this play-day is to foster a friendship between girls of other schools, scholastic competition does not enter in. Teams composed of girls from other schools play against teams likewise made up. Tennis, volleyball, basketball, indoor baseball, posture contest, archery exhibition, and a swimming meet entertain the delegates in the morning. At noon a luncheon is served in the cafeteria. The program presented after luncheon is composed of donations from the different schools.

Interclass games are arranged by the heads of the various sports. Included in these are swimming, Tennis, basketball, volleyball, indoor baseball, hockey, and archery.

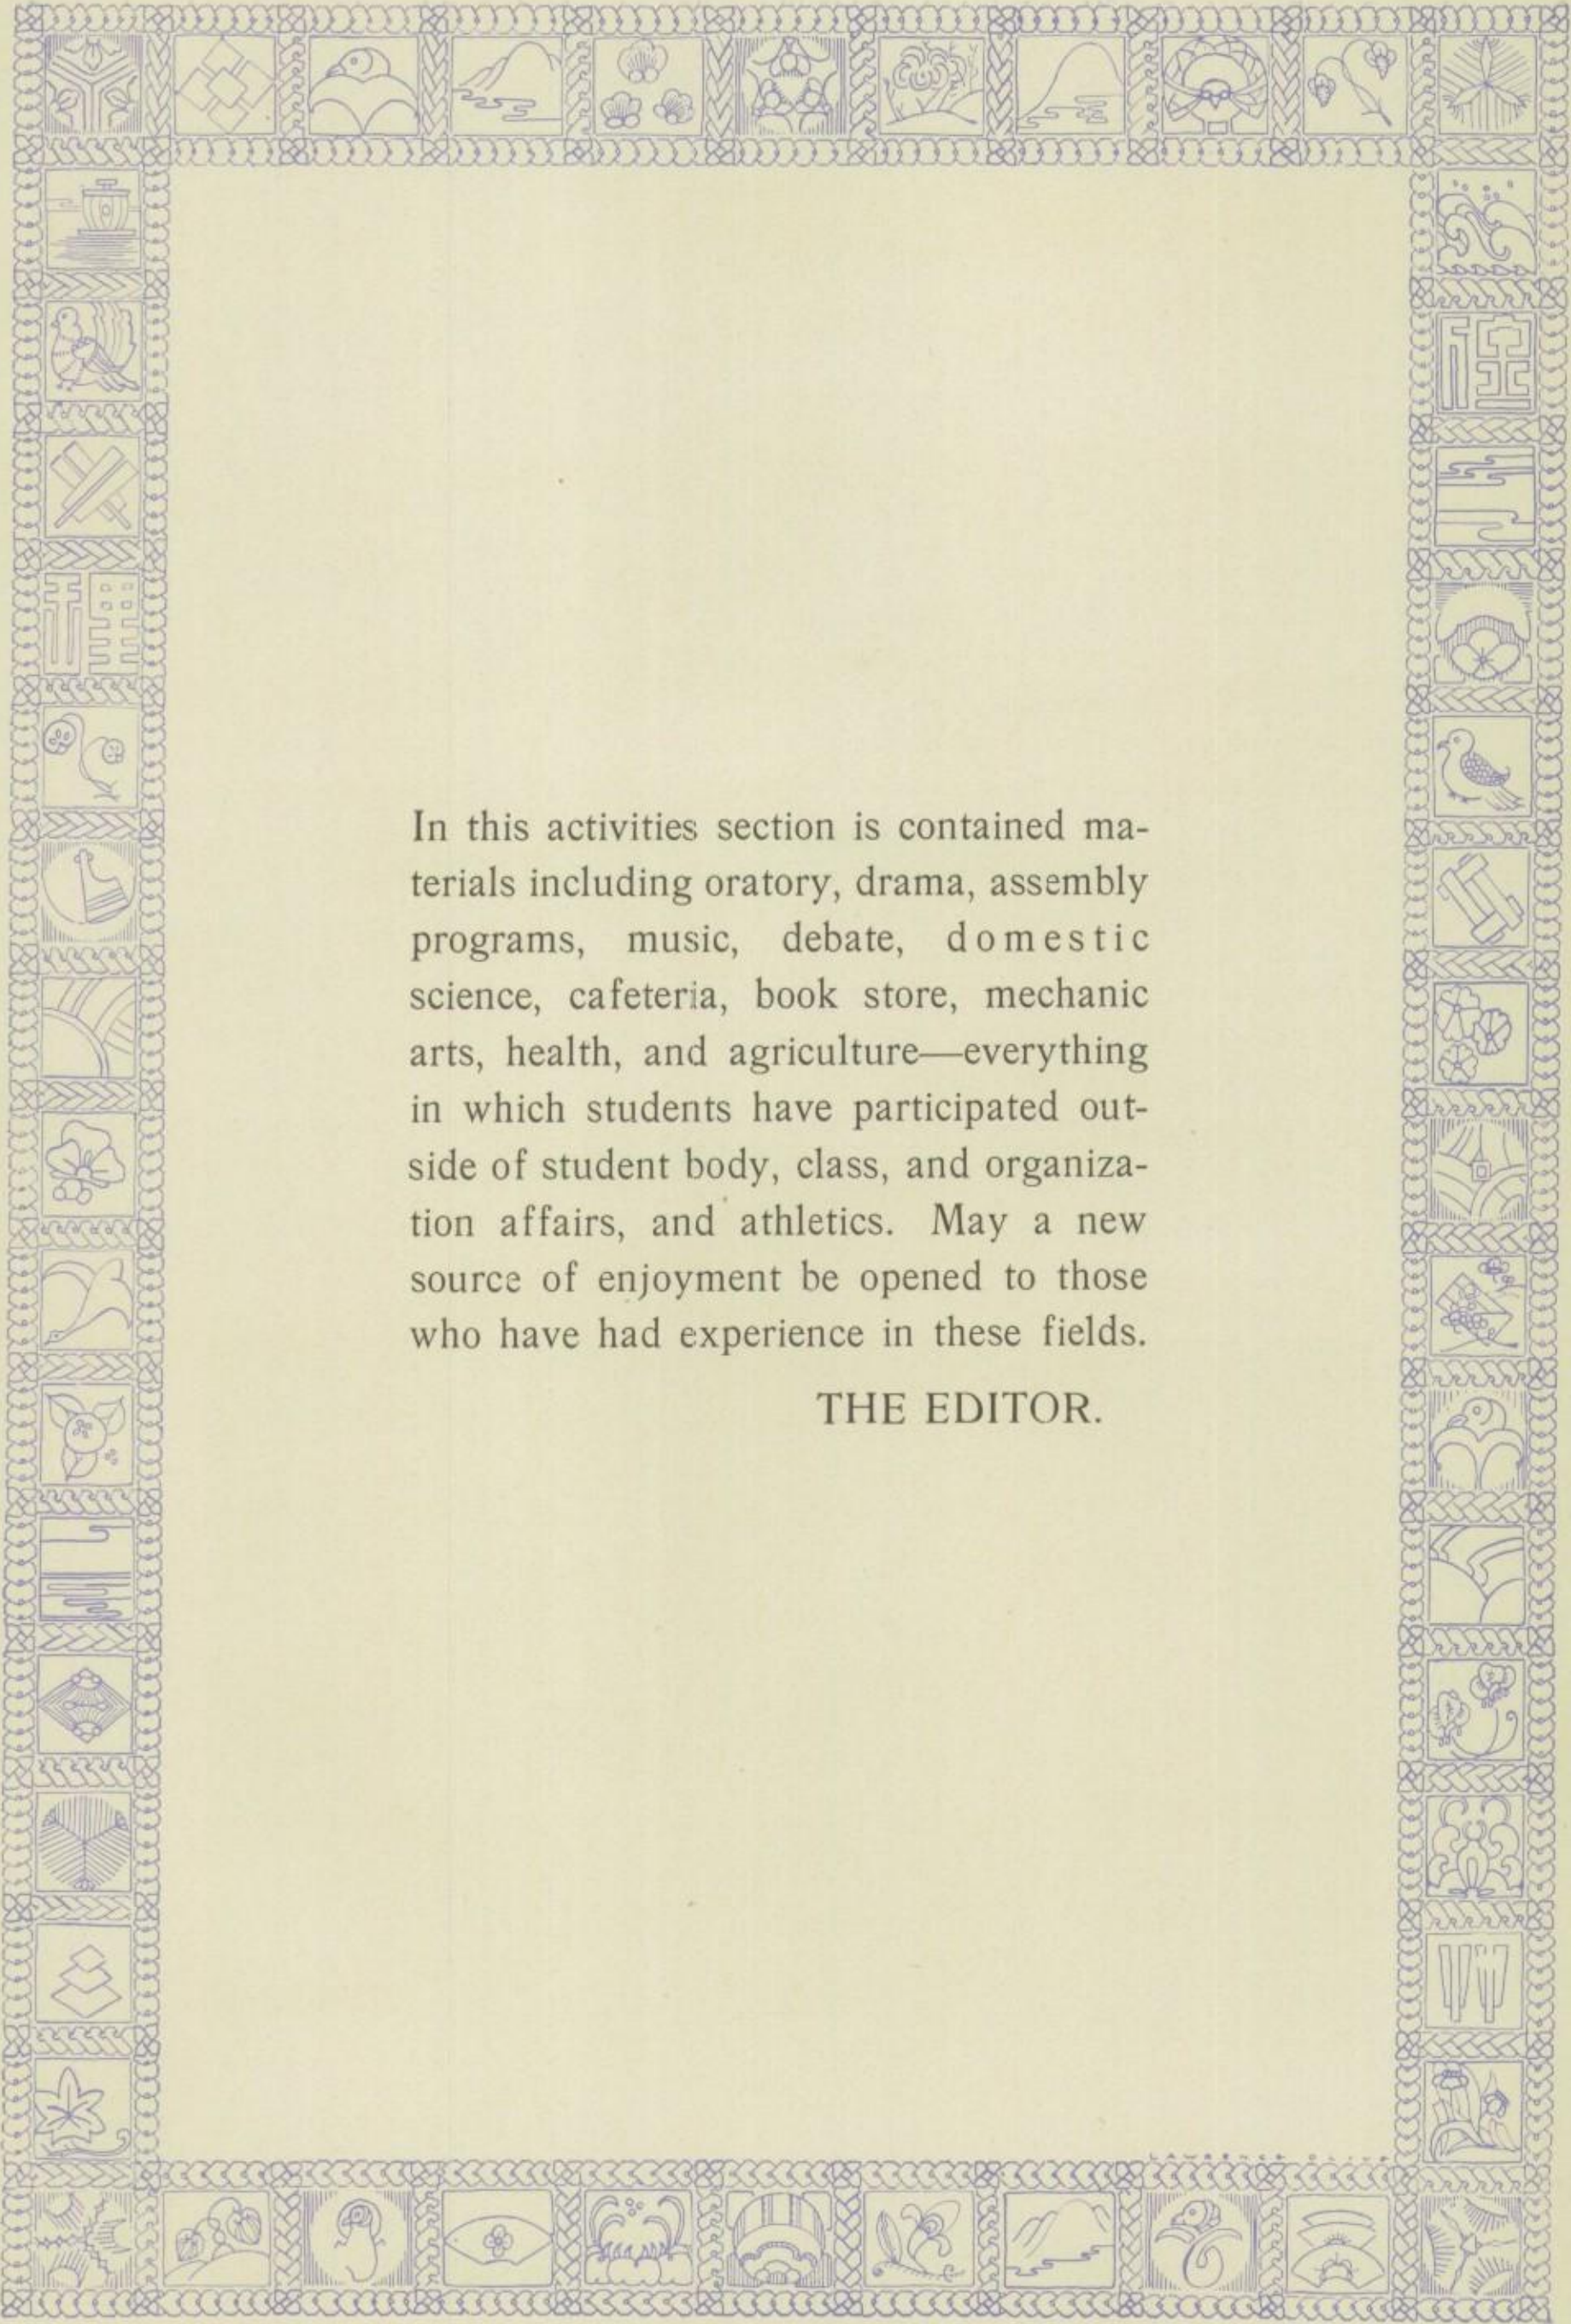

A banquet for all the members is held during the year as well as other social activities. A member of this club is necessarily athletically inclined as a requirement for membership is two hundred points toward the letter.

May a new source of enjoyment be opened to those who have had experience in these fields.

SENIOR PLAY

"THE INTIMATE STRANGERS"

By

BOOTH TARKINGTON

Both Tarkington's "Intimate Strangers," was presented by the Senior class this year, before a full house, on March 22.

The first act opens with Ames (Rollin Lemon) and the station master (Wayne Harn) discussing whether the train will ever arrive to carry two stranded travelers (Ames and Isabel, Betty Hill) to their destinations. Soon a telegraph instrument is heard and the station master leaves to get the news. When gone, Ames opens the door and calls Isabel, who, after disagreeing with Ames, had been sitting two hours on a baggage truck. Finally she enters. After looking about a little, she notices the unopened lunch box which she had given Ames. Then she begins to scold him for not eating. After several minutes of arguing, they decide to divide the lunch and promptly do so. At this point, the station master enters and says he is leaving. Ames says he can't, but he is firm and leaves. Ames then decides to go outside but Isabel protests, so they decide to sleep, one on each side of a very high-backed station bench. The night passes; morning comes and Ames arises, looks outside, sees a young couple coming. They are Isabel's niece, Florence (Marilee Davis) and Johnnie White (Alfred Hughes). They take Isabel and Ames to Isabel's country home.

The second act occurs in Isabel's home. The main idea is that Isabel keeps Ames guessing as to her age. She tells him she is educating two nieces. One, elderly, is called Aunt Ellen (Virginia Wallihan), and the other is Florence. Johnnie is in love with Florence; Florence is enamored with Ames; and Ames is in love with Isabel. This act introduces two new characters, the butler (Clinton Bryant) and the maid (Helen Kamansky), who add humor to the play.

The third act straightens affairs. Florence has Johnnie; Ames gets Isabel, despite the fact that he does not know her age, but decides that age makes no difference.

Those who assisted were Jimmie Simons, business manager; Gordon Cumming, advertising manager; Howard Hawkins, ticket manager; William Staffield, properties; Thelma Miles, head usher; assistants, Elroy Mitchell, Elizabeth Bond, Pauline Collins, Dorothea Hood, Dorothy Eels, Ruth Galentine, Margaret Kratky; candy, Doris Stanford, Faye Youngblood; stage scenery, Hilda Metzloff; stage settings, Klimes Furniture Company, Ford Bros. Music Company, Southern Pacific Railway.

Mrs. Ruth Kegley, coach, was presented with a basket of flowers by Willie Bodner, showing the appreciation of the Seniors. Much credit for success goes to the orchestra, who rendered several beautiful selections during the evening.

Helen Kamansky, Rollin Lemon, Betty Hill, Virginia Wallihan, Clinton Bryant, Wayne Harn, Marilee Davis, Alfred Hughes.

JUNIOR PLAY

This year the class of 1930 presented "The Lucky Break," by Zelda Sears. This play had been given twice previously by Chino and Pomona Junior classes. The cast was an excellent one. La Vancha Naftel took the part of Martha Mullet, the proprietor of Hotel Mullet. Elizabeth Barr acted the part of Mrs. Mullet's daughter, Nora. Mary Norton took the part of Elmine Ludine Smith, an amusing servant at the hotel. John Klusman characterized the part of a super salesman, Benny Ketcham. Abner Ketcham, Benny's uncle, was taken by Bob McClough. Dorothy Miller played the part of Mrs. Barrett, a guest at the hotel. Claudia, her daughter, was played by Bernice Gillilan. Landon Goodrich took the part of an artist, Tommy Lansing. Brooks Kitchel acted as a wealthy business man, John Bruce. Hubert Weldon was the general manager of John Bruce, called Charles Martin. Bella MacWatt was another guest at the hotel, played by Frances Dundas.

There are two plots. One is the love story of Tommy and Claudia, and John and Nora. John thinks Nora is in love with Tommy Lansing. The fact is that the situation is very different. Claudia and Tommy are deeply in love, but Claudia's mother disapproves of Tommy, desiring that her daughter marry a rich man, so she won't let them see each other. In order to disillusion her, Claudia asks Nora to play up to Tommy and the scheme works to a certain extent. Claudia's mother finds Nora and Tommy together but John also finds them together and is very sad but doesn't say anything because he feels he has no right to ask a young girl to marry him. One evening during a dance Tommy and Nora decide to elope. After they have left Tommy sends back a note saying that he has run away with the most wonderful girl in the world. John, of course, thinks it is Nora, and as Tommy asks him to break the news to her mother he goes to Nora's mother and tells her. Mrs. Mullet feels terrible and weeps bitter tears. Claudia's mother tries to comfort her and tells her she is glad it isn't her daughter and just then Nora walks in. Everyone is very surprised but Nora explains the whole situation. Then John asks her to marry him if she doesn't mind that he is poor. She accepts, saying that she doesn't like rich men anyhow.

The second plot centers about the business affairs of John Bruce. John has come down to his hotel to buy a certain plot of land from Abner Ketcham. Abner refuses to sell it for he wants to use the land for a cemetery, the lots of which Benny is selling. The people of the hotel are astounded when news comes that the Copper Amalgamated has gone bankrupt for they believe that John has all his money in that company, but he really only has five shares. When he finds out that they think that he decides to let them think so to see if they like him or his money. He proves to himself that it is not just his money they like, which fact makes him very happy. He wants to do something for each of his friends, so he sells Tommy's paintings and sends to New York for names of people to whom Benny might sell lots. Benny sells his hundred lots and is very proud, not knowing, of course, that John has bought them all in order to obtain the land. He gets the land and he and his manager are very much pleased. Elmine is the humorous character, causing many laughs throughout the play.

PODRASNIK CONTEST

"Peace and International Relationship" was the much-discussed topic in the annual Podrasnik contest, held on November 8th. Everyone unanimously agreed that the speeches surpassed those of previous years. This contest was sponsored by Mr. Alois Podrasnik, commander of the Upland G. A. R., who for many years has aroused the interest of the high school in world affairs. The presence of the G. A. R. and the W. R. C. gave the last touch to the patriotic program. For several years these organizations have been the guests of Chaffey on the day of the Podrasnik speeches.

Three persons who withstood the eliminations spoke before the student body. Robert McArthur, who won first place, spoke on "The Dawn of Peace." Second place was awarded to Margaret Pyle, whose subject was "Peace and a Peace Pact." William Clay's topic, "World Peace and Aviation," took third place. Fourth and fifth places were taken by Max Glass and Jack Sterling respectively, who did not, however, speak before the student body. Max's speech was on "Education as a Promoter of World Peace." Jack's subject was "Peace by Arbitration."

The prizes for the Podrasnik contest were extremely high. Mr. Podrasnik was very generous as he gave twenty-five dollars for first place, fifteen dollars for second, ten dollars for third, and five dollars for fourth and fifth places.

ANNUAL AUSTRALIAN CONTEST

On Thursday, February 7th, the annual Australian contest was held. Bob McArthur, student body president, was the winner. Howard Warren received the second prize and William Clay was chosen third. The contest was conducted by Miss Avery, head of the public speaking department, who presided at the assembly. Miss Avery gave a brief talk on the origin of the contest. She told how Mr. Chaffey, after becoming so successful in Australia—desiring that the young people of America should know what a golden land of opportunity the British Dominions were, and what opportunity existed in the undeveloped continent of Australia—had established the contest.

The first speaker to address the student body was William Clay, who discussed Labor Problems in America and in Australia. He pointed out very clearly the advantages enjoyed by Australians because of their systematic control of the labor situation. The second address was given by Howard Warren. Howard spoke on the topic, "Australia, a Land of Opportunity." He briefly reviewed the history of Australia, pointing out the rapid advance the country has made. The final and winning speech was presented by Bob McArthur who pointed out that the development of the United States and Australia has run along the same lines. Bob showed how nearly alike the two governments are, how similar the people appear to be, and how alike the history of the two countries has been. Bob said, also, that two such countries should be of great value to each other as long as friendship existed between them.

The judges were Mr. Fischer, Mr. Hall, and Mr. Weldon.

ANNUAL C. B. L. DECLAMATION CONTEST

Competing for Chaffey in the annual Citrus Belt League declamation contest, Miss Edna Mae Dacus won third honors in that contest, held at Riverside High School Auditorium, April 18. The subject of her talk was "To Naturalized Citizens," by the late Woodrow Wilson. First honors went to Richard Tilden of Riverside. His talk was on "Affairs in Cuba." Second place was won by Doris Burns of Redlands with a presentation of "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death," by Patrick Henry.

NATIONAL ORATORICAL CONTEST

Robert McArthur won first place in the district finals of the Times National Oratorical contest, which were held at Redlands High School, April 12, when he delivered his speech, "The Vitality of the Constitution." He indicated four vital points of the constitution. In conclusion he declared that the most important and most wonderful vital point of the constitution was the amendatory power. He received twenty-five dollars as first prize.

Second prize of fifteen dollars went to Leslie Foley of Redlands High School, who gave as his address, "The Significance of the Constitution;" and third prize, ten dollars, was awarded Ameldra Lee of San Bernardino High School, who spoke on "Our Constitution." Margaret Pyle also entered from Chaffey, but failed to place. Her oration was "Our Constitution—the Symbol of American Thought." Other speakers in the contest were Miss Agnes Charvet of San Bernardino High School, who spoke on "Washington and the Co-Personalities of the Constitution," and Miss Susan Gentry of Redlands High School, whose subject was "Personalities of the Constitutional Convention."

The judges were Mrs. Mary Davis of Colton, Mr. A. M. North of Riverside, Mr. Harry Warren of Pomona, Mr. Glen Wight of Corona, and Mr. P. M. Bennett of Beaumont. Mr. McIntyre, principal of Redlands High, presided.

SOPHOMORE ORATORICAL CONTEST

Friday, March 22, was one of the most outstanding days for the Sophomore class. Every year, as is the custom of Chaffey, the Sophomore class holds an annual oratorical contest. Any Sophomore who is interested in public speaking is privileged to enter, as the contest is held to promote student interest in public speaking. This year each speaker chose as his topic the story of a man or woman who had contributed or helped humanity in any way. Miss Withey, Mr. Smalley, and Dr. Cushman acted as judges for the contest. Each speaker was judged in consideration of his subject matter, composition, and the way he delivered his speech. When all of the thirteen speakers had finished, Mr. Snyder presented the first prize, a Fasti coupon, to Ward Haldane. Ruth Moore received the second prize, which was a box of Chaffey stationery. The third prize, an Eversharp pencil, was presented to Jerrine Magill. The rest of the students who participated each received an Eversharp pencil. Mr. Snyder, class adviser, presided over the meeting.

RICHARDSON CONTEST

Last year Ruth Larick won first place in the annual Richardson contest. This is sponsored each year by Mr. Richardson to promote interest among the students and the townspeople. Arthur Daniels took second and Grace West placed third.

CANADIAN CONTEST

The Canadian Friendship contest is an annual affair, the prizes being given by Mr. Andrew Chaffey, one of the founders of Chaffey. He gave a bond to the school, the interest of which forms the prizes each year. Last year Harold Lutz carried away first prize; Donald Minton, second, and Donald Webber, third.

The Redlands University annual declamation contest was held May 11 on the college campus. Edna Mae Dacus represented Chaffey in the contest but failed to place in the finals. Glendale won first place; South Pasadena, second; El Centro, third. A silver loving cup was awarded to the prize winning speaker. To the second-place winner a silver medal was awarded, and to the third place winner a bronze medal.

SPEAKERS

Perhaps never before has such a group of famous men and women appeared on the Chaffey platform in student assemblies. Everyone who spoke was enjoyed, and some, by their thrilling topics and famous experiences, held the students spellbound. Often the students were so pleased they were loathe to let them end their talks.

One of the most interesting speakers was Dr. Bush, Dean of the Long Beach Junior College. His talk, "The Loafer in College," was developed by first reading a definition of the college loafer, and stating that it is hard for the loafer to study as his time is consumed by many dates and parties. He always means to study the next day, next week, next year. He closed by saying that college was no place for the loafer.

John Brown, founder of John Brown College, Arkansas, gave some excellent advice to the students. One statement which everyone remembered was, "Where biscuits are, love is." A student must train for a life work, not necessarily a "white-collar" job.

One of the most thrilling lectures enjoyed this year was the one given by famous Lowell Thomas. Mr. Thomas told of his personal experiences with the well-known Colonel Thomas Lawrence of Arabia. Mr. Thomas is especially noted for his newspaper work, books, lectures, and prominence during the World War.

Dr. F. J. White spoke on "Relations of Western Nations With China." He is an excellent authority on the subject, having been in China nearly thirty years, being President of Shanghai Baptist College for seventeen years. His talk revealed some startling facts.

Ruth Bryan Owen, Congresswoman from Florida, charmed the students by her friendly, unassuming manner and simple, fascinating speech. As a daughter of William Jennings Bryan she has inherited a great deal of her ability from the "silver-tongued orator."

"Peace" was the title of the speech delivered by Dr. Bert Foster when he spoke here. He stated that there are many possibilities of peace. Girls can do much to maintain peace by inspiring and helping the men. When a universal peace is attained, the nations will come closer together, and there will be a more friendly feeling between, thus giving peace and prosperity to the World.

A personal friend of Abraham Lincoln, Mr. Francis D. Blakeslee, told the students of his personal recollections of Abraham Lincoln. Mr. Blakeslee kept a diary during the Civil War, which contained many interesting facts which are not generally known.

Colonel Smith, of the Better American Federation, gave an account of his work in Los Angeles. He was the guest of the American Legion, and Chaffey was fortunate in hearing him.

Mr. John Cooper, recently elected Commissioner of Education for the United States, spoke on "Education." It was a great honor to hear such a famous man.

The President of Whittier College, Walter Dexter, presented a questionnaire: Where did we come from? Where are we going? What are we going to do under the circumstances? He stated that when an issue is made it should be first thought through, thus changing the virtue of prudence to one of adventure. If a new venture is well considered before attempted, accidents are less likely to occur, or friction between individuals in thoughts or actions will not be encountered.

Geoffrey Morgan has appeared before the Chaffey Student Body twice this year. The first lecture was on "The Foursquare Man." He gave the characteristics for each side: sound, moral character; spirit of service and self-sacrifice; right habits and right ideals; vision and high ideals. His second subject was "Getting Ahead." In this talk he pointed out the six essentials necessary to get ahead: Ambition, character, education, a job, mastery of the job, and the good will of every one were the necessities as he numerated them.

INAUGURATION OF PRESIDENT HOOVER

On Monday, March 4, all students heard the inauguration exercises held at Washington, D. C. Instant silence prevailed over the campus as the radios were switched on and the students heard the voice of Vice-President Charles Curtis utter in solemn tones the words that would make thirty-two men law-makers of the country. At one o'clock William Howard Taft, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, read the oath to the new president, who replied, "I do." Immediately after Mr. Hoover gave his inauguration address. He stressed the necessity of the great mass of people obeying all laws, particularly the eighteenth amendment. That a thorough reorganization of the judicial system of law enforcement is needed and that a special session of Congress would be called to carry his plans into effect was announced. In foreign affairs the Coolidge policy will be carried out with a further attempt on the part of the new administration to enter the World Court. Farm relief and tariff revision are to be left until the special session of Congress, it was also stated.

THE AUDITORIUM ON MARCH 4, 1929

MUSIC

Chaffey is noted for its music. There are many phases developed—piano, violin, organ, and vocal are taught. There is instruction in band, glee club, and orchestra. Teachers of great ability spread the fame of Chaffey and help the students studying under them to progress rapidly.

The Chaffey Glee Clubs are very popular, and much in demand. Last year they entered the Eisteddfod contest, winning first place in both divisions. During this year they have sung many places. The Girls' Glee Club has sung at the Ontario and Upland Women's Clubs, at Fontana, and Chino. During Christmas vacation the Girls' Chorus sang several Christmas Carols at the institute sessions which were held here. Their uniforms consist of white polo shirts with the Glee Club emblems on the left sides. White skirts are worn with these. The pins consist of miniature staff marks with class numerals as guards. The Boys' Club have entertained in assembly several times, and also have sung at Fontana and Chino. Black and white sweaters and dark trousers are worn for formal occasions.

At Fontana a series of concerts were presented under supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Blakeslee. At the opening concert they sang several numbers from "The Legend of Wiwaste," as well as other numbers. Featured at a number of the concerts were Jean Bell, William Seguin, Louise Beattie, and the Chaffey Glee Clubs. A Mexican Glee Club appeared several times.

Another phase of the music life at Chaffey is the orchestra. The Little Symphony Orchestra has appeared several times during the year. Mr. Fred Wilding is director and the orchestra is composed of several Philharmonic orchestra men, Chaffey students, and townspeople. Some of the soloists were Mrs. Archie J. Neilson, Mrs. Cordelia Story Hutchinson, vocalists; Dorothy Rollins, Norman Hedges, and Margaret Johnston, violinists. Chaffey students who play are Elinor Corn, Norman Hedges and Opal Presba.

The Chaffey orchestras have entertained in several assemblies. The orchestras have played before nearly all the service clubs of both Ontario and Upland. They have also played at the class plays. One of the most interesting numbers played in assembly was "Home Sweet Home the World Over." Germany, Spain, Italy, Russia, Ireland, America, and China were represented. A remarkable trio, composed of Norman Hedges, violin; Elinor Corn, piano, and Elbert Wing, cornet, played several times. A harp with a note as guard are the orchestra pins.

Chaffey has a band also. This band has played before the service clubs, the American Legion, several parades, in San Bernardino, and at the unveiling of the Madonna. At all football games, at most of the basketball games, at the track meet, and at baseball games, the band has been present to help the teams. They wear black sweaters with an orange lyre on the front and dark trousers.

A rather new organization is the Violin Choir, famous throughout the Chaffey district. They have entertained the Ontario and Upland Women's Clubs; have played at Chino, Fontana, and Upland Junior High; have played numerous times in assemblies, and at commencement. About fifteen violins compose this choir, with Mrs. Huebner as leader. The violin pins are a violin with the class numeral as guard. Virginia Helvie, Norman Hedges, Ruth Hubbel, Lois Ericcson, and Mrs. Huebner had the honor to journey to Los Angeles, where they heard Fritz Kreisler, world-famous violinist, at the Philharmonic Auditorium.

CHIEF YOWLACHE

Chaffey has been honored in the last few years in having Chief Yowlache visit several times. The first time he appeared was in the leading role of the opera, "Wiwaste," which was written by S. Earle Blakeslee of the Chaffey music department. Again he appeared as the main feature of an assembly program, singing various types of songs and telling some Indian legends. Some of the best known of these were "Why the Owl's Beak is Short" and "Why the Owl Flies at Night." An unusually beautiful and intricate headdress was worn by Chief Yowlache with his Indian costume, all of which he made himself. The headdress was composed of feathers and beads extending to the floor.

After taking part in "Wiwaste" he journeyed to New York, where he studied music for a year. He has recently been on a concert tour over Southern California, bringing fame and popularity to himself in every place he has appeared. He is to be featured in the pageant, "The First Californians," which was written by Miss Mabel Stanford, and which will be presented on June 24 and 26 on the Chaffey campus.

HISTORICAL PAGEANT

The newest and most original activity in which Chaffey will play a part on the twenty-fourth and twenty-sixth of June is the historical pageant, "The First Californians," written by Miss Mabel Stanford, supervisor of student publications. It will be given in the new permanent amphitheater at the north of the Auditorium. Mr. Blakeslee has charge of the music; Mr. George Dunham will act as director; members of the First California Pageant Association are the sponsors. Chief Yowlache will play the part of the medicine man, and a great deal of the singing will be done by the Junior College Chorus.

Indian life of the valley is featured in the first episode, progressing to the founding of the Asistencia at San Bernardino. The second relates the military life and gives accounts of the explorers who visited the valley, continuing through the founding of the Cucamonga Rancho. The climax is the great ball at the rancho. The Chino Ranch just after Isaac Williams has taken the ranch is the scene of the third part. The battle of Chino occurs, followed by the various distinguished times, such as the gold rush of '49, and the Butterfield stage coach. The medicine man dying depicts the ending of Indian life. Culmination of the life of the rancho is shown in the wedding of Williams' daughter and John Rains. The final scene is the celebration of San Juan Day.

DEBATE

A great many radical changes were made in the debate ruling this year in the Citrus Belt League. There was only one judge instead of the usual three, and instead of three league debates there were only two. Another great change was the time limit. The first affirmative speaker spoke eight minutes, as did the first negative speaker. The remaining two were allowed twelve minutes each. The first speakers each had four minutes rebuttal.

On Friday, January 11, the first interscholastic debate was held, with the question, "Resolved, That War Can Be Outlawed by Peace Pacts." The triangle of which Chaffey was a member was completed by Colton and Pomona. Chaffey's affirmative team, composed of Alfred Miller and Brooks Kitchel, defeated Pomona's negative team after a splendid contest of arguments. The judge was Professor George Burgess of Pomona College. Edward Dart and Margaret Pyle of Chaffey's negative, not faring so well, lost to Colton's affirmative after a well-contested match.

"Resolved, That Modern Advertising is More Detrimental Than Beneficial to Society" was the question for the second C. B. L. debate which was held March 15. This debate was unlike previous contests in that a great deal of humor entered into the discussions. The debaters were Pauline Collins and Bob McArthur, affirmative, and Margaret Pyle and Edward Dart, negative. The affirmative team lost with a three-to-nothing decision, as did the negative. Pauline and Bob met Colton at Chaffey with George Nichols of Riverside, William V. Nickoll of Pomona College, and Robert Ross of Pomona College as judges. Margaret and Edward went to Riverside to meet the Riverside debaters.

With such talented members of the team as Pauline Collins, Robert McArthur, Margaret Pyle, Alfred Miller, Brooks Kitchel, and Edward Dart, many of whom had had previous experience, the contests were spirited and well conducted.

TOASTMISTRESS CLUB

The Toastmistress Club, organized this year, has not yet developed to a great extent. A group of girls who felt difficulty in the art of making speeches planned it with the aim of perfecting themselves. The girls interested in this work meet every two weeks during the third period. At their first meeting capable officers were chosen to carry out their purpose through the year of 1929: President, Gertrude Denton; vice-president, Gertrude Smith; secretary-treasurer, Frances Allison.

The building up of programs for all types of organizations and banquets, which at first was a difficult problem, was featured during the year. Plans were made for all manner of occasions such as Alumni banquets and class reunions. A great deal of imagination work was done. Each member was assigned a toast to be given at some particular time. These speeches were given to some great man or to the Senior class. At these imaginary dinners all the features were enjoyed but the food. A period of extemporaneous talks was necessary to place within the reach of all members total accomplishment. Their brevity was highly distinctive.

The membership roll contains the following names: Frances Allison, Gertrude Smith, Gertrude Denton, Cornelia Born, Ruth Seapy, Lorene Parkin, and Lois Smith. Miss Avery is adviser.

RELIQUAE

Reliquae is a new club in Chaffey. It was started by a group of Freshmen that were left-overs, a hundred girls who did not belong to an organization. At the beginning of this year Mrs. Hawkinson entertained the group by telling them about her trip to Glacier and Crater Lake.

Gradually some Freshmen girls began to show ability to take over the leadership. The two girls that distinguished themselves were Elizabeth Goddard, president, and Genevieve Faye McQuatters, secretary.

The girls began to organize themselves. They named themselves the Reliquae, which means "the left-overs." Then they began to arrange and plan for their own programs. Help was asked from no one. "They are great girls to get up a good program on the spur of the moment," says Mrs. Hawkinson. Everybody takes part in these programs.

Later in the year the Reliquae's decided they would like to be considered as a part of the girls' work organizations. In order to do this they had to draw up their own constitution, stating their aim. They thought it a privilege to join the organization because they were free to use the club room, go to the "Estate," or go to camp in the summer.

BOOK STORE

If it were not for the book store Chaffey would be lost. Depositing the money in the book store saves time for club officials and for down-town bankers. Ninety funds, including those clubs and class, are deposited in the book store, amounting to five thousand dollars. Co-operation is what the book store practices. In order that students may purchase school supplies, pens, and stationery, the book store sells at a minimum profit.

The little profit that is made is given to organizations and funds, some of which were for curtains in the Auditorium, the Natatorium, the student body, and small sums given to the Y. W., the typewriting contests, class of '24 to finish paying for the clock, Red Cross, stock judging team, Tatler and Thrasher, needy students, and for entertainments.

This store is used for a laboratory for commercial students who are trained in salesmanship and bookkeeping. The general office staff is composed of the commercial classes. The book store is managed by Donald Babbitt. Mr. Watenpaugh is supervisor. The book store books are kept by Evelyn Peterson, with Margaret Morelock as assistant. The student body accounts are kept by Dorothy Cour. Imogene Hughes keeps the books for the cafeteria. Tatler-Thrasher accounts are kept by Isabel Emery. Ruth Clark attends to the J. C. student body accounts, and Mortimer Roloif has charge of the candy.

The student body business staff works under the supervision of Mr. Chaffey.

The bookstore also serves as a place to receive reserved seat tickets for the High School and Junior College entertainments. Tickets for the out-of-town games, and special concerts and programs, besides the class plays, have been sold through the book store. The book store is indispensable in that it sells at a minimum profit books, notebooks, paper, pencils, pens, music, athletic goods, class, organization and student body emblems, and candy. Junior College students buy and sell their books here.

CAFETERIA

Everyone is always busy at the Cafeteria. Banquets and meetings seem to find their way to this building for good times.

During the noon hour the Chaffey Apartments were much in demand. The schedule which was followed during the year was: Monday noon, Campus Club; Tuesday noon, Forum Club; Wednesday noon, Lincoln Debating Club; Thursday noon, C. S. F.; Friday noon, French Club. In the other rooms of the building other clubs held meetings.

Many banquets have been held during the year. The Seniors enjoyed their annual banquet in the large hall downstairs, as did the Juniors and Sophomores. The Tatler banquet was held in the Chaffey Apartments. Each Wednesday evening for six weeks the Scoutmasters' Training Course was held in the Apartments. The Board of Education, the Board of Trustees, the States Night and many clubs have enjoyed the use of the Apartments. The C. S. F. were hosts at a banquet and business meeting of this district.

Besides these banquets and dinners the Cafeteria serves lunch to many of the students each noon. Those who work in the Cafeteria this year are Miss Graves, Mrs. Wessendorf, Mrs. James, Mrs. Woodward, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Maxcy, and the following students: G. and W. Woodward, C. Bryant, F. Hutchison, M. Parsons, H. Goodhart, J. Pifer, H. Adams, M. Price, J. Long, M. Plasterer, M. Howell, F. Bushnell, M. Kessler, R. Farrell, I. Lopez, J. Metuti, C. Miller, B. Gillett, B. Lilly, H. Briggs.

The Cafeteria is not only used for eating, but serves as a place for other entertainments as well. The J. C. students held their circus banquet downstairs; the Roman feast was celebrated in the Model Apartment; the faculty dinner, a large affair, used the Cafeteria; the Girl Reserves held their banquet here.

This year it has been used as a study room for the boys who were not in P. E. They found it a cool, comfortable place to work. The various rooms have been used for club rooms on girls' club days; the Scouts use the Art rooms; the Girl Reserves, the Chaffey Apartment; the Junior and Senior girls the Cafeteria room downstairs.

HOME ECONOMICS

The Home Economics department is one of the busiest and most helpful departments in the High School. Not only are the girls taught cooking and sewing and art work, but also the economic things a girl should know when she starts housekeeping.

SEWING

The sewing department is very large, instruction being given in both elementary and advanced work. The elementary classes have been taught the rudiments of sewing, such as sewing of simple seams, darning hose, making buttonholes, patching clothing and remodeling dresses. They have made simple lingerie sets, plain gowns, and smaller articles. In the advanced classes the girls are instructed further in the making and designing of outfits. These girls have made frocks of more intricate design and many have also made coats. Some have made evening gowns, simple but most attractive. In this course the girls also plan an outfit for a girl who is entering college, at a given sum of money that may be spent. These prove very helpful, for nearly all girls taking advanced sewing are soon to enter college. This year the girls in both courses made baby dresses, pajamas and nightgowns for the youngsters who are cared for by the Welfare League. Several complete layettes were also made for the League. A very special event was conducted in connection with the sewing work this year. The Marshall Field Company gave a fashion showing in the auditorium, the Chaffey girls acting as models for the frocks which the company sent out. All types of clothing were shown, including dainty frocks for children.

COOKING

The cooking classes are also divided into elementary and advanced cooking courses. In the elementary course the girls learn the use of foods to the body, how many vitamins each type of food contains, how to plan simple, nutritious meals. Each girl was required to plan a menu for a simple breakfast, an elaborate one, a simple and elaborate luncheon, and the same for a dinner. They also keep their menus which they test out in class in an index file for future use. The girls receive instruction for preparing appetizing school lunches. The advanced girls take a similar course except that they must each plan a menu for a luncheon and, several working together, serve this luncheon to the other members of the class. They also plan menus and prepare the food for the many banquets which are served during the year also.

INTERIOR DECORATING

Mrs. Frank's interior decoration classes have learned how to make a room look its best. After finishing this course the girls know how to balance a room, what type of hangings to put in a room of a certain build, whether to put old English furniture in an English room, and many other useful things. They also have made several articles of the same type as the arts classes.

ARTS AND CRAFTS

In this department the girls learn to make the most lovely articles in an attractive but economic way. During the year the girls have made many leather articles, such as purses, pocketbooks, card cases, book-ends, desk sets, belts, watch traps, book covers, key rings, bill folds; in painting they have painted many jars, powder boxes, compacts, vases; in block printing, tie and dye work, and decora dying, batiking they have made scarfs, handkerchiefs, pillows. Chaffey is very fortunate in having four looms of different sizes upon which many unusual and intricate articles have been woven. Several beautiful coats have been made, as well as purses, and scarfs.

HEALTH

An exhaustive study of health in a practical and useable form fits the girls at Chaffey to care for themselves properly, to tend to those suffering from illness, and to administer first aid. A four-year compulsory course combined with annual health examinations and special corrective physical education makes this department well known over all the state and a model for other schools. Mrs. Fleming, a registered nurse, ably teaches the girls and examines them each year.

In the Freshman year a lecture course is built around the five laws of health: posture; exercise; rest; food, air, and water; cleanliness. This is studied for one semester. The second half of the year nutrition under the supervision of Miss Graves is the subject for consideration. Food charts showing the composition of the different articles of diet, the vitamins and the number of calories in a normal serving are compiled and exhibited by the girls in the Junior Farm Center Fair.

Sophomore girls under the direction of Miss Graves, home economics teacher, study home and community problems, and a Red Cross nutrition course for half the year. At the completion certificates are awarded. The second semester is given entirely to the study of the infant. A baby book containing the material she has learned, small layettes, full-sized baby patterns, and attractive pictures is required from each girl.

Instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick is received in the third year of high school. Red Cross certificates are awarded at the close of the year. The local Red Cross chapter has donated equipment for practical demonstrations. The girls are showed substitutes for hospital equipment which may be used in the home.

First aid is the subject in which the Seniors are interested. First aid kits filled with bandages and samples of different kinds of medicine are shown in the fair held in May. Methods of bandaging and treating the various kinds of wounds and injuries prepare the girls for all emergencies. A Red Cross certificate in first aid is also awarded.

Four Red Cross certificates are now had in the school—nutrition, home hygiene and care of the sick, and first aid, as mentioned above, are required. Life saving, under the direction of Miss Merrill, is elective.

Demonstrations at the California State Nurses' Association put on by twelve girls were commended very highly by all present. As a result Chaffey has had visitors interested in health education from all over the state. The department was singularly honored by having Mrs. Isabelle Baker, National director of home hygiene and care of the stock, from the Red Cross at Washington, D. C., spend an entire day here.

Some of the girls answered an emergency call from the hospital during the influenza epidemic and assisted in the general care of patients for four days.

A health examination is given each girl every year. The card definitely shows the health and growth during the six years she attends high school and junior college. Under and over-weights are tabulated. Rest periods with opportunities for special diet are arranged for under-weights. A rest room accommodating fourteen girls may be used at any time. Abnormal conditions and special physical education corrections are in charge of Miss Mabon, who gives special attention to co-operation with the physician in charge. Girls returning after illness are given rest periods until ready for regular gym work.

CHAFFEY JUNIOR FARM CENTER FAIR

The Junior Farm Center Fair is the largest activity of the year. This year it was held May 24 and 25 in the auto sheds, the Domestic Science, and Shop buildings. This includes animal and bird exhibits, fine arts, shop work, gardening, flowers, and several club booths. The officers and managers for the year were: Howard Hawkins, president; James Sprague, vice-president; Howard Larsen, secretary; Marvin Hohburg, treasurer; poultry, Hugh Fletcher; premium list, Howard Hawkins, Howard Larsen; pigeons, Francis Wilson; rabbits, Charles Birdsall and Oscar Harris; beef, John Tate and Horace Williams; dairy, Roy Chappell, Alfred Miller; sheep, Fletcher Palmer, Harry McKinney; swine, Jim Tate, Vincent Combs, Arthur Hall; garden, Marvin Hohburg; horticulture, Wilson Zered, Bill Latimer; education, Edward Mann; apiary, Eugene Zimmerman; goats, Allan Palmer, Joseph Hester; transportation, Charles Adams; sawdust, Howard Larsen, Leonard Hibbs; decorations, Cris Casio, Nevin Lady; finance, Harold Dutton, and adviser, Mr. Perrin.

POMONA FAIR

The Chaffey Junior Farm Center booth once more took first honors in the Los Angeles County Fair held at Pomona this year. The Chaffey exhibit had many varieties of fruit and vegetables. Across the top of the booth a collection of ribbons won by Chaffey at other fairs was displayed. The individual booth put up by Howard Larsen and John Merkel won first prize in its class, thereby winning twenty dollars. These boys also won seven dollars on special prizes for their superior vegetables.

Harold Dutton, Charles Birdsall, and John Tate, with Fletcher Palmer as alternate, represented Chaffey in a stock judging contest held Saturday, September 22, at the Los Angeles County Fair. The Chaffey team received sixth place in the practice contest. San Bernardino won first place, California Junior Republic was second, and Antelope Valley third in the regular contest. Twenty teams competed in the contest. The classes judged were two of horses, two of beef, two of sheep, one of dairy, and one of hogs.

CHAFFEY STOCK JUDGING TEAM

CALIFORNIA STATE FAIR

Mr. Perrin, Mr. Birdsall, Mr. Tate, John Tate, Harold Dutton, John Merkel, Charles Birdsall, Howard Hawkins, La Verne Leahman, Howard Larsen, Leonard Hibbs, Harry McKinney, Robert Lutz, Fletcher Palmer, and Raymond Lamb went to Camp Lillard for the State fair. The main activity of the camp was classes in farm husbandry, poultry, and education, which consisted of visiting the different buildings under the guidance of instructors who explained to the boys the things which they saw. At the close of school an examination was held and when the results were counted, Chaffey had won. The award was a beautiful loving cup. Chaffey also won the inspection, three first place ribbons, a second place ribbon, and a third place ribbon.

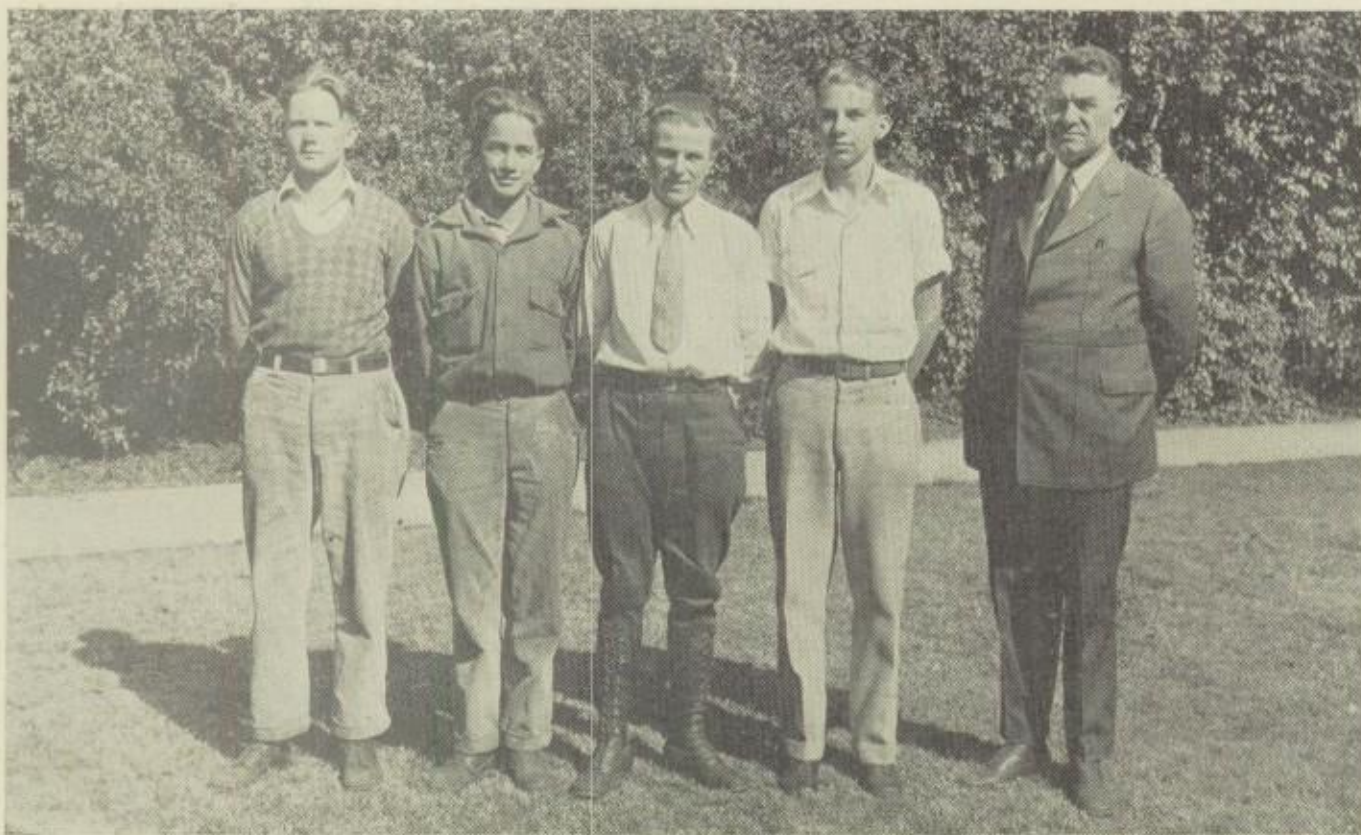

JUNIOR FARM CENTER FLOAT

The Chaffey Junior Farm Center float won third place in the Armistice Day parade. It was built on the old Chevrolet truck. The body and wheels were concealed by wild cherry. On top of this frame were, on each side, a row of cups which the judging team have won for Chaffey. One big cup was in front and another behind. The posts were wrapped in orange and black as were the cross pieces of the frame. Around the top were red, white, and blue ribbons, also won by the judging teams. From each corner of the truck orange and black streamers were connected with four horsemen. These streamers represented the four types of judging: tree, stock, citrus, and poultry. The float was built during the week by the boys themselves.

ORANGE SHOW MEET

The Chaffey class A citrus judging team composed of Harold Dutton, Fletcher Palmer, Henry Hoeger, and Raymond Lamb, took third place in the contest, which is held every year, decides the championship of Southern California. The contest was won this year by the team representing San Bernardino.

By taking third place in the contest in which twenty-four teams were entered, Chaffey's B team, composed of Bill Latimer, James Tate, and Russell Zyrd, took first in grapefruit judging. James Tate was third high man in individual scoring in this class.

CITRUS JUDGING TEAM

RIVERSIDE COUNTY FAIR

At the Riverside Fair the Chaffey stock judging team, composed of Fletcher Palmer, Harold Dutton, James Sprague, and Howard Hawkins, took first place. Fletcher Palmer was third high individual. Twelve teams were competing for the trophies which were awarded at the close of the day. Clinton Bryant, Charles Birdsall, and Raymond Lamb took second in the citrus judging meet, San Bernardino taking first.

PERRIS VALLEY HIGH SCHOOL MEET

Ranking fourth, Chaffey stock judging team garnered several blue ribbons at the Perris Valley High School. Chaffey A team members and the scores they made are Robert Lutz, 425; Arthur West, 395, and Harry McKinney, 380.

MECHANICAL ARTS

There are many students in Chaffey who know very little about our Mechanical Arts department or what happens there. The department consists of four divisions, namely: mechanical drawing, auto shop, machine shop, and woodshop. The mechanical drawing room is located in the southwest corner of the Shop building, with Mr. Homewood and Mr. Hargrave as the teachers. The auto shop takes up the northwest corner building. It contains work benches, pits, electrical department, and everything used in repairing automobiles. Some fifteen auto, truck, and airplane engines are set in rows on stands. These are for students to use in experimental work. The classroom is located next to the mechanical drawing room. Mr. Stickney is head of this division, and also has charge of the bus routes and bus repair work.

Near the auto shop is the machine shop. In it are many expensive machines such as lathes, drills, and planers. The machine shop is well equipped with machinery and the students have a chance to do a large variety of work, under the supervision of Mr. Young. In conjunction with the machine shop is the forge room, containing about a dozen forges, where the class learns how to make various simple tools. A tool room is maintained for use of the shop students, with Mr. Westphal in charge.

The last division is the woodshop, which includes the whole east end of the building, the teachers being Mr. Minton and Mr. Jacobs. While the students are gaining experience in woodwork, the whole school realizes the benefits of their effort. Desks, storerooms, cabinets and instrument cases are some of the things that have been made. Several desks have been made for the part-time school. Laboratory desks have also been placed in the Upland Junior High School and Mr. Merchant's laboratory. These desks have water and gas outlets. They have made a paper file for Mr. Cushing. It is three feet high and eighteen inches wide. It contains many shelves upon which are kept the papers of the opportunity students. A number of cases have also been made for Mr. Weldon. Magnifying glasses are kept in these and are for the purpose of keeping the dust out. Many cedar chests have been made, some of which were very difficult. A tripod was made for Professor Hook's camera to use when he is taking pictures of rock formations. Toboggans have also been made and tried out. Several of the boys made very beautiful radio cabinets. These, when finished, looked like the ones in the stores. Floor lamps were also made. Scenery for the stage was made, especially for the Christmas program.

HEALTH

Every girl in Chaffey is required to take a four-year course of instruction in hygiene, baby care, home nursing and first aid, under the capable instruction of Mrs. Fleming.

Previously the Freshman girls have taken the study of food and its best combinations in keeping the body in good physical condition, each making food and hygiene charts. This year the number of girls has so increased that they have taken only a half year under Mrs. Fleming's supervision, studying the five laws of health and hygiene. The other semester is spent in learning nutrition from Miss Graves of the Home Economics department.

The Sophomore girls have an interesting subject in their course of study—that of caring for babies. After taking the instructions from Mrs. Fleming, each girl compiles a baby book, which is entered in the Junior Farm Center Fair, being judged on the accuracy of the material and the appearance. Last year Challis Helvie and Doris Wolfe tied for first place. One of the interesting features of these books is the miniature layette which the girls design and make by hand. In one or two of the books the girls have made dainty pieces of the layette out of their mothers' wedding dresses. Attractive pictures of babies and some of their own babyhood days are placed throughout the book to illustrate the written material. All of these add much to the beauty and individuality of the work done by the girls. This subject is one of the most fascinating of the four years' training.

Home nursing is taken during the third year, which includes all of the practical work of a girl in the home as a nurse. Last June at the State Convention at Riverside a number of girls, Marguerite Bivens, Thelma Miles, Esther Korell, Amy Patterson, Alma Hofman, Dorothea Billington, Kathryn Kaufman, Winnie Morrison, and Margaret Kratky, demonstrated a regular class period. In an edition of the Pacific Coast Journal of Nursing comment was made on the wonderful display of work shown at Riverside. During the influenza epidemic, four of the girls went to the hospital to take the places of nurses who were ill. Thelma Miles, Pauline Collins, Katherine Kaufman, Esther Korell, showing that the instruction given is practical, took charge of patients for a several days. At the end of the Junior year the girls receive a Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick certificate from the American Red Cross. This year Virginia Hatch took first place for her home nursing book.

The Senior girls spend the year learning the fundamentals of first aid. Bandaging and treatment of injuries are the important parts of the course. Each girl has a first aid kit which she fills with samples of necessary first aid supplies. These kits are also entered in the Junior Farm Center Fair as a display of the work done by the girls. Near the end of the year a state examination is given which, when completed, entitles each girl to a certificate from the American Red Cross. This must be passed before graduation.

CHAFFEY CAMPUS

(To "Dick")

The bright little teacup tulips
Stand in an orderly line;
The dear little smiling pansies
Make round plates, oh, so fine.

The tall trees rise majestically,
The grass grows green always;
The trees and the plants of Chaffey
Make colorful our days.

The most unostentatious Junior will present "The Lucky Break." Everybody, they go.

It happens almost time to election. Everybody they ask who will be the president. It makes so funny, for nobody he know!

This morning, with the deepest obeisance I speak to the Senior. His eye they are funny, beeg and stick out. I say "What the matter?"

He say, "The Constitution, I wish it never to be write, and the arithmetic, it make me see stars!" then he say, "Like salt, when it rain, it pour!"

The Junior they are make reception for the Senior. They neviar tell where it to be but it will make no nice time for the Senior. Every girl buy a new kimona.

Soon the Senior will go to the ocean. I see them shake the moth ball from suit. All ready the school squirm and the noses are all red and peeling. I bump one person and he say—I no can remember all he say, but my most despicable person think the Senior would makee no such language.

The Girls' League fixee plan for their mothers. She to have the tea soon.

Then soon, too, the mighty Senior they graduate. I feel one big tear trickle down my nose every time I think the Senior of leaving. I pay flowty dolle if he stay.

It would be most auspicious, O Go, if you, too, could attend this most unusually Chaffey. The campus she are cool, and green with growing plants; the buildings he are stone and with vines covered and of the large size. It present an appearance of the greatest agreeableness. The faculty with the learning are filled. I await in humble expectation the pleasure of you seeing.

Loving wishes I extend,
CANT BI.

ONE-ACT PLAY

[Drama of May and June in their collegiate new sport roadster]

SCENE I

Blue roadster speeds down Euclid Avenue. May and June nonchalantly wave at groups of students. Both are evidently unconscious of their new car.

May (anxiously): Do you think Jack noticed us?

June: Well, he ought to. We don't get a new car so often that people lose count. There's Mary. Hello-o-o Mary (very loud and noticeable).

May: For goodness sakes, she didn't even see us!

SCENE II

Student: See May and June have a new car.

Another student: Sure!

SCENE III

Smart roadster easily turns corner, proceeds along Fourth Street and swings into Chaffey driveway.

SCENE IV

Car jerkily stops at boulevard stop erected on school grounds. Engine stalls. Frantically both grab for choke. Too late! Motor dies. Engine refuses to start. At last with a lurch car jumps three feet to halt again at another stop sign. Performance repeated. Bystanders chuckle.

SCENE V

May: Look, quick, I can't stop again! is there a parking place?

June (relievedly): I see one down at the other end.

They roll slowly and impressively down the row.

May (starting to turn into space): Occupied! Why don't these little Fords arrange themselves so you can see them!

Bystanders laugh.

June: Guess we'll have to stop in the second line.

Car turns for second row to find it also full. With difficulty extricate themselves. Bystanders cachinate.

SCENE VI

June: While there's life there's hope. Perhaps even yet we shall find a place.

May: Here!

Turns car to confront another automobile likewise entering. Ignominiously girls withdraw in favor of other car. Bystanders guffaw.

June: We'll have to park on the football field.

SCENE VII

With drooping heads classes are entered.

CHAFFEY THIRTY YEARS FROM NOW

I was not a believer in Rip Van Winkle until the other day, when I awoke and found that I had been sleeping for thirty years. I rubbed my eyes and sat up in my seat. I couldn't be in social problems. The students around me frightened me with their hilarious conduct. I looked about for the teacher and heard a voice proceeding from a dial at the front of the room.

"Class in hilarity practice on the high-toned laugh for tomorrow—Ha, ha; ah-a, ha!" Was that Dr. Hill's voice from the office? Whose else could it be? I rushed out the door, holding my dizzy head in my hands. I stepped into the hall and felt myself moving away on a belt.

"Where am I going?" I shrieked to unheeding lurkers in the hall. A sign read, "Modern language class at end of this belt."

"That is Miss Plant's English class," I said to myself. I entered the room, looking around for familiar faces. A volley of language hurled itself at me. I stood speechless for a moment.

"Oh, such a language!" I exclaimed. "What is it, Chinese?" "English lesson for tomorrow: Study idiosyncracies of the period of the English language up to 1930," came through the dial. I rushed out. I could see myself caged in a glass case, my every word recorded by these intellectual Chaffeyites.

I wandered about in a maze until I recognized two swinging doors. "I will go in lecture hall and rest awhile," I promised myself. "Things will at least be quiet there." I sat down. Before I could explain my situation a black helmet was adjusted over my head. What looked like a miniature electric meter adorned the front of the contraption.

"Seven hundred dollars, compounded semi-annually," said the teacher at the desk. "How much will it amount to in fifteen years?" Metallic clicking of the meters registered the answers. After an hour of this the helmets were removed to be graded. I failed. As yet I have not discovered why; evidently my meter was defective.

Following the mob outside, I soon found myself in the auditorium. Mr. Hill led "Smiles," and I felt more at home. A picture flashed on the stage. Why! it was my old friend Geoffrey Morgan! He was speaking from his summer home at the South Pole. The audience listened with attentive ears. I hope some new invention transferred the enthusiastic hand-clap to his summer retreat.

The noon bell rang. There was the same mad rush, even as thirty years ago, I pursued and found myself in the cafeteria. There were no trays, no plates, no food. Several little booths resembling circus side-shows lined the room. I entered the nearest one, depositing a nickel at the door. My nostrils were filled with the steamy pungence of baked beans. Impatiently I pressed a nearby bell.

"Isn't it coming?" asked a voice from where, I knew not.

"I can just smell it," I answered peevishly.

"Eat by smells—quick, convenient, economical," came the answer with emphatic finality.

The smell ceased. I concluded that I had "smelled my smell" and departed. I entered another booth where I smelled a double-decked ice cream cone. Strangely strengthened by this synthetic nourishment, I proceeded to the gym, expecting to take floor work. I was much upset to find that the floor work classes were a thing of the past. I stood terrified below a class performing on the ceiling, jumping from ring to ring like acrobats.

I ditched the "ceiling work" class that day and made ready to go home to collect my scattered wits. On the way to my locker, I was picked up by one of those frightful belts and neatly deposited in Mr. Hall's office.

"Where should you be this period?" he asked. "Floor work class, b-but," I stammered out a reason.

"That excuse is so old it's classic. It was in vogue thirty years ago," he said. "Double make-up."

Disconsolate, I sat down on the curbing to wait for my bus. Nine planes lined up in the road. I saw the Fontana students climbing into number one, the Etiwandans into number two. In my unguarded abstraction I was swept along with the Chinoans into number three. On the way we bumped into a big dirigible and when I opened my eyes I was in social problems, my head resting on an open book, Magruder—American Government.

NOT EXACTLY A FEATURE

The good-natured vice-principal approaches the smart ditcher with a stern countenance. The very smart ditcher does not run—he bends over and ties his shoe-string.

S. D.: "Oh, hello Mr. G. V.-P."

G. V.-P.: "Ahem."

S. D.: "Going out to the gym?"

G. V.-P.: "Yes, just going out to check up." (Vice-principals are always "checking up;" nobody ever knows just what.)

S. D. falls in step and strays out to gym with G. V.-P. Several novice ditches see vice-principal and make a break for liberty.

G. V.-P. laughs "Look at them go!"

S. D.: "Heh, heh! Funny how some guys are always ditching; can't see anything in it."

G. V.-P.: "Nope. Well, ha, ha."

S. D.: "Well, so long, Mr. Hall." Smart ditcher then ambles back in front of auditorium.

Editor (reading M. S.): You say here, "seems to advance, but really is as unprogressive as a clock." I don't understand that.

The author: Well, you see, a clock is running all day and yet it always winds up at the same place.

Editor (engaging young reporter): I might mention that we are a very old established, conservative newspaper, and have upheld constitutional matters for over a hundred years.

Young hopeful (most anxious to please): That'll be all right, sir. There won't be any need to change them, as far as I'm concerned.

Smith, being introduced to golf for the first time, had hit the ball a terrific whack and sent it a half mile. "Now, where do I run to?" he cried excitedly.

SUSPICIOUS

The teacher was in his severest mood; he swept the class with a look that meant ill for anyone who could not answer all the questions put to him.

"Where are the Knockmeildown mountains?" he roared, turning to the dunce of the class.

"Please, sir, I haven't them, but I saw Billy Walsh stuffing something under his vest just now."

Physical culturist: "Do you take a cold shower in the morning?"

Another nut: "Yes; I always have grapefruit for breakfast."

Farmer: "What's the matter with you? I sent you out to brand the live-stock and here you come back all blisters."

New city help: "Well, I did have some trouble branding the bees."

Small boy: "What's the use of washing my hands before I go to school, mother? I'm not one of those who are always raising them."

The young wife was busily plying her needle. "It's too bad," she complained to her husband, "the careless way the tailor sewed this button on. This is the fifth time I've had to put it back for you."

"What was the name of the last station we stopped at, mother?"

"I don't know. Be quiet. I'm working out a cross-word puzzle."

"It's a pity you don't know the name, mother, because little Oscar got out of the train there!"

Teacher: "So you don't know which letter comes next to H?"

Boy: "No'm."

Teacher: "What have I on each side of my nose?"

Boy: "Looks like powder, ma'am, from here."

THE EXPANDING DRUG STORE

"What kind of store is that fellow over at Toad Rock running?" asked a motorist.

"Well, he has Ford parts for sale," replied the attendant in the filling station at Ten Degrees, "buys butter, eggs, and poultry, deals in real estate, paints houses, marries folks in his capacity as justice of the peace, runs the postoffice, sells stamps, hams, molasses, etc., and takes boarders upstairs. I reckon you'd call it a drug store."

An Arkansas father whose son was doing badly in college tried calling him over the long-distance about his grades.

"Hello, John. Why don't you make better grades?" he asked.

"Can't hear you, father."

"I say, can't you make better grades?"

"Can't hear you, father."

"I say, John, do you need any money?"

"Yes, Dad, send me $50."

MANIKIN MEN

(Advice from the Biology girls)

"Men!" cried the Campus, "is all that we see.
Their number increases amazingly.
Their suits are sky blue, navy blue, green,
And their handsome faces are seldom seen."

"Men!" shrieked a Freshman, "are running me wild."
Wailed a weary Soph, "That's putting it mild!"
"I get no dates," sighed a Senior lass.
The Junior lamented, "I will not pass."

If the World's mortal men are too few,
Then get you some paper, some paint, and some glue.
Assemble a manikin all of your own
And then you'll not ramble the campus alone.

CANDY BOY

(Dedicated to M. R.)

Candy! What a thought! In the first place it lends atmosphere; that is, indirectly, for what would a game be like without the inevitable Candy Boy? Imagine, will you, the tragedy, the disappointment, of not seeing the familiar figure precariously balancing himself among the mass of hands uplifted in supplication to his tray! It is possible that this popular person, the Candy Boy, receives more attention during a football game than the players themselves. He easily runs the yell leaders a close second. It is a wonder that his head is not turned, but he goes serenely along, secure in his power over the mob.

PIE SALE

Excitement waxes high one bright morning in March. The regular between-period hunger is not appeased with peanuts nor do lunches appear on the campus to tide famished students over until evening. Every one seems to be carrying out a rigid fast. But no, that would not be natural. Something more interesting than that in the offing is the reason for this phenomenal showing of endurance. Ask someone for the reason for this deprivation of nourishment and he will answer, "Why, don't you know? This is the day of the pie sale!"

Now there are four kinds of pie. Enumerated they are: First, the Algebra, or is it the Geometry pie, any way it is the hardest to digest and is indicated by a sign like a Japanese pagoda; second, the baker's pie, excellent unless there is something better; third, the pie that "mother makes"—the poets of the future as those of the past, will sing praises of this kind of pie; what is more delicious, more tempting and incidentally more fattening than this fast disappearing delicacy? and finally—finally because it almost always threatens to be final, oft times fatal—is the pie that is made for the "pie sale."

Pies—apple, banana, cherry, date, fig, gooseberry, huckleberry, lemon, mince, nut, orange, quince, raspberry, strawberry, tomato, eggplant, or what have you, all stand in indigestible array awaiting their fate.

There is something pleasingly unintellectual about a pie sale. Hilarious Senior notables brandish precious pies on unsteady palms, shouting above the ear-splitting hub-bub of the churning melee below, a howling mass of students in keen competition with the New York Stock Exchange.

"Fat, juicy pies, luscious, entrancing, mouth-watering, delicious, delectable, dainty!" a glib auctioneer booms. "They'll melt in your mouth. Here's a iemme see—oh, yes, banana cream pie. What'll you give me for a banana cream pie? Dollar seventy-five? All right. Who'll raise it? Who'll raise it? Who'll gimme two dollars or I'll eat it myself. Two dollars, two dollars?" He points to a waiting group in which the central head nods. "Now who'll gimme two dollars'n quarter—hey! over there!" He addresses the first bidder. "You're gonna lose yer pie if you don't hurry up. C'mon, gimme two dollars'n quarter. That price is just givin' it away. Gimme two dollars'n quarter!" Pause, no answer. "Last call for banana cream pie! Going, going, going for two dollars. Going to the lucky bidder—going, going. S-O-L—Don't let me put the D on yet—going, going, gone. S-O-L-D! Sold for two dollars."

These pie bidders are a self-sacrificing lot. They will go without their weekly milkshake or daily candy just for a pie. But for one hectic half hour their bliss is unparalleled. A group stampedes through the surging throng, their prized pie flourished triumphantly overhead. They seek seclusion from the crowd to consume their purchase. If they have had the good fortune to get a pie conforming to the description of the auctioneer they are soon decorated with meringue moustaches. But if it so happens otherwise and the pie is not as portrayed, then surely that is a calamity. Perhaps it is a creation composed of banana tidbits embalmed in cream but resting in a burglar-proof casket of iron-hard pie dough. Or perhaps it is the concoction of some fair damsel who has never attended Miss Graves' cooking class. A pie so tough that it refuses to melt in the mouth or even its natural state to descend the esophagus. Or perhaps it is a perfectly normal pie except that in the settling of a slight technicality as to legal ownership it has had the misfortune to "faw down, go boom!" in which case the hero of the latest best seller could not boast of having more of the proverbial "grit."

I AM YOUTH

I am Youth—

I am one with the rose-rifted dawn,

And the miracle of tender, budding spring.

I stand on the threshold of a world I know not,

Wondering, trembling, thrilling

At the loves and joys and adventures

That await me; undaunted

By the tears and bitterness that sometimes I know

Will taunt me and make the journey hard.

The time will come when the sunny steep trail

Will seem unsurmountable,

And I will cry out for evening and rest;

But today youth is held fast in my hands,

And the world is mine.

A Fable of 1929

She was pretty, short-skirted and pink-cheeked. As she tripped lightly down the stairs leading from the station, many admiring glances were cast in her direction.

"Some girl!" exclaimed one youth to his companion, as they trailed in her wake.

"Wonder who the lucky chap is she's going to meet?"

As she emerged from the station a handsome, broad-shouldered man, fully six feet tall, clasped her in his arms and kissed her.

"Mother!" he exclaimed fondly. "I thought I'd missed you!"

"No; four. Calling the tale a leg doesn't make it one."

Library News

Hogie: "Did you ever read 'Looking Backwards?'"

Marge Taylor: "Yes, once in a test, and I nearly got canned for it."

Camera!

Mr. Bowser: "Do you want a large or a small Photograph?"

Jean Baird: "Small, if you please."

Mr. Bowser: "Then please close your mouth."

A Lesson in History

Billie Graber: "Give for one year the number of tons of coal shipped out of the United States."

Nellie Gray: "1493—none."

Mind-Reading

The lights were low, the fire was falling into glowing embers. They were seated on a long sofa before the fire. It was so romantic and cozy there . . . just they two. He gazed with a gently questioning look at her. She looked at him and sighed. Each was wondering . . . which was going after more wood.

Nautical News

"I kept my head when I fell into the water," observed the young man.

"How fortunate!" replied the caustic maid. "It must have helped you so nicely to float."

Toot! Toot!

There are people who remind us of Aesop's fly who sat upon the axletree of the chariot wheel and said, "What a dust I do raise!"

Heard in Latin Class

Ed Dart (translating a love story):
"The hero, with an axclamation of delight, took her into his arms. That's as far as I got."

About 11

"If I'm studying when you come in, wake me up!"

Or the Companile

"So your family gave you a wrist watch when you entered college? What do you think they'll give you when you graduate?"

"Don't know. Grandfather's clock most likely."

"There are several things I can count on."

"What are they?"

"My fingers."

Less Noise, Please

George: "So that is your new overcoat?"

Jack: "Yes, this is it."

George: "Isn't it rather loud?"

Jack: "It's all right when I put on my muffler."

A Typographical Error

Ruth Galentine: "Is the editor particular?"

Thelma Miles: "Rather. He raves if he finds a period upside down."

A Time Table

Randall Currie: "Why does Marge keep you waiting so long after she says she'll be ready in a minute?"

Hogie Evans: "Because she picks out a minute that is about half an hour away."

The Eleventh Wonder

"Bert" Heiser was calling roll in his sixth period gym class. Everyone had answered present except one and after calling this name several times, the coach finally said: "What is the matter; hasn't he any friends here?"

Stone Blind

Eddie: "I can't see a wink."

Kay: "What's the matter with you?"

Eddie: "I've got my eyes closed."

Tournament Play

Cliff Little: "Let's play some tennis."

Francis Hawks: "Can't; the net's broken."

Cliff: "Fine, the net's always in the way when I play anyway."

Politeness Pays

Jack: "Pardon me for walking on your feet."

Gladys: "Oh, that's all right. I walk on them myself."

Humor

Of all sad words of tongue or pen
for which we pay good money,
The saddest is the annual joke,
When the writer thinks it's funny.

After All and All

The joke editor may scratch his pen
'Til the ends of his fingers are sore,
But someone's sure to remark with a grin
"I've heard that one before."

Lullaby March

Mr. Smalley: "I am dismissing you ten minutes early today. Please go quietly so as not to wake the other classes."

A Matter of Acoustics

Speaker (during assembly): "Can you hear me up in the balcony?"
Scrubs (in unison): "No!"

A Question of Time

Betty: "Meet at the library at the end of the fifth period."

Bob: "All right; what time will you be there?"

The Lesson in Physiology

The teacher was explaining the points of the compass to his pupils.

"If you stand facing north," he said, "what have you in your right hand."

Carl Palis: "Fingers."

The Green Bay Tree

Here's to the teachers, long may they live, even as long as the lessons they give.

The Truth that Hurts

Customer: "I want the cheapest suit in the place."

Outfitter (haughtily): "You've got it on, sir."

Cap this One!

A Senior stood on the railroad track;
A train was coming fast.
The train got off the railroad track
And let the Senior past.

Nice Doggie

Senior: "Earl's new roadster is awfully cute."

Junior: "Yes, you ought to see it play dead on a lonely road."

The Last Laugh

They laughed when I sat down at the piano, but before I was through they were laughing out loud.

Prudence Hath Its Reward

Father: "The man who marries my daughter will get a prize."

Young man: "May I see it, please?"

This is Economy

Alfred H.: "You say this book will save half my studying?"

Salesman: "Yes."

A. H.: "Give me a couple of 'em."

Repeat the Experiment

Physics teacher: "When two bodies come together, is heat generated?"

Student: "No, sir. I hit a guy yesterday and he knocked me cold."
